GENERAL LEE IS RECALLED

War Can Only Be Averted by Spain Surrendering.

JOINT NOTE FROM POWERS

War Feeling Runs High in Madrid—Belief Prevails That the Matter Cannot Be Settled Without a Conflict.

Washington, April 9.—There is no longer any doubt as to the purpose of this government with respect to the situation in Cuba. War, in the opinion of the administration, is inevitable, except in the unlooked for event of the surrender on the part of Spain. The president's message, which he had intended to send to congress, has not been changed in any particular whatever, and embodies the unanimous views of the cabinet, without the slightest variance or excerpt. A movement to avert war now must come from Madrid, and must concede American demands, including an end to Spain's dominion in Cuba.

The features stand out plainly in the developments of today. At noon today, the six great powers of Europe, through their representatives here, called at the White House and presented to President McKinley a joint note, expressing urgent hope for a peaceful adjustment between the United States and Spain, to which the president replied with unmistakable plainness as to the duties and unselfish efforts of this government to terminate the present situation in Cuba.

Severing Relations With Havana.

Another, and probably the most significant straw showing the finality reached by the United States government, was the authoritative statement that Consul-General Lee would leave Havana Saturday. This step, it is known, will be regarded by Spain as akin to an overt act preceding war, as it will terminate the medium of official intercourse between the United States and the island.

Third, and almost equally important, was the ominous tones of press advices from Madrid, where the war feeling seems to dominate. Instead of concessions, the opening of prison doors, and the other manifestations of peace and good will which Holy Thursday was expected to bring forth, and the more definite announcement of action that would bring peace to Cuba, the heavy guard about Minister Woodford's house, the imperative character of the semi-official note, the war utterance of Minister Correa and the turbulence at the Spanish capital, left little hope that pacific counsels would prevail.

No negotiations are proceeding at Madrid on the part of this government, but the powers of Europe are doing their utmost to persuade the Spanish government to yield and avert war.

On the highest authority it can be stated that no instructions have been given as yet to Minister Woodford contemplating his withdrawal, the only step in that direction being the determination that General Lee shall leave Havana today.

The Note of the Powers.

The note of the European powers presented to the president today, has not, in the opinion of members of the administration, changed the situation in the slightest degree. What pressure was brought to bear in this mildly expressed hope that further negotiations would result in the maintenance of peace, is not known, but it is confidently believed that it is the result of persistence on the part of Spain for some expression of peace between the two countries. The note is not regarded in any sense as a protest against the course this government has pursued thus far or is likely to adopt to secure a stable government in Cuba.

Some of the governments represented in the note are known to be in full accord with this government in its purposes with respect to the Cuban question, and therefore any theory that the note was intended as a remonstrance is not regarded as tenable.

The reply of this government, which had previously been read and approved by members of the cabinet, is not considered as indicating any change in the fixed purpose of the president to intervene in Cuba at once, nor is it believed it was the expectation of the majority of the foreign representatives present that the United States should change its policy or regard the joint note as other than an expression in behalf of peace and without significance.

Mediation Will Not Be Accepted.

So far as known in administration circles no further representations on the subject are expected. No offer of mediation on the part of the European powers has been received, and there is some authority for the statement that none will be accepted if proffered. This has been the fixed policy from the first, and there is no prospect of a change in this regard.

At the embassies and legations, the presentation of the joint note of the powers was regarded as the event of the day. An ambassador from one of the great powers of continental Europe stated that it was without a parallel in history. That it was the first and only time that six great nations, representing in the aggregate the powers of civilization, had united in this solemn manner to secure the peace of the world. This was, this authority stated, a movement historical in character and one fitting to have occurred in the advent of the 20th century.

Madrid, April 9.—Fifteen Spanish men-of-war will leave Cadiz immediately for the Cape Verde islands, and several battalions have started to reinforce the garrison at the Baleric islands, in the Mediterranean. The provincial militia in the Canary islands will be placed on a war footing. Lieutenant-General Correa, minister of war, and Admiral Bermejos, minister of marine, are actively at work in their departments, despite the holiday.

Washington, April 9.—A cablegram from Consul-General Lee this morning announces that 200 Americans had taken their departure from the island, and that all is quiet in Havana.

WEEKLY MARKET LETTER.

Trade Conditions in the Leading Cities of the World.

