Nothing Tastes Good

And eating is simply perfunctory—done because it must be.

This is the common complaint of the dyspeptic.

If eating sparingly would cure dyspepsia, few would suffer from it long.

The only way to cure dyspepsia, which is difficult digestion, is to give vigor and tone to the stomach and the whole digestive system.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cured the niece of Frank Fay, 106 N. St., South Boston, Mass., who writes that she had been a great sufferer from dyspepsia for six years; had been without appetite and had been troubled with sour stomach and headache. She had tried many other medicines in vain. Two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla made her well.

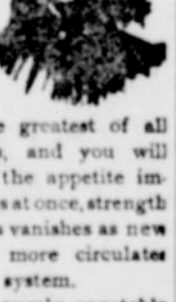
No External Symptoms.

The blood may be in bad condition, yet with no external signs, no skin eruption or sores to indicate it. The symptoms in such cases being a variable appetite, poor digestion, an indescribable weakness and nervousness, loss of flesh and a general run-down condition of the system—clearly showing the blood has lost its nutritive qualities, has become thin and watery. It is in just such cases that S. S. S. has done some of its quickest and most effective work by building up the blood and supplying the elements lacking to make it strong and vigorous.



"My wife used several bottles of S. S. S. as a blood purifier and to tone up a weak and emaciated system, with very marked effect by way of improvement. "We regard it a great tonic and blood purifier."—J. F. DUFF, Princeton, Mo.

WHAT ARMY OFFICERS EAT.

Great Variety of Food Is Dispensed by the Commissary Department.

No one outside of the army has any idea of the variety of commissary articles which are carried in the subsistence storehouses at army posts. The present extensive stock is a gradual growth since 1866, when the old army sutler was supplanted by the post trader, who in turn was driven out of the service by an exposure of corruption and collusion which involved even the wife of a cabinet officer and dragged the latter into retirement.

The post trader carried a few articles which he sold to the officers and men at exorbitant prices, and one of the choice government "snaps" was a post tradership, for which men were willing to pay large sums that they might have the protection and license of the government in robbing the helpless army officers and soldiers of remote frontier garrisons. The variety of the post trader's stock was as limited as its quality was indifferent.

When the post trader was banished the subsistence department of the army extended its system so as to embrace something besides the ration which it purchased and issued to troops. It began to keep such articles as smoked fish, sirups, canned oysters and lobsters, jellies, jams, flour, hams, coffee, candles and salt. The list was a meager one, but it was the beginning of an elaborate system and an extensive stock. The department has improved its supplies year by year, keeping in mind the needs and the desires of the enlisted men, the officers and their families. These supplies are outside the regular ration and are sold at contract prices even to officers and men on the retired list, provided they certify that the supplies are intended for their own consumption.

In the list of foods there are now all kinds of canned and evaporated fruits, canned vegetables, fish and meats, four varieties of soup, four varieties of crackers and three varieties of white sugar. There are all kinds of spices and seasonings, sauces and jellies, among which are four varieties of pickles and two varieties of table sauce. There are four brands of cigars and four varieties of smoking tobacco, with other smoking articles and supplies. Sometimes these varieties do not meet all the demands of the army, and additional kinds are provided, but there is a limit placed on certain articles, and the department does not provide more than ten varieties of cigars (none costing more than $6 per $100, or $12 in the open market), six varieties of pickles or crackers and five of smoking tobacco or soup.—Saturday Evening Post.

DRUNKEN COWS IN A FIGHT.

Sanguinary Conflict Takes Place After a Meal on Fermented Cane.

The most exciting affair in the vicinity of Bronson, Fla., of late was the ferocious combat between two of Farmer Hawkins' intoxicated cows the other day, causing the death of one after a fight that would put a modern bull fight to blush.

