Gust Forsell has patronized the Toledo creamery during the past six months, and finds himself a strong supporter, at least, of the creamery. He has milked, on an average, seventeen head of cows, but has increased his herd to the extent of twenty-two calves, every one of which has been raised on free skim milk from the creamery, and free grass.

Manhattan horse remedies are positively guaranteed. They are the best on the market. Ross E. Hibler.

Thanking our many customers for past patronage and asking a continuation, on new lines however. We are yours anxious to please. Johnson & Phillips.

Mrs. Mary C. Morgan, wife of James Morgan, died at her home in McMinnville, Wednesday of last week, aged 59 years nine months and eleven days. She was the only sister of J. A. Jarnagan, of this city and was born in Cooper county, Mo., in 1850. She was first married to John Wolverton, and lived in Iowa. She was the mother of eight children. The funeral took place at Albany, and the services were conducted by Elder Cain, formerly of this city.

There are yet several of our subscribers who have expressed a desire to pay their subscription in wood and to those who have not delivered the wood we wish to say that we would like to have it delivered as soon as possible. It is now getting about the time of year when a person wants to see his winters wood piled up in the shed, so if you wish to do so once, as it will not be long until the roads will not permit of much wood hauling.

Within the course of a few weeks Scio will have a local telephone system established and in good working order. The system will include a phone at the S. P. depot at West Scio, and which will be free to all persons having telephones in their places of business. The central office will be located in the Times News office, and reasonable office hours will be arranged so that good and prompt service will be given all patrons of the system as well as those who use long distance line.

While in search of a few of the famous China birds the editor of this paper, in company with H. L. Sumner and P. H. McDonald had the pleasure of a visit at the pleasant farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Fleener, about a couple of miles west of Scio, and enjoyed a very pleasant noon day meal with these pleasant people. A few weeks ago fire destroyed the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Fleener and they have but recently rebuilt, and only moved into their new home Saturday. The new residence, by the way, is a very neat and handily arranged home, and one in which these old people may comfortably enjoy their declining days.

There was a jolly good time at Odd Fellows hall in this city last Saturday evening, the occasion being the conferring of two degrees upon seven candidates from Green Mountain lodge at Gates. There were about 60 visiting Odd Fellows present, and the evening work, coming from Albany, Stayton, Mill City and Gates. A splendid mid-night lunch was served at the Scio hotel and it is useless to add that all did ample justice to the repast.

The work was not finished until almost morning, and an hour or so of social talk brought the closing ceremonies along at about four o'clock. One of the most pleasant features of the evening was the address by Grand Master J. K. Weatherford, whose remarks have since been the source of many words of praise. We are unable to give a list of those present although it would have been a pleasure to have done so.

The past season has been one of many disappointments to the farmer. His wheat crop was badly damaged by the summer rains, while the flax crop sustained in some respects, greater damage than the wheat crop. There are many hundreds of acres of flax yet uncut, but if we should be favored with a couple of days of good weather a good portion of it may yet be saved.

The Flax Fiber company are figuring on purchasing next seasons crop of flax in the field, or rather, in Scio. They propose to buy the straw, seed and chaff at a fixed price per ton, load and delivered at their warehouse in this city. This arrangement would be a great deal more satisfactory to the farmer than the present system under which it is grown, as it would encourage the farmer to take greater pains to produce a first class article of clean straw, as the seed would not be of any object to him. We hope to see the flax industry grow to much greater proportions in this locality than it is at present, as it will be the means of employing a large number of men and will there fore distribute a good deal of capital among the people of this vicinity.

A. D. Reynolds is superintending the building of the large warehouse for the Flax Fiber company. The foundation is about completed, and the building, which is 50x100 feet in size and 25 feet high, will be ready to completion as the engine will do the work. Should the weather remain clear for a couple of weeks there will be a good quantity of flax yet to thresh, in which event the machine and engine will be placed in the building when completed, and what flax that is ripe enough to thresh will be hauled here and threshed. Mr. Reynolds feels justly proud of the work done by the machine, as it has proven itself capable of doing the work for which it was made, and where the flax is of good average length and carefully bound the machine easily took out all the flax, and in short straw where it was poorly bound it saved at least 50 per cent of the seed. This fact was fully demonstrated by taking the straw after it had been cut through the machine and beating out the remainder of the seed by hand. To illustrate: It took five men four days to beat out about seven tons of straw from which they secured six bushels of seed. The straw was not selected, but was taken from the stack just as it came from the machine.