Leiter furnished proof last week of the most convincing kind that his wheat deal is to be carried through to the last day of May. An enormous loan was made—$9,000,000 of the choicest securities being used. The amount borrowed was away beyond any present necessities; but the wheat bull decided it was better financiering to pay interest on unused funds than to risk a demoralized money market at the very moment when borrowing might be necessary. Leiter now has the funds in bank to pay for any possible wheat deliveries during the next 60 days. As important as the financial arrangement was the completion of plans to hurry the grain controlled by him abroad and into consumption. Every bushel of contract wheat now at Chicago will be on its way to Europe within the next four weeks. Up to the middle of March the railroads were loading Leiter wheat out of only one system of elevators—the Armour. The closing of additional shipping contracts with the east-bound roads for 3,000,000 bushels started loading at every elevator system in the city. On one day last week, cars were taking wheat simultaneously at the Armour, the Weare, the Counselman, the National, the Central and the Keith houses. That means the all rail shipments of 2,000,000 bushels per week. Some day this week, unless the opening of navigation is delayed beyond the expectation, the fleet of 30 vessels carrying 1,700,000 bushels of the Leiter wheat will start down the lakes toward Buffalo. Weather permitting, 5,000,000 bushels of wheat will start from Chicago this week eastward; will be at the seaboard by April 15, and will be off coast abroad by May 1. This Leiter movement of cash grain, now under way for 60 days, is evidently going straight into consumption without at all demoralizing the foreign markets. The spot No. 1 Northern at Liverpool Saturday was 7s 11d, equivalent to $1.14 per bushel there, and which means better than 95c here in Chicago; and the spot No. 2 red there Saturday was 7s 7½d, which at the low rates of freight paid by Leiter, is better than 90c at Chicago. Leiter has been making sales at figures better than these.

WHOLE TOWN DESTROYED.

But Little Left to Show Where Shawneetown Stood.

Chicago, April 6.—A Chronicle special from Carmi, Ill., says: The disaster at Shawneetown, Ill., came when the great majority of the people were in their homes eating supper. The break in the levee occurred a mile above the town, and was within 10 minutes more than a half mile wide. A stream of water 12 to 20 feet deep, carrying half the current of the flood-raised Ohio, descended on the unsuspecting people. It came in a great rush, like a tidal wave. There was no slow rising of waters to give warning.

The houses on the outskirts were lifted up and rolled over and over. Most of them were torn into splinters. Their inhabitants were drowned in them. Nearer the center of town brick structures stopped the onrush of the water for a few minutes, but about two-thirds of the dwellings were floating, careening out into the current of the river.

After a few minutes the horror of the situation was added to by the catching fire of a large house that had started down stream with the others. The people on the roof were already in danger of being thrown off by collisions with other floating houses, but the occupants of this floating firebrand added horror. As it struck one house after another in its course, some others caught fire and their unfortunate occupants were compelled to trust themselves to the mercy of the swirling water on pieces of wood to avoid a more terrible death by fire.

The break in the levee flooded four miles of valley land and cut off communication on two railways, the B. & O. Southwestern and the L. & N. When the water had slackened somewhat, many houses were still standing, but it was quickly seen that the frame ones would not last in the flood. By means of rafts and swimming in the cold water 70 or 80 people were transferred from their garret windows and roofs to the flat top of the Gallatin county bank, a brick and stone building, and the courthouse, which is of brick. It was hoped that these would withstand the pressure and the undermining, but when the single courier, who rode for help to Cypress Junction, left Shawneetown, only those two buildings showed above the broad sheet of the flood in the lower part of the town, and it was doubtful if they would not collapse and throw the refugees into the river.

Besides the hundred or more who were on the roofs of the two sound buildings it is known that nearly 1,000 of the inhabitants managed in one way or another to make their way to high hills back of the town, or to houses in the higher section of the village. A few of these survived the sudden burst of the waters, but the first and sometimes the second floors were under water. Those who made their way to them went only in the clothes they were wearing when the water came. No one had time to secure either treasure or clothing. The property loss is very great.

The scene at the upper end of the town, where men and women were struggling against the muddy water to higher ground, some carrying babies on their heads where water was up to their necks, others half swimming, half floating on odds and ends of lumber from homes that had gone floating down the river, many struggling in vain and sinking in the roaring waters, was one that will live in the memory of every beholder.

In one place a mother had reached a safe spot, and turned to help her husband, who had followed with their child. As she reached down from a window for his hand he was thrown from his footing, and he and the child were swept away in the current. The woman saw him sink and then threw herself into the water.

Another family paddled half way to safety on a plank, which held them out of the water. The current caught them and sent them out toward midstream, where in the rougher water they were seen to capsize and sink.

An old man, named Griffin, living on high ground, stepped in the upper story of his trembling house to secure a hoard of money hidden under the bed. His son, a young man of 21, had to climb up the porch to rescue him, so quick was the rise of the water, and when the two attempted to swim to safety the younger man supporting the older, a floating house came running in the current and overwhelmed them.

A woman, supposed to be Josephine Simon, was warned of the danger in time to get to higher ground, but in turning back to help her mother, was caught with the older woman in an eddy and they were drowned.

