Something New Under the Sun.

All Doctors have tried to cure CATARRH by the use of powders, acid gases, inhalers and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucuous membranes causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the inhalers have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure, while pastes and ointments cannot reach the disease. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and specialty of the treatment of CATARRH, has at last perfected a Treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures CATARRH, by removing the cause, stopping the discharges, and curing all inflammation. It is the only remedy known to science that actually reaches the afflicted parts. This wonderful remedy is known as "SNUFFLES the GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE" and is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, each package, containing internal and external medicine sufficient for a full month's treatment and everything necessary to its perfect use.

"SNUFFLES" is the only perfect CATARRH CURE ever made and is now recognized as the only safe and positive cure for that annoying disease. It cures all inflamation quickly and permanently, and is also wonderfully quick to relieve HAY FEVER or COLD in the HEAD.

CATARRH when neglected often leads to CONSUMPTION—"SNUFFLES" will save you if you use it at once. It is no ordinary remedy, but a complete treatment which is positively guaranteed to cure CATARRH in any form or stage if used according to the directions which accompany each package. Don't delay but send for it at once, and write full particulars as to your condition, and you will receive special advice from the discoverer of this wonderful remedy regarding your case without cost to you beyond the regular price of "SNUFFLES" the "GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE."

Sent prepaid to any address in the United States or Canada on receipt of One Dollar. Address Dept E 625 EDWIN R. GILES & COMPANY, 2330 and 2332 Market Street, Philadelphia.

It is probably true that every man has in him certain qualities which would draw some woman to him, but it is difficult to frame a statement in general terms of "What Women Like in Men." This is the task which a very well-known author, under the nom de plume of Rufford Pyke, has undertaken in the Cosmopolitan for July in a clever essay, which proves him to have made woman the subject of thorough observation and comprehensive study. "The foreign girl," says the author, "marries the man with whom she will be happy, the American marries the man without whom she will be unhappy."

Summer complaint is unusually prevalent among children this season. A well developed case in the writer's family was cured last week by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy—one of the best patent medicines manufactured and which is always kept on hand at the home of ye scribe. This is not intended as a free puff for the company, who do not advertise with us, but to benefit little sufferers who may not be in easy access of a physician. No family should be without a bottle of this medicine in the house, especially in summer time.—Lansing, Iowa, Journal. For sale by Peery & Peery, druggists.

ACCIDENT NEAR JORDAN.

Albert Neal Seriously Injured While Felling a Tree.

Wednesday morning about eight o'clock Albert L. Neal met with a severe accident while working with Chris Silvernail, in the Bilyeu Den, a few miles from Jordan. They had sawed down a large tree, which lodged, and as they were watching it the top broke off and fell to the ground, hitting Neal on the head, and rendering him unconscious. They were both standing near the stump and about six feet apart, and neither saw the falling top until it was nearly to the ground. Neal threw up his right arm to ward off the falling timber, and this act resulted in the arm being broken in three places between the hand and elbow. The top of the tree then struck him on the forehead, crushing the skull and mashing the nose flat. He fell to the ground unconscious, in which condition he remained. He was taken to the home of his father, Daniel Neal, about three miles from the place where the accident occurred, and medical aid was summoned from this city and Albany, Dr. Frill going from here, and Dr. Hill, of Albany, arriving at the Neal home in the evening. Everything possible was done for the young man, but there is little hope of his recovery. He is the eldest son of Daniel Neal, being 27 years of age, unmarried, and well spoken of by those who know him.

The accident is one greatly to be regretted, and the kindest sympathy of all is being extended to the young man and his family.

Stops the Cough and Works Off the Cold.

Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets cure a cold in one day. No Cure, no Pay. Price 25 cents.

Frank DeVaney met with an accident as he was starting from his home to the creamery yesterday morning, which may lay him up for some time. He was driving a spirited horse, and when descending a small hill the line broke and the team ran away, throwing him out of the wagon and landing him across a barb wire fence with sufficient force to break the wire. Besides being severely shaken up he received a pretty bad cut on the head. He has had all kinds of bad luck during the past two years, and is now compelled to travel on crutches.

