A FEW FARM NOTES

Dont Burn the Straw.

A trip up the Willamette valley this time of year will find many farmers burning up their straw a custom, like that of summer fallowing their land, which should be abandon. Few farmers seem to realize that in burning up their straw they are burning up their farms. The substance required to produce the straw on the stalk of the wheat is taken from the soil, the wheat itself is hauled away, and even if the straw was returned to recompense the soil, mother earth would be but scantily paid.

It takes no logical demonstration to prove that this process of year after year of continued sapping of the soil without returning to it that which is removed and that which is necessary to produce plant life, or wheat in particular, will in the end result in a total ruination of the soil, and the resources for producing wheat will be entirely exhausted.

The straw should not be burned, but used as food or for bedding and then returned to the land from whence it come. Dr Withycombe, of the Experiment station estimate straw worth $1.90 per ton as a fertilizer which is well worth considering.—Rual Spirit.

Family Syringes at Dawsons, Albany, from 45 cents to $3.

Death of Judge Powell.

Judge J. C. Powell, Albanys's oldest practicing lawyer, died at his home at 2 o'clock Monday morning of a complication of diseases, including paralysis, at the advanced age of 78 years. He only left his office a few days previous to his death, as justice of the peace trying a case about a week previous. Albany thus loses its oldest lawyer, Judge Powell having practiced law continually in this city for almost forty years. He was born in New York state and came to Oregon in 1858, locating in Albany in 1860, since which time he has played an important part in the upbuilding of the city and county, leaving a clean record for upright conduct and honest dealing.

In 1862 Mr. Powell was elected county judge, and in 1864 re-elected, serving a second two years with a good record as such official.

In 1865 the first city government of Albany was formed with Judge Powell as the first mayor.

In 1868 Judge Powell was elected district attorney for this district, serving the district faithfully for two years and was re-elected.

The record Judge Powell left is a good one, the part he played in the history of this country and valley was an important one, and the loss to our people is considerable. Judge Powell leaves a wife, a daughter, and a son and the entire community will sincerely mourn his death.

How to Prevent Croup.

We have two children who are subject to attacks of croup. Whenever an attack is coming on my wife gives them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it always prevents the attack. It is a household necessity in this county and no matter what else we run out of, it would not do to be without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. More of it is sold here than of all other cough medicines combined.—J. M. Nickle Bros., merchants, Nickleville, Pa. For sale by Peery & Peery.

The China pheasant season opened last Sunday and every available dog and gun were brought into requisition. Many birds were brought in, but few got the limit of fifteen birds. In some localities birds were found to be quite plentiful and others, scarcely a bird could be found. But in the main the hunting was good and the birds just plenty enough for fine sport.

Notice—Since, October 1st 1899, we, the undersigned proprietors of "Scio Roller Mills" have closed the credit business and hereafter all parties wishing merchandise in our line, must have grain on store or pay cash, for same Thanking our many customers for past patronage and asking a continuation, on new lines however We are yours anxious to please. Johnson & Phillips.

Johnson & Phillips proprietors of the Scio mills have received from the farmers of this vicinity, of this years crop about 13,000 bushels of A1 wheat, and some 10,000 bushels that is slightly damaged. A good deal of wheat has been offered which they could not receive. Seemingly the damage has been much more than it was at first thought to be. In order to be sure to meet the demands of their trade they have lately purchased at Albany, Tallman and Spicer, 33,500 bushels of last years crop which is absolutely first-class milling wheat.

Last Sunday a man giving his name as W. J. Hayden, accompanied by a woman, from Salem, arrived at this place and put up at one of the hotels. On Monday orders were telephoned to the chief of police for their arrest. They were taken into custody by the city marshal and locked in a room at the hotel for safety, but while the marshal went to report his catch, Hayden managed with the aid of the woman to get out of the room and took a walk for tall timber, since which time no one has seen him. Subsequently the woman left and was supposed to have gone to Jefferson. The charge against Hayden is reported to be forgery. Both were evidently toughs.

Game Warden Quimby has decided that the limit to the number of birds which can be killed in a day does not apply simply to one kind, but that a hunter can kill only fifteen of all kinds combined. Deputy game wardens are authorized to examine game bags that have a too full appearance. Birds cannot be sold, but they may be shipped as gifts to friends and the express companies may receive them for that purpose, says the Albany Herald.

Mr. Dooley Creates a Girl.

The author of the famous "Mr. Dooley," Finley P. Dunne, has joined the literary forces of The Ladie's Home Journal, and will create this fall in that magazine a new character, called "Molly Donahue, who lives across the street from Mr. Dooley." Her creator says that Molly is a bright pretty girl of nineteen, who has ambitions for the great world of womans clubs, Browning societies, golf clubs woman's rights organizations, and the "high toned literary and social life" which thrives on the elite side of Chicago. Her mother and brother sympathize with her, but her father, who works in the mill, is hard to deal with in that he will insist on sitting at table in his shirt sleeves and in his stocking feet. "Mr. Dooley" is the family's most intimate friend and is called upon frequently to run across and set matters straight.

Three Doctors in Consultation

From Benjamin Franklin.

"When you are sick, what you like best is to be chosen for a medicine in the first place; what experience tells you is best, to be chosen in the second place; what reason (i. e. Theory) says is best to be chosen in the last place. But if you can get Dr. Inclination, Dr. Experience and Dr. Reason to hold a consultation together, they will give you the best advice that can be taken."

When you have a bad cold Dr. Inclination would recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy because it is pleasant and safe to take. Dr. Experience would reccommend it because it never fails to effect a speedy and permanent cure. Dr. Reason would recomend it because it is prepared on scientific principles, and act on natures plan in relieving the lungs, opening the secretions and restoring the system to a natural and healthy condition. MARRIED.

At the residence of the bride's parents in Albany on Wednesday evening, October 4, 1899, Mr Samual Burkhart and Miss Nellie Munkers, Rev. C. R. Stevenson officiating.

DIED

At the family residence, about two and one half miles south of this city, on Tuesday, Oct. 3rd. 1899, Ira Fleener, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fleener, aged about 19 years.

The deceased was a member of the Modern Woodman, and was in excellent health until within a few days when he complained of a trouble with his head and came to town and consulted a physician. On Sunday he was somewhat restless and in the afternoon sent for the doctor who found a small abcess on the back part of his head which was lanced Monday morning and seemed, after that, to be much relieved. No danger was apprehended and he seemed to be feeling much better Tuesday morning laughing and joking with those about the house. Suddenly he sprang up, complaining of a sharp pain in his head. In a moment he sprang to his mother, saying "mother, I am going to die; good bye," clasped his mother in his arms and expired in a moment. An examination made a little later by his physician, Dr. Brown, showed that the cause of his death was an abcess on the brain. The family have the sympathy of the whole community in their bereavement. The funeral took place Wednesday conducted by the Crabtree camp Modern Woodmen.

A delegation of business men from Dallas held a conference with the executive committee of the Salem chamber of commerce last Friday night, in the interest of the Salem & Pacific Coast Railroad Company. The committee decided to give every assistance possible to the company, as its road will open a rich tributary country to Salem. It is expected that construction work will be begun soon. This road will run across Polk county to Falls city and tap the coast timber belt.

New and rich strikes are reported nearly every week in the numerous mining districts of Oregon, Washington and Idaho.