PURELY PERSONAL

J. C. Johnson was up from Salem the first of the week.

Miss Sylvia Munkers is visiting in Portland this week.

Miss Anna Zivny is visiting friends in Albany this week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Jones spent Sunday with relatives in Albany.

Mrs. N. T. Higgins and Mrs. A. W. Hagey drove to McMinnville Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Irvine and two children, were Albany visitors Wednesday of this week.

Miss Edna Gill left Saturday last for Portland where she will remain during the winter with Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Gill.

J. O. Carter, of Detroit, was down Saturday evening to attend lodge and shake hands with his host of friends in these parts.

Bert Bilyeu arrived in Scio the first of the week from Eastern Oregon, and will visit with friends and relatives for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Larimore are now Scio citizens, and are comfortably housekeeping in the Harnish residence, near the railroad.

Misses Nettie Hull and Myrtle Calavan, and their sisters, Esther, Claude, went to Portland Saturday last to take in the Exposition.

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Johnson left Wednesday for Portland where they will visit for a few days with relatives, and also take a look at the Exposition.

A. C. Crisman was over from Stayton Tuesday. He was one of the appraisers of the P. S. Brenner estate, and was here on business connected with the estate.

D. S. Youngs, of Albany, a former southern Oregon resident and friend of the winter, was among the numerous Odd Fellows who visited this city last Saturday evening.

Rev. Ford, presiding elder of this district, and Rev. Bagley, of Jefferson, were in Scio Wednesday, and conducted services at the M. E. church Wednesday evening.

Dr. J. W. Vogel, of Portland, arrived in Scio Tuesday evening on his regular visit. He has a number of patients here and has arranged to visit Scio every few months.

Guo Ivy, who has made his home in Eastern Oregon and Idaho for some time past, arrived in Scio Saturday last, and will visit with his father, Mr. Ivy, and sister, Mrs. S. I. Shore.

Wiley Loenicka, who came here with his parents in May last, left Tuesday for Rushville, Nebraska. He expects to remain there the coming winter, but may return here next season.

Miss Eva Myers returned Tuesday evening from Astoria, where she had been for several days past in the interest of Mrs. Mary C. Smiths millinery store. She reports making a good many sales in that locality.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Peery enjoyed a couple of days visit with Mr. and Mrs. Green Coffee, at their home in Kalama, Wash., after the close of the K. P., grand lodge, at Portland last week, to which Mark was a delegate.

Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Palmer, arrived in Scio Tuesday, and are the guests of Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Prill. Dr. Palmer once resided in Scio and has a host of friends here who are pleased to know that he is enjoying quite a lucrative practice in Idaho.

Miss Grace Wylie is up at Detroit this week with a stock millinery goods. Her friends up that way were very glad to meet her, and not the least of whom was Mr. Mackey, an old friend who accompanied her up her on the train. It was also reported that she was exposed to the small-pox, but this proved to be only a josh.

Deputy Game Warden "Jack" Miller was over from Albany Monday night. He was accompanied by R. D. Calavan, out no amount of investigations could induce them to say what license they had to be here, although they were alone but came over in a double carriage. Riley Calavan had on a new hat. It was quite an expensive headgear; he said it cost him $10 in Albany, and we are satisfied that it cost him about $7 while here.

The county commissioners of Marion county have ordered the Stayton bridge closed to travel until the necessary repairs can be made.

The steam wood saw was doing a rushing business the first of the week and in fact for a good many days past. It seemed as though everybody wanted to get their wood sawed at the same time.

Don't overlook A. W. Hagey's ad in this issue. He has a very nice line of jewelry, clocks and watches, and those who are desirous of purchasing goods in these lines, should call on him.