DYTPEPSIA CAN BE CURED.

By using Acker's Dyspepsia Tablets. One little Tablet will give immediate relief or money refunded. Sold in handsome tin boxes at 25 cts. Peery & Peery, druggist.

An exchange says when a pretty girl pins a flower on a young man's coat, she always tilts her chin and takes a look at it sideways, and the fellow who doesn't tumble then had best stay in doors when a funeral is passing for fear of being run over by the hearse.

MEN'S CLOTHING!!

LOCAL GENERAL

A. G. Prill, Physician and Surgeon Scio Or.

Don't forget the picnic at this city July 15.

Buy Singer Sewing Machines at cut prices of P. M. French, Albany.

Scio was well represented at the campmeeting at Turner Sunday last.

Almost all of Scio went to Albany yesterday to celebrate the nation's birthday.

Mrs. Susie Bilyeu has commenced an action at Albany for a divorce from her husband, Chris C. Bilyeu.

The many friends of Mrs. D. H. Johnston will be pleased to learn that her health is gradually improving.

The celebration at Crabtree was declared off on account of not being able to get a speaker for the occasion.

We refund the money for any Royal Worcester Corset that does not give satisfaction. W. B. Stevens & Co.

Reading of the deaths from hot weather in the east makes a man feel pretty well satisfied with this cool Oregon weather.

The stone foundation for the flax mill is completed, and the frame of the building will be raised today—provided nothing goes wrong.

Mr. and Mrs Greene Coffey, formerly of Scio, but now of Kalama, Wash., are the proud possessors of a new boy which arrived June 22rd.

J. W. Gaines purchased the large farm belonging to the Shelton estate, which was sold at public administrator's sale in Albany last Saturday.

Clarence Rex has moved into town, and occupies the Frank Morris residence. He has accepted a position as cook at the Commercial hotel.

The work of putting gravel on the streets will soon be completed, and when it is done the public thoroughfares will be in much better shape for future travel.

New potatoes have made their appearance in the markets, and they are welcome guests, too. Ross E. Hibler shipped a lot up the Santiam to the hungry loggers last week.

We see by the Grass Valley Journal that T. J. Claxton has taken the contract to build a fine residence in that city, and we suppose that he will remain there during the summer.

There is only a few more chances on that bottle of corn, and those who have not reistered their guesses had better do so soon. Everything on the horse furnishing line at way down prices. T. S. Coffey.

The Fourth of July passed off quietly in this city, the greater portion of our people going to Albany and Stayton to celebrate, while those left at home enjoyed themselves as best they could.

Miss Alice Cary, who was employed in the schools in this city last year, has been elected to a chair in the Baptist college at Colfax, Washington, and just now the congratulations of her many friends hereabouts are being extended numerously.

Pete McDonald lost his bike one night last week, just how we are not saying a word about, but he was mighty glad to see the old critter a few hours later, when he came to work and found it in its accustomed place in the shop. Pete's pretty swift on foot, sometimes.

Wednesday Mrs. W. W. Richardson received a telegram from Wenachee, Wash., announcing the serious illness of her father, and requesting her to come at once, but owing to the serious condition of her husband it was impossible for her to obey the summons.

V. B. Goin has purchased twenty acres of land adjoining the city limits, from G. L. Sutherland, and will do the farm act on a small scale. He cut a lot of hay the first of the week, and got it rained on, and now he says he knows that he has to consult the weather clerk about farm work.

Notices, neatly painted, by Artist Summer—to pay his road tax—have been placed on each end of the bridge which spans the river Thomas, setting forth the fact there is a $10 fine liable to be imposed on each and every person who drives or rides across the bridge faster than a walk. It has become quite a custom here lately for numerous persons to hike their horses aver this bridge at full speed, hence the new notices.

Wm. Brenner is building a new barn, and one that will be a barn, sure enough. He has had the old one torn down, and the one to take its place will be much larger, and built on more modern lines, so that there will be lots of room for stock and feed to keep them on. Bill never does anything on the half-way order, especially since he pulled up that dead tree in his orchard, and therefore the new barn is going to be a good one.

