S. E. YOUNG & SON, ALBANY, OREGON

PURELY PERSONAL

Cola Neis, of Albany, was in Scio Monday.

Misses Eva Myers and Claudie McKnight went to Portland to see street fair.

Miss Torbett, of Albany, is visiting in Scio this week, the guest of Miss Grace Gill.

S. M. Daniel, of Monmouth, was in Scio this week, visiting with his father, F. M. Daniel.

Mrs. E. E. Larimore and the baby, went to Portland Monday, to remain during the street fair.

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Coffey and the children were at Astoria Sunday, visiting with relatives.

Misses Sylvia and Winnie Munkers are at Portland this week, visiting relatives and friends.

Mrs. Barnes, of Albany, was visiting in Scio the fore part of the week, the guest of Mrs. R. E. Hibler.

Henry Meyer, Jake Bilyeu, Chas. Young and "Dad" Cyrus were over at Albany Saturday of last week.

T. J. Munkers, Attorney T. J. Wilson and Ira A. Phelps were county seat visitors the first of the week.

Miss Lucile Board, who has been visiting relatives in Scio for the past month, returned to Portland last Saturday.

A. J. Johnson returned Tuesday evening from a six weeks' tour of junk excavating in Oregon and Washington.

Miss Myrtle Pomeroy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Pomeroy, who lives south of Scio a few miles, is ill with lung fever.

Ridley Waller and Miss Clara Warner, of Albany, were visiting in Scio Wednesday, the guest of Miss Warner's brother, C. A. Warner of this city.

Miss Anna Zivney, who formerly lived in Scio with her parents, but now resides at Oswego, was visiting in Scio over Sunday, the guest of Miss Nellie Barnes.

James Bilyeu, W. A. Ewing and Mike Bilyeu returned Saturday last from Belknap springs, where they had spent a few weeks fishing and hunting. They killed three deer and had a general good time.

Emil Hanset, who left here a three weeks ago for the Eastern states, returned Monday, having purchased a quantity of machinery for the fax mill. He will remain here for several months, and will superintend the working of this season's supply of straw.

James Compton was up in the Snow Peak country a couple of days last week in search of huckleberries. He went all alone, and camped one night in the woods. He will take about 17 tons of huckleberries—or any other kind of berries—to induce the writer to spend one night at Elk Head all alone.

A FEW FARM NOTES

The best sugar factory at La Grande started up August 21.

The wheat yield of the Northwest is estimated at 35,000,000 bushels.

Fire has destroyed 200 acres of timber eleven miles north of Klamath Falls.

A flock of 140 sheep sold in Benton county a few days ago for $1 per head.

Man wants little here below—and unless he owns stock in a trust he generally gets it.

If you are short on knowledge of the state's resources attend the state fair this fall and get posted.

There will be at least 100 corralds of prairie raised in the Liberty and Shaw districts near Salem this year.

From the increasing number of accidents caused by the automobile it seems the thing hasn't good horse sense.

Every farmer and stockman in the Willamette valley should exhibit something at the state fair. Remember all exhibits are handed free over the Southern Pacific.

Binger Hermann, commissioner of the general land office, Washington, D. C., is on a tour of inspection throughout Oregon and New York to obtain information regarding the question of grazing in those states.

The Prineville Journal says prices for wool are not much improved, although the demand for the same is increasing. Prices ranging from 11 to 14 1/2 cents, according to quality, and a number of sales at these figures are reported.

Among Oregon's large farmers are Smith Bros. of Gilliam county, who raised 5,000 acres wheat. They have begun hauling to Blakely and say the grain they are hauling runs 65 pounds to the bushel. Their grain is expected to go over 40 bushels—East Oregon.

Umatilla county's wheat yield is not up to expectations in point of quantity though the quality is better than ever before. But still it has raised quite a little wheat—about 5,000,000 bushels.

There are not many counties in the United States that do as well as that, but Umatilla is doing it and isn't boasting at all.—Telegram.

