Direct from Dawson.

G. W. Morfitt received a letter last Saturday from William Sheriffs, a former resident of this vicinity, who is now in Dawson City—rather, near that place. The letter was dated January 1, 1890, and came through in pretty good time. It contains much interesting matter regarding that frozen up country.

Mr. Sheriffs and his brother have two claims up on Stewart river, three hundred miles up the river from Dawson. They came from there last fall and winter at the mouth of Stewart river they met Russell Higgins. The letter does not mention anyone else from this section. The writer says that there has not been $1000 taken from any of the creeks since he went up there—meaning any except the Klondike section. He says that Dawson has 30,000 people, and is the largest tent and log cabin city in the world. The ground is covered with about a foot and a half of dry, loose snow. The temperature was from 35 to 45 below zero. Prices were quite high, although provisions were quite plentiful. Prices quoted were, flour, $16 per hundred pounds, dried fruit, 35 cents, sugar 30 cents, bacon, 40 cents, beef, from 50 to 60 cents, 40 cents, dried potatoes, 40 to 60 cents per bushel. Over 700 people died in Dawson last summer. He adds that Oregon is pretty wet, but that it is good enough for him, and he hopes to be back to civilization next summer. He is now working for $1 per hour and boarding himself.

Swiped a Timepiece.

Constable Chas. Work, of Mill City, arrested Lester Wilcox at Shelburn last Friday for the larceny of a watch, and took him to Albany.

Wilcox is about 22 years old and his folks reside near Colfax. He has been at Mill City cutting cordwood this winter and has been bunking with several other young men. One morning about two months ago one of the young fellows mislaid his watch and suspicion fastened on Wilcox as the guilty party. About the same time $50 in money suddenly disappeared one night from another room mate of Wilcox. The boys watched Wilcox pretty close and had about an agh evidence to arrest him when he left suddenly for Shelburn a few days ago. After arriving at Shelburn he wrote back to a party at Mill City saying that he had the watch and had only bid it for a joke, and wanted to know if they would prosecute him. The letter was turned over to the owner of the watch and he swore out a warrant for the arrest of Wilcox. Wilcox turned the watch over to Constable Work, but denied getting the money.

Wilcox was given a hearing before Justice Clark, at Gates, on Monday, and was discharged. He was defended by L. L. Swann, a promising young attorney, of Albany, and who is also a personal friend of THE NEWS publisher.

The Quakers are Coming.

One of the numerous Quaker medicinal companies, operating on the Pacific northwest will give a series of entertainments at the city hall, Scio, Ore., beginning Monday evening, February 20th. This organization carries four performers who are fully capable of giving a creditable entertainment. The admission is but ten cents, as the object to be obtained is the advertisement of the worlds famous Quaker remedies.

made in connection with it. The smell of coal oil was quite noticeable when the fire was first discovered.

A Washington dispatch says that Senator McBridge says that the reason why the contract for the Yaquina project was not approved by the war department was that Chairman Burton, of the house committee on rivers and harbors, asked the war department to hold it up stating that it was in violation of a committee to repeal the law authorizing the project.

The bill that passed the House, to abolish serving intoxicating liquors in the private boxes of restaurants, ought to pass the senate without a dissenting voice. It is a bill in the interest of common morality and would work a reform in large cities especially. More young women are ruined and initiated to vice in the private boxes of restaurants than in any other way.—Journal.

On last Friday evening a merry party of serenaders called on several of our people and rendered, in a very charming manner, several vocal selections. The party called at the home of the writer and favored us with a couple of selections, for which they have our thanks. The party was composed of Mrs. O. B. Cyrus, Mrs. W. Phillips, Miss Grace Wylie and Miss Bertha Worshel.

The Long Creek Eagle published a notice of a man who had died in the community, closing with the statement that "a long procession of people followed the remains to the last resting place." The family discovered the supposed error and asked the editor to make the correction of the word "coasting" but he could not do it till the seven years back subscription which deceased owed had been paid.

There are several good bowlers in this city. One of the best is a fellow in their heads that they are just a little better than others. This state of affairs has caused the making up of two teams to bowl twenty games and the best game was bowled Saturday night. The two teams are composed of C. V. Johnson, Peter McDonald and Joseph Wesley, against A. J. Johnson, J. C. Simpson and A. M. Young. Next week we will give a match of the same and the average of each player.

