DEEP SEA LIFE.

Purity of the Water is a Necessary Condition for Fishes at Any Depth.

Results of deep sea dredging are different in different oceans. A series of experiments made in the Aegean sea, which is a part of the Mediterranean, seem to establish the fact that there was an abundance of life in the shallow water, which diminished till it found a limit at 300 fathoms, below which no life seemed to exist. It was afterward shown, when repairing a cable on the coast of Africa, that animals were scarce at the depth of 1,000 fathoms, but at a depth of 1,500 fathoms. This, however, was exceptional for the Mediterranean. Both the English and American governments have made extensive research in the bottoms of different oceans, with very interesting results to science. It is proved by these dredgings that there is abundant life in the Atlantic ocean as deep down as 2,500 fathoms, or nearly three miles. One result of these soundings was to establish the fact that there were currents reaching to great depths, moving in opposite directions, with 15 degree difference of temperature within a short distance. The Mediterranean seems to be an exception to the general rule in the matter of deep-sea life. The reason is found in the fact that there is a slimy sediment in the deeper portion of this sea that interferes with animal respiration, the same as an extremely thick dust would in the air. Life is supported in the water the same as on land—by breathing oxygen. In the one case it is absorbed from the air and in the other case from a part of the water. Pure water is to the sea animal what pure air is to the land animal. The sea animal could not live in muddy water continuously any more than we could exist continuously in an atmosphere filled with dust. It is thus seen that depth is not the only condition that affects animal life on the bed of the sea. The nature of the soil and deposits are factors, as well as the temperature of the water. However, there are certain forms of life to be found in the lowest temperatures. But, as in the case on land, we do not find the same kind of life in the colder and deeper zones of the ocean as in the warmer and more shallow parts. In the cold waters the animals are benefited in the same way as we find them in high mountain regions. It is said that the starfish will grow as large as a pudding plate where the conditions are favorable, but not larger than a silver dollar in the cold current of the Atlantic, which flows southward. In some places this cold current falls 2 to 2½ degrees below the freezing point of fresh water, at the bottom of the ocean.—Chicago Times Herald.

WANTED—SEVERAL TRUSTWORTHY persons to take care of my business in their own and nearby counties. If they can do the work continuously at home, I will pay them $100 a month and expenses. No salary, no more, no less salary. Monthly $75. References. Enclose self-addressed stamped envelope. Herbert E. Ross, Pres., Dept. M. Chicago.

Flows are to be seen running in the creek below town, preparing the ground for fall seeding.

It is reported that Frank Warner is selling apples at 10 cent per bushel on the trees, purchaser picking them.

Mrs. Ed Parrish and Mrs. Mary Knox were seen in our midst one day during the week, enroute to Albany.

This has been an exceedingly favorable fall for farmers to put in their crops, and one that should be appreciated by them.

The attendance at school, dist. No. 17 is increasing very rapidly and promises to be the fullest school known for several terms back. At 10 o'clock the guests were invited to the dining room where a most elaborate supper was spread, and to which all did ample justice. Instrumental music furnished by Messrs. Chas. and M. Young and Mrs. G. A. Warner and two vocal solos by Miss Mona Daniel, which were exceptionally well rendered, composed no small part of the evening's entertainment. A solo was very pleasingly rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Johnson's two little daughters, Cleo and Zeta. It was nearly midnight when the guests took their departure, wishing the newly wedded couple a life of peace, prosperity and happiness.

Edw. Myers and son, Chester, returned from the East Saturday, where they have been visiting friends and relatives for the past two months. They report a very pleasant trip and an very joyable visit.

Marion Burkhardt has finished sowing his one hundred and twenty five acres of summer fallow. Marion is one of the most extensive farmers of this locality, is an estimable citizen and an all round, busy good fellow.

Paris is reported to be on verge of a revolution. Always an excitable city the Dreyfus case and army scandals, followed by a labor strike of large proportions have brought about conditions that make the government feel insecure. Large bodies of troops have been hurried to Paris and a strict military surveillance has been established. At present it looks as if France were to be in a position to defend herself against England in the Sudan.

Was at Santiago.

About three years ago Barney Bond, a son of Albert Bond, of Knox Butte, ran away from home and joined the U. S. army at Fort Sheridan. When war was declared his regiment was sent at once to Cuba and in the thickest of Santiago engagements. Young Bond arrived home Sunday night on a thirty days furlough and the next morning went to the parental roof for a visit. His account of the fight is very interesting, for he was in the midst of it himself, engaging without a scratch, though in many charges against the famous and treacherous block house. He saw the incident resulting in the death of every man at the gun except a son of Mr. Cornford of Mill City, mentioned in the eastern papers for bravery, in which young Cornford was promoted. His narration shows what a task it was to get into Santiago, cutting the barbed wire fences, etc.—Democrat.

Attention, Farmers.

Johnson & Phillips have just completed arrangements with one of the largest grain houses on the Pacific coast, located at San Francisco, to handle oats direct for them, and will thus be able to handle all the oats in this section, and pay therefor the very highest market price, so bring on you oats. Also will continue to pay the top market price for wheat, sacks now ready for customers.

Dried Fruit.

The price has advanced, I have a large contract to fill, and will pay big prices for all kinds. People will appreciate that I paid 61 cts a pound for good apples last season while Jews and other people paid only 5 cts.