The hops, generally, have that beautiful yellow color, so much desired by hop growers at this time of year, and should be a good crop, and the yield promises good. The prospect for good prices is very bright and the hop crop will be the means of putting several dollars in the Oregon farmers' jeans this year.

Two thousand tons of last year's hop crop belonging to Lillenthal Bros. which have been stored in the Southern Pacific warehouse at Salem, began to move Tuesday in response to increased demands from New York and the probabilities are that the entire amount remaining in Oregon, which is about 3000 bales, will be shipped long before the new crop is ready to come to market.

Happy condition exists, and all are glad to see the decks cleared.

The correspondent in last week's Homestead who made the statement that "with every six cows that separator equals an extra cow that don't cost anything" and that without considering the increased value of the calf feed, and other valuable considerations. This machine is ready for use for itself in 90 days," may be said to be somewhat enthusiastic. But, nevertheless, the separator is a good thing on most dairy farms, and it is an encouraging sign that the number in use in the Northwest is rapidly increasing.

We have a friend who works a pretty cunning game on his boys to keep them out of the farm. He says that he couldn't run the farm without them. One of them he lets feed one part of the stock and another something else. If anyone asks him anything about the farm he readily says "Yes, yes, yes." To mark that he don't keep much track of things, as the boys seem to have a knack of doing better than ever he did. These boys are just the average farmers, but they do their work cheerfully because they feel that some responsibility rests on them. The boy who has nothing to say about his farm has very little interest in it. Boys are great deal like human beings, no matter what else is said about them. It pays pretty well to treat them "white," as the boys say.

The primers object of a state fair, says the Oregon Agriculturalist, is educational. If a man goes to the fair and gets into all of his time trying to amuse himself he has no reason to complain because he has learned nothing. If he goes to find out how many things are done well as they ought to be, he will find plenty to criticize. If, however, he goes to the fair to learn all that he can and sets about it he will get his money's worth. The most useful portion of an agricultural fair and the one which can be studied to best advantage is the display of live stock. Every farmer should be interested in one or more kinds of live stock at the fair. He should be interested in one or more kinds of live stock and the fair offers him the best available opportunity for seeing the different breeds and learning their good points. The man who has a few live stock of any kind, but has no ambition to improve it is pretty certain not to make the business pay in the long run. The display of good stock at the fair not only stimulates a desire on the part of the spectator to improve his own stock, but also gives him an idea of the ends at which he should aim in breeding.

A traveling salesman, who says he was quite an arithmetician in his early school days, has the Chinese situation all figured out, at least to his own satisfaction. He says that if the nations of the earth were to begin fighting China and should kill off Chinamen at the rate of 12,000 a day for a 100 years there would still be enough Chinamen left to occupy the attention of a few factories—that is not less than 253,000,000. Their sacred queues tied end to end would encircle the earth 400 times or would make a line twice enough to take care of the world's wheat crop for 200 years. We had better not go up against a nation like that. Once turn loose and they will conquer the world.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a Great Favorite.

The soothing and healing properties of this remedy, its pleasant taste and prompt and permanent cures have made it a great favorite with people everywhere. It is especially prized by mothers of small children for colds, croup and whooping cough, as it always affords quick relief, and as it contains no opium or other harmful drug, it may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by Peery & Peery, druggists.

R. W. Gill came in from Douglas county the latter part of last week with a fine band of sheep, which he had purchased out there. On Monday he sold 100 head of ewes to Antone Paesol for $3.50 per head.

Sunday last A. W. Hagey went down to Green's bridge, where he met T. W. Dilly, of Corvallis, and together they went fishing in the river. They were quite successful and Andy came home with a well filled basket.

A new mail route has been established between Stayton and Jordan, by way of Kingston, the service to be daily, and leave Jordan in the morning and return in the evening. The evening will be the C. & E. trains at Kingston, both ways.

