It has just been learned in Oregon City that in 1893 or 1894, General Frederick Funston, who captured Aguinaldo, was employed at the Willamette pulp paper mills as a pipe fitter for a couple of months. He came from California with a force of men, who were fitting up buildings with Gray automatic sprinklers.

Acker's Saved Her Life

"About two miles from Vassar, Mich., where I keep a drug store, lives Mrs. T. M. Bratt. She was very sick and hopeless with consumption. I watched her case with interest after she began taking Acker's English Remedy for Consumption, because I had heard so much about its wonderful cures. Well, sir, perhaps you will doubt it, but with my own eyes I saw this woman get well and strong on that remedy. In a very short time the cough stopped, her lungs were healed up, the soreness went away, and she began taking on flesh. She herself said: 'Mr. Bullard, I owe my life to Acker's English Remedy. It is a certain cure.' In Mrs. Bratt's neighborhood her recovery has occasioned much comment, as you can easily understand. Her case was one where everybody thought it was only a question of a little while until she would die. I feel it a duty as a druggist to write this letter, so that there need be no more deaths from consumption."
(Signed) E. A. BULLARD, Vassar, Mich.

Current Topics of General Interest

Evidently those who are counterfeiting copper cents on a whole-sale scale, in spite of the efforts of the U. S. secret service to run them down, believe that "it is the little things that count."

The Kaiser has got it twisted. Instead of there being too much criticism of the Emperor in Germany there is too little. Free speech is the greatest safety valve for any government.

Russia has developed a mania for twisting the tail of the British lion that may prove costly if persisted in. John Bull has troubles, but he is by no means as bad off as he is pictured by his enemies.

New Yorkers are engaged in a controversy as to whether public baths or public libraries are most needed in that city. Intelligent visitors all agree that both are needed in that town about as bad as anywhere on earth.

It is said that between 250,000 and 300,000 pounds of garlic are used every year by residents of the United States. Once in a while a fellow encounters a breath in public which tends to the belief that the estimate given above is far too low.

There seems to be a disposition in Europe to revive the old game of killing men of prominence. We do it better in this country. When a man of prominence gets too "chety" we simply reduce him to the common level by depriving him of his prominence.

It is said that a clause in the Army appropriation made by the late Congress is the first official acknowledgement by the government of the employment of spies. The clause appropriates the money to employ "interpreters, spies or guides" for the army in the Philippines.

A beautiful story of conjugal love was told when a Hawaiian woman tried to simulate leprosy, in order that she might accompany her husband, a leper, who was about to be sent to the leper island. To the credit of the health authorities they allowed her to go with her husband. That woman is what we call a savage, but she knew the gospel according to St. John—"Greater love hath no man—" etc.

Hon. H. W. Corbett, who was a candidate for the United States senate, declares that on the first day of next January he will start in and make a fight for election at the next session of the legislature. He will see that clubs are organized in every state, and he proposes to make a hard fight and commence early. His friend, Joseph Simon's, term will expire at that time. Mr. Simon will also make a fight and with a few dark horses in the field the next session of the legislature promises to be more tropical than the last.

The Farmers' Institutes being held at intervals throughout the Pacific Northwest are doing a good work. They are calculated not only to aid but to interest farmers in their work and to induce in them a feeling of pride in it. They may not only leran some better methods of farming in certain particulars, but after seeing and hearing what other farmers are doing and saying some of the carless ones will be prompted to emulate those who are more painstaking, systematic and successful. No means of education is to be despised and this is one of which as many farmers as possible should avail themselves.

Mr. Carnegie has given away about $40,000,000 within a few weeks. This is the most remarkable distribution of private wealth for popular use and benefit that the world has ever known. In this, Mr. Carnegie has set a worthy example for other men of wealth to follow. It ought to be said however that he is not the only man of wealth who has given generously to the public from his wealth. While the United States is a country prolific of millionaires, as a rule they have been public spirited and generous. In no other country in the world have the gifts for public enterprises and benevolence been granted so liberal.

While there has been considerable talk about the reward that should be given General Funston for his daring capture of Aguinaldo, but not much attention has as yet been given to the claims of the enabled him to make the capture. To the leader of course belongs the credit of originating the plan which so successfully carried out. yet the fact should be borne in mind that without followers as brave if less fertile in invention as the leader, the feat could not have been accomplished. Too much credit cannot be given the leader for the courage and fortitude displayed, but when men stand face to face with death, the life of the follower is as dear to him as the life of the leader to him. General Funston himself will do what he can to secure for his followers a reward suitable to the service rendered.

