Mr. P. Ketcham of Pike City, Cal. says: "During my brother's late sickness Chamberlain's Pain Balm was the only remedy that gave him any relief." Many others have testified to the prompt relief from pain which this liniment affords. For sale by Peery & Peery.

A. P. Cooper, a well known farmer of Syracuse precinct, found on returning home from Albany Friday that a tramp had broken into the house and had stolen a watch and all the provisions he could carry away. The tramp was seen going toward Jefferson with his plunder, but he made good his escape.

Several months ago the Quaker doctors were arrested in Pendleton for practicing without a license and were fined for the same. They appealed the case to the supreme court and have just received a decision in their favor on the grounds that vendors of medicine are not practitioners. But as a matter of fact these men professed to diagnose one's case telling patient just what the matter was.

Crops throughout the country are looking quite well, and the prospects are fair for a good yield the coming harvest. The fruit crop is going to be short, but all other produce will yield a good crop. Hops are looking well, and are free from ice and promise a good yield. The price of hops is slightly on the upward tendency, and the prospects are that the prices will be good for prime hops this fall.

The final race between Pat Murphy and Bell Flynn has been arranged to come off tomorrow at Salem, and will be run on the state fair track. It is likely that this will decide who shall take down the state money which has been up for the past month. The horses are pretty evenly matched and likely that the race will be a pretty good one. There will be quite a number from this section in attendance.

Last Thursday evening a social visit party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Johnson in honor of Miss Linnie Rundlett and Allie Crossen of Salem. The evening was very pleasantly spent in playing progressive whist, and social conversation and it was nearly midnight when all departed, bidding the young ladies goodbye and extending to them a hearty invitation to visit our city again.

Hop growers say the prospects for a good hop crop are much better than for a number of years and considerably ahead of last year. Notwithstanding the continuous cold weather, the crop has made a good growth, and during the warm days of last week it was something marvelous. Well-informed persons estimate that the crop of this season in Oregon will be from 15,000 to 20,000 bales in excess of the crop of last year.

In returning from the Macabee picnic Saturday evening Leslie Vlebeck in trying to pass a carriage containing two young ladies was run into by a horse, and the ladies for they turned their horses towards him and he was thrown off under the buggy, and was considerably bruised besides having his bicycle smashed up. Mr. Crowley is also a cousin to the late T. M. Munkers, and was present at his funeral today. He is now making his home in Missouri, but has visited Oregon many times since he first crossed the plains in '46. He has a host of friends in this vicinity who are glad to welcome him among them again.

Death of T. M. Munkers.
As time rolls on one by one the honored pioneers are passing away. The last to join the numberless throng which has crossed the dark river of death was T. M. Munkers, whose death occurred at two o'clock Thursday morning. He was nearly 62 years of age, and came across the plains to Oregon in 1846. He leaves a wife and six grown children to mourn his death.

The funeral occurred today at 10 o'clock, the services being conducted by Rev. Roberts, of Aumsville, and the remains were laid away at the Miller cemetery.

Next week we will endeavor to give our readers a more extended mention of the life of Mr. Munkers, as well as the many acts which he did to cause his name to be long remembered.