Fruit seems to be pretty plentiful the present fall, and many of our people will lay by a good supply for winter use. Last fall there was scarcely any fruit in this section of the country, and what there was commanded good prices.

Last Thursday evening a number of the young people met at the grove near town and had a regular ice cream social—all to themselves. The evening was very pleasantly spent in different games and music and refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

A large number of young people from Albany, members of the Young Men's Association, were in Scio Wednesday evening, attending a meeting of that order in this city. A number of new members were inducted and a social good time resulted.

There seems to be a general shifting around the past couple of weeks, and many of our citizens have changed their place of residence. S. T. Haggins moved his family into the Dickens' residence and Walter Bilyeu now occupies one of the King cottages on Main street.

A number of new ads. will be found in this issue. It always pays to read the ads, as they are an invitation from the business men to the customers to call upon him, and if the very article you desire is not mentioned in the advertisement it is probable that you can find it among his large assortment. Chamberlain's Pain Balm applied to a cut, bruise, burn, scald or like injury will instantly relieve the pain and will heal the parts in less time than any other treatment. Unless the injury is very severe it will not leave a scar. Pain Balm also cures rheumatism, sprains, swellings and lameness. For sale by Peery & Peery, druggists.

Another hayrack party was given by a large number of Scio's young people last Thursday evening. They all piled into a freight wagon and drove out to the pleasant farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Craft, where everything was made merry until a very late hour, when they returned home, reaching here about 9 o'clock. All report a very pleasant time.

Mr. Moffit completed his equipage of moving the old school building to the fiber company's ground Monday, and once more the house stands on the same rocks on which it has rested for the past 30 years. The house was well built, and is in a splendid state of preservation. In it many of our citizens spent their school days, and acquired an education sufficient to enable them to fight the battles of life. Verd Johnson says there are marks on the walls of one room made by his boot heels, striking as the teacher yanked him out of his seat to thrash him for some mischievous act. No doubt many a jacket was lanned in this old building, but if one must judge now of those who were once pupils, we doubt if there was ever a lick struck amiss. But the building has passed beyond the educational stage, and will soon be filled with machinery, and with a little repairing will fill the bill for a number of years to come.

About all our people greet the hop yards this week, and judging by the rate the teams went through town Saturday and Monday one would think that everybody in the surrounding country had gone to the yards. Hop picking has become a regular picnic, and many of our people look forward to hop picking as a means of taking a summer outing.

Miss Anna Rex, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Rex, of this city, died yesterday morning about 7 o'clock, aged about 16 years. She had been ill for a few weeks past with some sort of a fever, and grew much worse during the past few days. The family have the sympathy of the entire community in this their sad loss. The funeral will take place today.

The barn of A. Hall, who lives in the Crabtree bottom, on the Albany road, was burned to the ground Wednesday, together with all its contents. Mrs. Hall and the children were at home alone, and it was with difficulty that the dwelling house was saved. Dr. Hill and party from Albany, who were on their way to this city, assisted in keeping the fire from the residence.

A big deal is now on in regard to a 100,000-acre tract of fine yellow fir on the Calapooia river, along the boundary between Lane and Linn counties. Schwartz & Holmes, of Marietta, O., have had half a dozen cruises in the timber there for several weeks. If the deal is consummated the owners of the timber lands in that vicinity, and the prospect is very good for a sale.—Oregonian.

"A large and heavy woman, accompanied by a comparatively small and meek looking man, had come in and asked to be married," relates an Oregon preacher. "Everything was regular, and the ceremony was performed. After it was all over the bride explained her position. 'You see,' she said, 'farm lands are mighty hard to get in this country, and they are costly besides to keep. You get a good hired man and get him well broke in to work around the farm, and the first thing you know he quits the job and goes off to town or somewhere else. Last spring I had a first class hand, about as good as I ever expect to get, but just when the season got right busy he up and quit me. I just made up my mind that I wasn't going to be left in the same fix this summer, so here we are.' The bridegroom in the case simply stood and smiled meekly. He had nothing at all to say."