A woman made an effort to save her lover by throwing a clothesline to him from her house. His house was swept away at the moment, and he was thrown into the water. He swam to the aid of the girl, but she was standing on the side of a gable roof, and was pulled from her footing. Both were drowned.

These are some instances told by John Graham, who reached Cypress Junction, from which place he telephoned here for help. He said that he himself helped 12 persons out of the water.

Governor Tanner, of Illinois, has issued an appeal for aid.

Congress will be petitioned also.

North Levee Gave Way.

Ridgeway, Ill., April 6.—According to the best information obtainable here as to the flood at Shawneetown, the levee on the north was the one that broke. The north end of Shawneetown, except Main street, near the river, was built up of one-story buildings of inferior construction, which were mainly inhabited by negroes. It is believed the larger portion of those lost were colored people.

Appeal for Peace.

Chicago, April 5.—Mrs. Hannah Bailey, of Maine, of the department of peace and arbitration for the world and the W. C. T. U., has sent to President McKinley, on behalf of a million women, a letter commending the action of the administration and urging that peace be maintained. This action, it is said, will be followed by practical relief work for Cuba on the part of the national W. C. T. U.

How Are You This Spring?

Tired, nervous?
Can't get rested?
Tortured with boils, humors?
That is not strange. Impurities have been accumulating in your blood during winter and it has become impoverished. This is the experience of most people. Therefore they take Hood's Sarsaparilla to purify their blood in spring.

I. M. White, Salem, Or., says: "The members of our family have derived much benefit from the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla. My father was severely troubled with humor, but it readily yielded to Hood's Sarsaparilla."

Thomas A. Coleman, Davidson, Or.: "Four or five years ago I had sores on my feet so that I was unable to wear shoes. I saw Hood's Sarsaparilla advertised to cure scrofula, and I procured two bottles. By the time I had taken them my feet were well."

Swallowing His Words.

"While I was at Moscow," writes a traveler, whose words are reproduced by the Detroit Free Press, "a volume was published in favor of the liberty of people. In this book the iniquitous conduct of the public functionaries, and even of the sovereign, were censured severely. The book created indignation, and the offender was at once taken into custody. After being tried in a summary way, he was condemned to eat his own words. A scaffold was erected in a public square, the imperial provost, the magistrates and the physicians of the czar attending, the book was separated from the binding, and the margin cut off. The author was then served, leaf by leaf, by the provost, and was obliged to swallow this unpalatable stuff on pain of the knout, more feared in Russia than death. As soon as the medical gentlemen were of the opinion that he had eaten as much as he could with safety, the transgressor was returned to prison. This punishment was renewed the following days, until after several hearty meals, every leaf of the book was actually swallowed."

IT WILL PAY.

It will pay to carefully read the descriptive advertisement of Alabastine appearing in this paper, explaining the difference between those goods and kalsomines.

Consumers should bear in mind that Alabastine is unlike all the various kalsomines sold on the market under different names. Alabastine stands pre-eminent and alone as a durable wall coating, and all consumers in buying should see that the goods are in packages and properly labeled.

Captain Cuttle in Safety.

Many are the prayers that are breathed for those that have gone forth to brave the dangers of the open ocean, remarks a writer in The Illustrated American, yet catastrophes on record have occurred in still water within sight, almost within touch of land. The Episcopal prayer book contains a formula of prayer for those at sea, which may perhaps include those that are upon the waters of rivers or anchored in harbors. The horrors that have occurred within close range of land make more grewsome than humorous the remark of Captain Cuttle, who, when in a stress of weather, under close-reefed foresails, with the hatches battered down, used to retire to his cabin and murmur as he sipped his grog, "God help the poor creatures on shore tonight!"

A Bicycle Coincidence.

A remarkable coincidence has just happened at Portsmouth, England, which is thus recorded by The Westminster Gazette: A local doctor, visiting a colleague at his surgery three miles off, left his bicycle resting against the curb outside. When his call was ended, the bicycle was missing, and he communicated with the police, afterward returning home. An hour or two later a constable on duty in the neighborhood of this doctor's surgery saw a cyclist fall from the machine he was riding, which had skidded on the tramlines. The man, a young gunner in the Royal Artillery, was found to be seriously hurt, and was taken to the surgery for medical treatment. The doctor recommended the man's removal to the hospital, his leg being fractured. As he was being taken away the doctor looked at the bicycle, and found that it was his own! The police are now investigating the affair.

Work in the Patent Office.

In 1897 there were received 45,661 applications for patents, and in addition a large number of applications for designs, trade-marks, etc. Patents granted numbered 23,729, including designs; 65 patents were reissued, 1,671 trade-marks registered and 14 labels and 16 prints. The number of patents that expired was 12,926. The total expenditures, $1,22,843; the receipts over expenditures, $252,798. The total balance to the credit of the patent office in the treasury of the United States January 1, 1898, was $4,970,438.

