KISSING AMONG WOMEN.

The Tactless Ladies Being Abandoned by Fashionables in Eastern Cities.

Not a few society women of New York and other eastern centers of population have revolted against the practice of kissing each other when they meet. Kissing began to go out of fashion when physical culture came in. It was the athletic girls who helped to bring about the change in salutation, says the New York World. Dr. Savage, Dr. Savage and other eminent but less prominent professors of physical development have unconsciously done more to solve the woman question than any other profession. Kissing, not being wholesome, is not good form, and that is why the fashionables have determined not to kiss. The last important case of kissing that society can remember occurred at the Marlborough-Hamersley wedding. It was a civil service for obvious reasons. Mayor Hewitt officiated. He was a personal friend of the late duke and an ardent admirer and intimate friend of the beautiful Mrs. Hamersley. It was the bridegroom's intention to present him with a purse for the purchase of a souvenir, but his honor wouldn't have it. His fee was a kiss from the bride, and she said it. In describing it afterward she offered her cheek, but he chose her lips; and everybody accused his honor of having taken a mean advantage of his position.

The decline of the society kiss began some time ago. It dates from the rise of the college women's gymnasium. Trainers from Yale and Harvard were invited to lecture courses; Smith, Vassar, Wellesley, Farmington and Ogunquit girls went to hear them, and out of these athletic matrons grew the physical culture fad which has eliminated kissing, headaches, nerves, fainting spells and hand shaking to a degree. The society girl is eminent for her respect. She has powder on her face—lots of it—to keep her cool, and even if she did not consider kissing bad form it would annoy her to have her complexion mottled.

Interesting Experiment.

A resident of Mason Valley, Nev., has raised toward promising calves three kittens obtained from the nest of a wild cat. They are good ratters.

There is only a few more chances on that bottle of corn, and those who have not noticed their noses had better do so soon. Everything on the horse furnishing line at way down prices. T. S. Coffey.

The new schedule on the C. and E. road went into effect Monday, and the train from Albany now reaches Munkers at 3:19, in the afternoon, and from Detroit it reaches Munkers at ten o'clock in the morning.

My little son had an attack of whooping cough and was threatened with pneumonia, but for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy we would have had a serious time of it. It also saved him from several severe attacks of croup.—H. J. Strickland, editor World-Herald, Fair Haven, Wash. For sale by Peery & Peery, druggists.

George and John Griffin finished shearing T. J. Munkers' sheep this week. They used one of the new sheep shearing machines, and are highly pleased with it. The wool is taken from the sheep in better shape and much more than with the old shears, and the loss is not near as great as where they are sheared with shears.

Work was commenced this week on Dr. A. G. Prill's new residence in the north part of town. The new building will be about the nearest dwelling in Seio, when completed. The work will be done under the supervision of Kasper Kropp, of Albany, a mechanic of much ability and experience, which is a guarantee that the workmanship will be first-class.

We are in receipt of a very interesting temperance meeting which was held at Seio last week, but owing to its length and the fact that we are crowded with advertising matter at this time we are unable to print the report. We will publish the receipt of the report, and trust that much good in the temperance line was accomplished at the meeting, which we are informed was a very interesting one.

School closed last Friday, and Prof. Geddes left the first of the week for his farm near Mill City, where he will spend his vacation. He was accompanied by Henry Myer's "bull terrier" dog, which he had come in possession of through the generosity of Mr. Myer, and we may not be surprised to find the dog of "Fritz" having a combat with the whole dog fraternity up in that neck of the woods.

Prof. Nelson, of Lonsonting, Md., suffered terribly from neuralgia of the stomach and indigestion for thirteen years and after the doctors failed to cure him they fed him on morphine. A friend advised the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, and after taking a few bottles of it he says, "It has cured me entirely. I can't say too much for Kodol Dyspepsia Cure." It digests what you eat. Peery & Peery druggists Seio, Ore.

John Brock met with quite a serious accident Tuesday, which may lay him up for some time. He was driving a team across a bridge and was seated on a load of boards, when one of the horses kicked him in the face, knocking out several of his teeth and cutting his under lip pretty badly. He was brought to town in the evening and Dr. Prill dressed his injuries, and he is not resting as easy as could be expected.

Five generations represented in one photograph is not often seen, but such a picture was taken not long ago at the home of J. W. Compton, in this city, by Dr. A. G. Prill. It shows Grandpa Sumpter, his daughter, Mrs. Compton, and her husband, their son John Compton, his daughter and her little child. Mr. Sumpter is quite an old man, but is by means helpless, and makes his home with his daughter, Mrs. J. W. Compton in this city.

While in an inventive mood not long since Jno. T. Brock figured out a new car coupler which is unlike anything we have ever looked at before. The model which he has completed was exhibited by him one day last week, and will be placed before some railroad man of experience and an opinion solicited. The coupler uses a link, but no pin and is supplied with a dog instead of a pin, which makes it a self coupler, and does away with the danger of getting between the cars to make a coupling.

The new C. & E. train schedule has thrown the mail that formerly arrived at Munkers in the morning on the S. P. train which arrives at West Seio most any old time in the forenoon, and this fact is causing a good bit of kicking hereabouts. It is hoped that the S. P. company will give us a better train service before long, as there is a good deal of important mail to come over this route and if the train is delayed a short time it does not enable our people to answer mail on the date of arrival.

One of the most remarkable but least-noticed facts in connection with the war in the Transvaal is the extreme youth of a large part of General De Wet's forces. When hostilities broke out almost every grown man enlisted, even the feeblest, but the pace has been too rapid for the venerable burghers. As they were killed or incapacitated their places have gradually been taken by more school-children, many only thirteen or fourteen years of age. Under the title of "The Youngest Soldiers in the World," in the June Cosmopolitan Allen Sangree throws more light on the make-up and life of General De Wet's commandoes than anything hitherto published. The naive, simple letter from fourteen-year-old General De Wet to his father, the Secretary of state of the Transvaal Republic, has seldom been equaled for vital interest by any carefully written article on the war.
