For Sell Chickens by the Pound Unless they are Phenomenally Large.

I am paying 8 to 9 cents per pound for chickens, but don't be deceived into thinking that that is a better price than $4 and $5, for it is not, but instead it is from 50 cents to $1.00 down loss. He who advises you to sell by the pound is working directly for his own profit, and with much gain, for it is so plain.

So, believe me when I tell you that you best sell by the dozen, unless your chickens are phenomenally large. Chickens are sold universally in our market by the dozen, not by the pound.

Ross E. Hibler.

Notice

Remember that nine tenths of the so-called "Tailor made clothing" of the country are simply modified ready made clothing.

Sheep buyers are as thick as politicians in Hepburn, Or., and seem to have about as hard time getting sheep as the other fellows have getting office.

Ranch and Range says the Pacific Coast Condensed Milk Company is doing a big business in its factory at Kent, Washington. It has been found necessary to enlarge the factory.

Many a tenant farmer makes no effort to raise enough to supply his own, let alone furnishing any other table, with the vegetables that may be raised on a farm with but little extra work.

The premium list for the Oregon state fair has been adopted by the board, and will soon be ready for the printer. Parties wishing to receive an early copy should address the secretary.

The English have no better sheep than we, but they do have better mutton, and only because they have better grass; they feed more carefully and give better heed to the needs of their stock as a rule.

The number of cattle assessed in Washington fell from $28,121, in 1886 to $20,977 in 1899. On the other hand the number of sheep assessed in that state rose from $28,977 in 1886 to $2,164,101 in 1899.

The farmers of Oregon will this year obtain not less than five million dollars from the sale of sheep and wool. The sheep industry of the state is now almost as much of a factor as wheat is supporting the people of Oregon. If wheat should continue low in price and sheep and wool remain high it will not be long until the sales of sheep and wool will bring more money into the state than the sales of wheat.

Russia is reported to be massing one great army for an attack upon Turkey and another for the seizure of Afghanistan, while already her warships threaten the coasts of Japan. And so the czar presses his universal peace project bravely on.