It is announced that Profs. Babcock and Russell, of the United States Agricultural Experiment Station have made a discovery that will revolutionize cheese making. Their discovery is that bacteria have nothing to do with cheese curing, but that a fluid called galactase, which is secreted with the milk by the cow cures the cheese, and that cheese cures better at low temperatures than at medium temperatures. The cheese making world has always believed that medium temperatures were necessary for the proper curing of cheese, because the bacteria which were considered necessary for the proper curing, would not live at low temperatures. The discoverers of galactase declare that the bacteria are unnecessary and if anything harmful, and that a low temperature would kill them and at the same time allow the galactise to do its better work.

Holds Up A Congressman.

"At the end of the last campaign," writes Champ Clark, Missouri's brilliant Congressman, "from overwork, nervous tension, loss of sleep and constant speaking I had about collapsed. It seemed that all the organs in my body were out of order, but three bottles of Electric Bitters made me all right. It's the best all-around medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter." Over worked, run down men and weak, sickly women gain splendid health and vitality from Electric Bitters. Try them. Only 50c. Guaranteed by Peery & Peery, druggists.

A Hard Profession.

Editing a paper is a nice business. If we publish a joke people say we are rattle headed. If we publish original matter, we don't give them enough selections. If we give them selections we are too lazy to write. If we give a man a little puff we are partial. If we compliment the ladies, the men are jealous, if we don't, we are publishing a paper that isn't fit to make a bustle of. If we remain in our office, we are too proud to mingle with common people. If we are on the streets we are not attending to our business. If we speak to everyone, we are too fresh; if we don't speak to everyone, we are not sociable enough to be a public man. If we wear poor clothes, our business don't amount to much; If we wear good clothes we didn't pay for them. Now what shall we do?

A Raging, Roaring Flood.

Washed down a telegraph line which Chas C. Ellis, of Lisbon, Ia., had to repair. "Standing waist deep in icy water," he writes, "gave me a terrible cold and cough. It grew worse daily. Positively guaranteed for Coughs, Colds and all Throat and Lung troubles by Peery & Peery. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

Senator Mitchell's Daughter.

The fact is recalled by the election of Mitchell as senator from Oregon that his daughter married, nine years ago, into one of the oldest of France's titled families, says the Spokane-Review. She is the wife of the duc de Rochefoucald, who has one of the finest linages in France, three titles, all of last year's bird's nest variety, a commission in the army and a host of friends. He seems to be an exception to the ordinary run of dukes, for he refused to marry his cousin and a fortune, and took the Oregon girl without a dot. The couple met in Paris fifteen years ago. It was a case of love at first sight, although the duke is fourteen years his wife's senior, and had the reputation of a woman hater.

Good For Rheumatism.

Last fall I was taken with a very severe attack of muscular rheumatism which caused me great pain and annoyance. After trying several prescriptions and rheumatic cures, I decided to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I had seen advertised in the South Jerseyman. After two applications of this Remedy I was much better, and after using one bottle, was completely cured.—Sallie Harris, Salem, N. J. For sale by Peery & Peery, druggists

A NOVEL LOVE ROMANCE.

Began with a Stupid Man Who Damaged a Woman's Nose.

Here's a curious story of love and courtship. About two years ago, says the Athens (Ga.) News, a young gentleman of this city, while in Savannah, got into a street car with a heavy umbrella under his arm. Like a great many other careless people, he held it at a dangerous angle, with the point sticking out behind him, and ere long the car gave a lurch and a lady just behind him emitted an ear-splitting scream. Everybody jumped and looked, and to his horror the young man found that the point of his umbrella had come in contact with the nose of the young lady seated just behind him. Of course, he apologized, or tried, but it was like apologizing for murder over the body of the victim, for the lady's nose was bleeding and she was almost in convulsions with pain.

The car was stopped at the next corner, where there happened to be a drug store, and the young man, aided and abetted by one or two elderly ladies, who at once took a lively interest in the case, helped the young lady off and into the store and posted off after a doctor. One was found and the unlucky nose was soon put in working order, and the owner, attended by the married ladies, was sent home in a carriage.

The young man took her address and hunted up a mutual acquaintance, with whom he called the next day to see how the nose was getting along. The nose did well, so did the young man, for by the time the nose was out of danger he had got in the habit of calling, so that it became natural for him to step around in the evening. So in the course of time they were married, and she is the only lady in the United States whose courtship began by a punch in the nose from her future husband.