The death of Mrs. Ed. Ramer, which occurred at the farm home a few miles southeast of this city on February 2, 1890, is but another of those sad events which make up the life journey of the great masses of human beings who born, live a few days and then pass on to the unknown beyond. Mrs. Ramer had been a constant though patient sufferer for many months, and death came to her and ended the pain and suffering which she had so willingly borne that she might remain here as a companion to those who love and mourn the loss of a loving wife and kind mother. Mrs. Ramer had no relatives in this country, her people all residing in Illinois. She came here some years ago with her husband who with two children are left to grieve over her death.

In this sad hour they have the sympathy of the entire community. The funeral services were conducted at Providence church.

Tribute to Mrs. Rogers.

Died—At her home three and one-half miles east of Scio, on Feb. 8, 1890, Alice, the beloved wife of George E. Rogers, at the age of 34 years.

Deceased was born in Christian Co., Ill., August 8, 1854, she was christened with her parents' Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Large, and settled in this locality, where she remained until her death. She made a profession of religion some seventeen years ago and was baptized by the Rev. John Osborne, since which time she has been an active worker in the Baptist church, and was loved and respected by all who knew her, which was plainly proven by the large procession which followed the remains to their last resting place in the Providence cemetery.

On Sept. 6, 1883, she was united in marriage to Geo. E. Rogers, since which time she has been a loving wife and mother. Her family were all present and saw her laid in the silent grave except one sister Mrs. Tirzah Campbell, of Leoni, Ill., and her parents, who, on account of old age and poor health, were not permitted to be present.

Deceased leaves a husband and five children to mourn her death. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. John Osborne who has always been her favorite minister, he having baptized her and also performed her marriage ceremony.

Dearest mother, you have left us gone, we know, to Heaven above; For your absence has left a void in our sweet unchanging love. 'Till this world ever bids you go, Then in Heaven we hope to meet you. Where we'll be for ever yours,
Mother, here your place is vacant,
Vacant in our hearts and home,
But in Heaven you'll be taken,
Where the Savior bids you come.
We'll miss you in our hearts,
While we are left to sorrow,
But the joys that shall be given,
There, will wipe away our tears.

Degree of Honor Instituted.

A Degree of Honor lodge was organized in this city, Wednesday evening, by Mrs. Martha Armstrong, Grand Chief of Honor, of Salem, assisted by W. H. Warner, D. D. G. M. W.

After the organization had been perfected the following officers were elected:

Mrs. T. J. Wilson, past chief of honor; Mrs. A. G. Prill, chief of honor; Mrs. J. R. Gill, lady of honor; Miss Edith Lukenbach, C. of C.; Miss Nellie Morrow, L. U.; A. M. Young, recorder; G. W. Morrow, financial; Miss Edith Lukenbach, secretary; Mrs. F. J. Jones, L. W.; J. R. Gill, O. W.; A. G. Prill, physician.

The new lodge starts out with a large number of charter members, and several others have signified a desire to become members. It is not improbable that it will soon become one of Scio's leading fraternal orders. Its plans and benefits are good, and the assessments are not very numerous, making it a very desirable order.

Cladde Branton the heinous murderer of John A. Linn, the circumstances of which every man, woman and child in Lane county is familiar has been baptized. Rev. Patterson of the Divinity school officiating assisted by Revs. Rose and Matlock. Does this signify that Cladde Branton, whose hands are deeply stained with the crimson blood of a fellow man, is cleansed from his sin, and the mightiest magnitude—that the Great Father will reach out and down to him, and lift this reptile, this human snake, this monster, whose very soul—if he be soul possessed—has been saturated in vice and crime from boyhood, trembling with brutish cowardice, up into ever-lasting life and seat him within the holy circle of the throne.—Bohemia Nuzgel.

Americans seem to have got control of the Cuban railroads, some half-dozen lines in all. New York capitalists, including Harry P. Whitney, with some cooperation from Montreal succeeded in buying outright three of the principal railroads. An English syndicate formed by the Spaniard Marquis de Arguelles, the president of the United Railroad and of the Cienfuegos, were outmaneuvered by the Americans.

PEOPLE ... Can't be Gulled!

We are still at the old stand, and selling loads of goods. People appreciate RIGHT prices. We buy our goods as cheap as MONEY will buy them, and sell them accordingly. Many good people tell us, after comparing, that our goods are yet cheaper than our comped's after they take off their alluring "20 per cent discount." And that's the size of the matter. The fellows are just coming to the prices we have always sold at when they make a reduction of twenty per cent....
