COURTESY TOWARD WOMEN. London Par Berond New York in Recog-nition of Her Efforts.

The international convention, recently held in London, of women interest ed in the temperance work, was a nota-ble demonstration of the deepening interest which women are taking in all reformatory movements. Probably, been assembled in Great Britain a gathering so truly representative of the Christian and philanthropic sentiment of the enlightened women of the world as this, in which one hundred and fifty American delegates actively partici-pated. One of the striking incidents of the convention was that, on the opening Sunday, two hundred London pul pits were occupied by women. But, notable as the gathering was, the London press seems to have given it little consideration, and the notice bestowed upon it was in some cases a great deal more insulting than commendatory in character. One consertative journal characterized the convention as composed of "blatant female agitators to whom taste and propriety are empty terms." When the Christian Endeavorers swarmed down upon this metropolis by the ten thousand, some two or three years ago, the daily newspapers were as much surprised and puzzled by the demonstration as the London journals seem to have been by the women's white ribbon gathering, but New York journalism, instead of criticising and belittling, welcomed, and devoted itself to setting forth copiously the achievements of the visiting organizations, thereby not only maintaining its selfrespect, but earning the hearty gratitude of a vast multitude of readers.

Four of the most eminent men is Europe are at the present time suffer-ing from partial blindness. In all cases the nature of the ailment is the same, namely, cataract, and all the illustrious patients are hopefully seeking relief in the resources of medical science. Mr. Gladstone has had several operations performed upon one of his eyes, the result of which, it is believed, will be almost fully to restore his vision, while the other eye is still sound enough to enable him to read and write. Sir William Harcourt's eyes are both much obscured, and must soon have relief or be altogether darkened. He will presently place himself in a surgeon's hands. M. Jules Simon is in a like plight, but hopes to have the opaque veil entirely removed. And Sig. Crispi, in whose case the ailment has not proceeded quite so far as in the of a skilled oculist.