In proportion to population more patents were issued to citizens of Connecticut than to those of any other state—one to every 786 inhabitants. Next in order are the following: Massachusetts, District of Columbia, New Jersey, Rhode Island, New York.

To residents of England 706 patents were issued; to residents of Germany, 551; Canada, 286, and France, 22.

The number of applications received for examination during the year was greater than for any other in the history of the office. Applications awaiting action December 28 last numbered 11,382, due to the inadequacy of the office force. For the 10 years beginning in 1840 the average number of application was 1,186, and for the eight years beginning with 1890 it has grown to 41,479 per year.

THAT SETTLES IT.

With the bloom and beauty of the season, its balmy airs and delightful temperature, we feel like living with new life, and are therefore often very careless in taking care of ourselves. It is this forgetfulness that lays us liable to attacks of rheumatism, the more liable because we think there is little danger of its coming on, but rheumatism is an easy thing to take and sometimes a hard thing to get rid of unless we take the advice of others and learn that the best way possible is to use S. S. S. Jacob's Oil. It has been used so long as a sure cure that this advice is given in good faith from the testimony of thousands.

ABOUT CHANGE OF LIFE

"I suffered for eight years, and could find no permanent relief until one year ago. My trouble was Change of Life. I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and relief came almost immediately. I have taken two bottles of the Vegetable Compound, three boxes of Pills, and have also used the Sanative Wash, and must say I have never had anything help so much. I have better health than I ever had in my life. I feel like a new person, perfectly strong. I give the Compound all the credit. I have recommended it to several of my friends who are using it with like results. It has cured me of several female diseases. I would not do without Mrs. Pinkham's remedies for anything. There is no need of so much female suffering. Her remedies are a sure cure."—MRS. ELLA KRINER, Knightstown, Henry Co., Ind.

By the way, the leading druggists tell us that the demand for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is simply beyond their power of understanding; and, what is best of all, it does the work promptly and well.

One Great Bonanza.

The value of the metal production in the United States during the past year is estimated at over $762,000,000. This production, says The Engineering and Mining Journal, not only emphasizes the great total value, but also the immense variety of the mineral production of the United States. Not only is this country the largest producer of iron and steel, copper, lead and silver and of gold, but almost every mineral and metal known to commerce is found within our borders and mined or prepared in some quantity.

Sheepskins Made Into Velvet.

M. Puech, of Mazamet, France, is the inventor of an interesting method, by means of which the wool on sheepskins can be converted into velvet. Up to this time sheepskins with the wool on them have only been used for rugs, carpets or the lining of clothing, and the wool has been left in the curled or combed state. Seeing that the natural disposition of the innumerable fibres is perfectly regular, and suited to velvetization, the inventor conceived the idea of removing all the impurities from the skin and adjusting them in such a way that the hairs would not tangle or mat.

Want to Feel What They Are Eating.

The inhabitants of Sikas, Turkey, owing to the oppression of the tax gatherer, who, the more industrious he finds them the more he demands, and that out of proportion to the means, have no ambition to lead other than a hand-to-mouth existence. Their principal food is made from unsifted whole wheat, that has been threshed on the ground by means of a drag drawn repeatedly over it by oxen, and usually has a large admixture of dirt and stones. The people prefer this to fine grade flour, because they say they can feel they are eating something.

Honoring a Dead Cat.

The most novel incident that ever occurred here was the funeral of Old Bill, the favorite old cat of the town, says a correspondent of the New York World, writing from College Corner, O. A pretty casket, covered with black cloth and lined with blue sateen, and having the usual outside trimmings, with a large name-plate, inscribed "Old Bill," was made, and the old pet laid in state in his last nest. He was the property of Barkley, the druggist, and the pet of the entire inhabitants. At the drug store, where he lay in state, hundreds of people viewed the remains, and many brought flowers as a last token of their friendship. The body was taken in a carriage by the immediate friends to the grave in the rear of Barkley's residence lot, where it was buried with more care and solemnity than many humans receive.

with paper to hide them and absorb the moisture of respiration, and an animal glue cultured ground on its face for disease germs; this having strong colors added, like a colored shirt, to hide the dirt; then think of "the nasty practice" of repeating this papering, without removing the old, and a number of times, at that, as many do. Then think of a room coated with pure, porous, permanent Alabastine, which is retinted with but little trouble or expense, and is purifying and sweet-smelling and fills cracks. Wall paper free would be dearer than Alabastine if cost of removing paper is considered.

Alabastine is sold by paint dealers everywhere. Ask your dealer for card of tints.