Hawkins lives four miles from Bronson and prides himself upon his fine stock. He makes lots of cane sirup also. In the grinding season most of the farmers in this country make beer for home consumption from the "cane skimmings," but Hawkins is a stanch teetotaler and vowed he would give the skimmings to his cows. So he filled the trough full the other afternoon, not dreaming of the tragic consequence to follow.

Soon two of his pet cows came up and began drinking the liquid. It tasted good, and the cows wanted more. Soon they had on a goodly "jag" and they got belligerent. One plunged at the other, trying to get possession of the trough. The other, with a bellow of defiance, gored her antagonist in the side with artistic skill. The other turned tail for a moment, and then came rushing back, pinning the cow to a post and goring her frightfully.

The fight then became general. The infuriated animals bellowed and plunged at each other and fought with deadly earnestness. This was kept up for a half an hour, when one was knocked down in a dying condition, and the other was just able to walk around and bellow triumphantly. The men folks heard the uproar, but did not get to the scene of the warfare in time to stop it.

Mr. Hawkins is out one cow, but has lots of experience. The old settlers around there say this is a common occurrence where cattle drink this skimmings, as it makes them fighting drunk and a scrimmage follows. In the old times it was one of the boys' sports to get a drove of cattle in an inclosure and feed them with cane skimmings and watch the fight that would follow.

When He Held the Jack.

"He was a softish sort of chap, but played a tolerably fair game of seven-up," said ex-Sheriff Warren K. Ridgway, of Pike County, Pennsylvania. "We were sitting in, up at Lackawanna, playing for a quarter a corner. I knew he was dead gone on a girl up at the Narrows, and so remarked, casually, early in the game:

"'Every time a fellow gets the jack of trumps in seven-up it's a sure sign his girl is thinking of him.'

"Then I sort o' watched the young fellow, and the very next hand he picked up I noticed his eyes light up and a real nice flush of pleasure spread over his face. So I led out, and, sure as pollywogs! I caught his jack, as I thought maybe I would. And it worked so well all the evening that I had a whole lot of his quarters when we quit. But he seemed pleased, and went up to the Narrows on the next train."—New York Evening Sun.

New Jersey Fossils.

In the blue shales of a valley a few miles from Montclair, N. J., are found fossil fish of a kind which is almost extinct, only three specimens now surviving. They belong to the order of ganoids, which possessed no interior bony skeleton, but only an outside covering of bony or cartilaginous plates. They were the earliest known vertebrates. A number of excellent specimens show distinctly the shining, bony scales of this peculiar species of fish, which, according to geologists, must have existed ages ago.

A fair trial will certainly convince you of its value.

Literary Note From the Century Co.

The Century is to have a serial story by Irving Bacheller, the author of that popular novel, "Eben Holden." It is a border tale of 1812. Two types of the men who have helped to make America are set forth in it: one, a Northern Yankee, quaint, rugged and wise; the other, a man who has the hardy traits of a Puritan with the romantic temperament of a cavalier. The scene of the story is in the neighborhood of Lake Cake Champlain, and the title is "D'ri and I." It will begin in the March Century and run for six months.

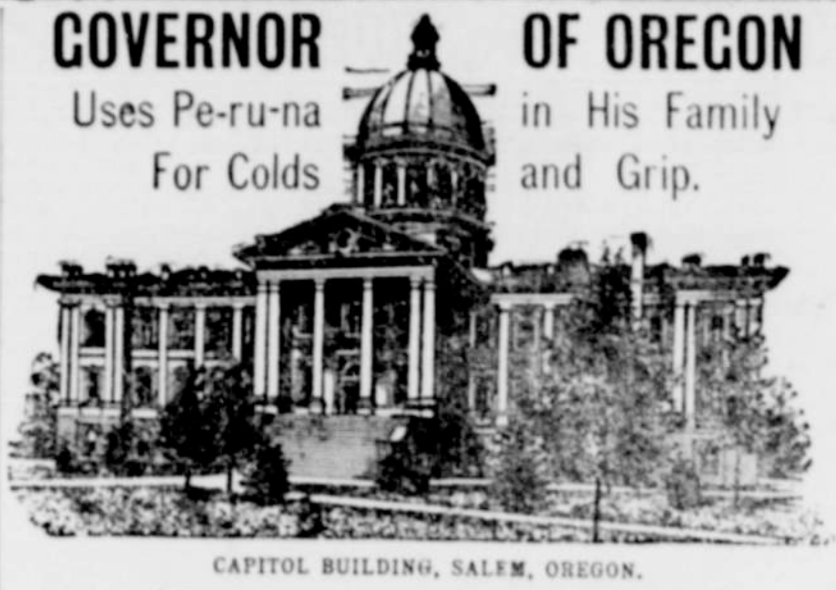
To Remove Paint From Clothes.