There will be a picnic in Scio on Saturday, July 13, and a good time is promised to all who attend. The Fireman's band, of Lebanon, has been secured to furnish music for the occasion, and a good program of sports has been arranged for the afternoon. The forenoon program is not yet complete, but will consist of literary and musical numbers, and a general good time for all. Everybody come, and bring along your dinner basket and enjoy the day with us.

W. W. Richardson, who has been ill for the past two weeks, is slightly improved, a fact that we are pleased to note. He was taken with a severe attack of erysipelas which settled in his left eye, and caused it to swell and burst, the entire eye having to be removed. The disease is now thought to be under control, and in a short time the eye will be taken out and it is hoped that he will then recover. He has been very low, and at times his chances for recovery were thought to be very doubtful.

PRISONERS OF WAR.

Treatment of Captives Under Martial Law.

Civilized Nations Have Respected the Rights of Enemies Taken in Battle — Some Legal Phases.

One of the least pleasant incidents for the individual during war with Spain would be to be taken prisoner. Still, as Spain makes claim to civilization, it would not be so bad as though she were an absolutely savage or even a barbarous country. The usages of civilized nations regarding captives conform in a general way to these principles and rules.

All members of an enemy nation are enemies, though all are not treated alike. The general rule obtains that "no use of force against an enemy is lawful unless it is necessary to accomplish the purposes of war," and the practical application of it, refined through centuries, has led to exempting many classes from capture.

According to Wheaton, the custom of nations exempts from capture the persons of the sovereign and his family, officers of the civil government, women and children, farmers, mechanics, artisans, laborers, men of science and letters, and, generally all those engaged in ordinary civil pursuits, unless actually taken in arms.

Count Hamarck even maintained in 1870 that the crews of merchant vessels could not be made prisoners. As early as 1806 Mr. Madison contended that a French decree that "every foreigner found on board the vessels of war or commerce of the enemy is to be treated as a prisoner of war" was in contravention of the law of nations.

The Geneva or Red Cross convention, to which the United States acceded, but to which Spain has not, we believe, given her assent, exempted hospital and ambulance attendants and chaplains attached to hospitals and ambulances from capture as prisoners.

By early custom, soldiers, when taken in war, were killed. They may be killed to-day in case of absolute necessity; for example, if prisoners impede the movements of an army necessary to its preservation. Later, captives were made slaves. After that the custom of holding them for ransom came into vogue. During the seventeenth century exchanges of prisoners became frequent, but exchanging prisoners is not obligatory if the captors prefer to hold for ransom or to leave their own comrades in the enemy's hands.

Prisoners are frequently allowed to return to their own country on promise not to engage again in hostilities against the captors.

Perhaps the world will some day acknowledge the nobility of the spy, but it is doubtful if contending forces will ever cease to hang or shoot him when he is taken and convicted. Spying lacks the moral element of crime, but it is just as sternly necessary that people be deterred by the great risk of death from engaging in it. During the Franco-Prussian war it was contended that persons who went up in balloons to reconnoiter the enemy's position and forces were so dangerous to him that they ought to be treated as spies. The point seems to be unsettled.

Other classes of captives not entitled to the rights of prisoners of war are guerrilla bands unattached, and deserters taken among the enemy's troops.—Chicago Journal.

—Viper's blood it is that contains the poisonous substance which makes the animal's bite fatal, according to the researches of MM. Bertrand and Phisalix. It contains also an anti-toxic element that stands heat longer than the venom, so that blood heated to 58 degrees centigrade proved not only innocuous when injected into guinea pigs, but rendered immune against injections of blood that had not been heated.

—In Germany 6,626 cases of diphtheria have been treated by serum inoculation, 2,460 of them in hospitals, according to a report of the government's medical department. Of these 86.5 per cent. recovered, 12.9 per cent. died, and the rest were still under treatment. In the hospitals alone the cures were 80.5 and the deaths 19.5 per cent. The remarks attached to the reports of the cases were highly favorable to the treatment in 4,871 and unfavorable in 60.