A painter advises how paint may be removed from clothes that will wash. For a white garment or any goods that will not fade, boiling water is sufficient. For colored cottons rub common kitchen soap thoroughly on the spot, and let it soak in clear water over night, when the paint will readily peel off, leaving no stain and without any injury to the fabric.

GOVERNOR OF OREGON
Uses Pe-ru-na For Colds in His Family and Grip.



CAPITOL BUILDING, SALEM, OREGON.

A Letter From the Executive Office of Oregon.

The governor of Oregon is an ardent admirer of Pe-ru-na. He keeps it continually in the house. In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman he says:

State of Oregon,
Executive Department.
Salem, May 9, 1898.

The Pe-ru-na Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:

Dear Sirs:—I have had occasion to use your Pe-ru-na medicine in my family for colds, and it proved to be an excellent remedy. I have not had occasion to use it for other ailments.

Yours very truly, W. M. Lord.

Any man who wishes perfect health must be entirely free from catarrh. Catarrh is well nigh universal; almost omnipresent. Pe-ru-na is the only absolute safeguard known. A cold is the beginning of catarrh. To prevent colds, to cure colds, is to cheat catarrh out of its victims. Pe-ru-na not only cures catarrh, but prevents. Every household should be supplied with this great remedy for coughs, colds, and so forth.

It will be noticed that the governor says he has not had occasion to use Pe-ru-na for other ailments. The reason for this is, most other ailments begin with a cold. Using Pe-ru-na to promptly cure colds, he protects his family against other ailments. This is exactly what every other family in the United States should do. Keep Pe-ru-na in the house. Use it for coughs, colds, la grippe, and other climatic affections of winter, and there will be no other ailments in the house. Such families should provide themselves with a copy of Dr. Hartman's free book, entitled "Winter Catarrh." Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

NO NEGROES IN THIS TOWN.

One Kentucky Village from Which the Black Man Is Barred.

Calvert City, in Marshall County, in Kentucky, is one of the few places in the world that has effectually solved the race problem. Not a negro is to be found within a radius of a dozen miles, and the negro is yet to be discovered who has any permanent desire to come here.

To threaten a negro with Calvert City is to bring before his frightened vision pictures of death more horrible than by lynching.

The peaceable, law-abiding spirit that prevails in the little Kentucky town is swiftly banished when a negro appears. If he keeps going he is not molested, provided he attends strictly to his own affairs and does nothing to provoke the ever-alert hostility of the residents. But he can neither take up his abode there nor remain over all night, and so disastrous have been all past attempts to break this unwritten, but none the less, stringent law, that no negro would to-day dare to move into Calvert City and announce his intention of remaining.

The town itself is a small place of a few hundred inhabitants, situated on the Illinois Central railroad, only a dozen miles from Paducah, the metropolis of Southwest Kentucky.

The intense hatred of the negro dates back twenty years or more. Few profess to know its origin, and many claim that it was born in the people, but some of the older inhabitants declare that it had its inception years ago, when two negroes married white women and settled there. The aversion of the people became so great that numerous attempts, resulting in considerable bloodshed, were made to expel the mismated couples, and eventually they were driven away.

This aroused the bitterest hostility among the negroes, and the white people soon grew to so hate the sight of one that every negro was aultimately run out of the vicinity, and one has never been known to live in those parts since.

In recent years there has been no serious trouble, but it is estimated that no less than ten or a dozen negroes who had settled in the neighborhood have been shot from ambush or otherwise mysteriously killed.

This reprehensible means of exterminating them, however, was always adopted as a last resort, and no one was ever punished for relieving the community of their presence.

Old Servants' Prizes.

On the Austrian emperor's fete day a number of prizes were distributed to servants who have been a long time in the same situation. The prize was about £15 in each case. First on the list was a valet, aged 71, who had served forty-six consecutive years in one family. The second was a nurse, 72 years old, who had served forty-two years in one family; a maid of all work, 77 years old, who had served forty-one years in a nunnery, came next; then an under cook, aged 51, who had served thirty-nine years in a boy's orphanage.

There was a maid of all work, aged 76, who had served thirty-nine years in one family; a kitchen maid, 69 years old, who had been in the household of Princess Clementine of Coburg for thirty-nine years, came next, and then, 68 years old, came one who had been a lady's maid to Baroness Chley for thirty-eight years.

Altogether there were twenty-one names on the list, and the shortest term of service was thirty years. Our correspondent remarks that the mistresses of these good people deserved prizes, too, for they must surely have lovable tempers if they can go on being waited upon by ladies' maids and maids of all work of the ages named.

Siberian Rivers Well Lighted.

One of the most remarkable features of the Russian navigation of Siberian rivers consists in the thorough way in which each verst of the navigable 3,000 or more is lighted. There is always a lamppost in sight, and these are painted white or red, so as to be easily discernible during the day. This must necessitate the employment of at least 1,000 lightkeepers, who also patrol and sound the river's depth within their respective beats. Each isolated woodpile must have its guardians, who live near by in a log hut or two.

An Exceptional Lake

An interesting exploration of Lake Tanganyika and the country north of it, finished recently, revealed the fact that while certain sea molluscs are found in this lake, it is the only one of all the large African lakes in which such phenomena are observed. This lake is only a short distance, some eighty miles, from the great Congo basin, much of which, without doubt, was once covered by the sea.

The above number does not include motor-cycles and motor cars, which are far more plentiful in France than in England. Motorcycles are to be used by postmen for collecting letters in Paris.

AN INTERESTING CASE.

PARENTS OF GROWING GIRLS WILL APPRECIATE IT.

The Story Is Told by a Father Who Is Grateful for His Daughter's Recovery.

No. 91 Lincoln avenue, Cortland, N. Y., was once a house of sorrow and sadness. The daughter of George Loucks, the pride of the household, seemed going into a decline as she reached her early womanhood and her condition caused the greatest anxiety in the family. The happy ending of the matter caused considerable excitement in the neighborhood and, when questioned by a reporter, Mr. Loucks made the following statement:

"About two years ago my daughter, who was then in her 16th year, was in bad health. She was pale and thin, without strength or vitality, in fact her condition was that which is generally called all run down. We were, of course, worried about her and employed the best physicians to attend her. They studied her case and although they did everything possible, gave her no relief which was permanent. The late Dr. Angle had first called my attention to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and my wife had heard they were a fine tonic, so we decided to try them for my daughter. We did so and inside of eight weeks the primary cause of her trouble was removed and she showed a decided gain in health, strength and flesh.

"A great many people will buy a medicine and take a few doses. Then if they are not cured they throw it aside as no good, or take it spasmodically. We believe in a fair trial in strict accordance with directions and our faithfulness was rewarded for she was greatly benefited by them. Her color came to her cheeks and she continued to gain in weight and strength. We have told a great many people about them and have been glad to do so."

Signed, GEORGE LOUCKS.
