May not be all that is meant by dyspepsia now, but it will be if neglected.

The uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, sourness of the stomach, and disagreeable belching may not be very bad now, but they will be if the stomach is suffered to grow weaker.

Dyspepsia is such a miserable disease that the tendency to it should be given early attention. This is completely overcome by

The Skin AN INDEX TO THE BLOOD

Millions of little glands or tubes connect the blood with the skin, and through these small drain pipes perspiration passes out, carrying with it the impurities that are thrown off by the blood. Should the pores of the skin be entirely closed for even a brief space of time, and the poisonous matter forced back into the circulation, instant death would result. In addition to the sweat glands, the skin is provided with certain others which pour out upon it an oily substance, keeping the skin pliable and soft and protecting it from heat and cold. The blood and skin are so closely related that whatever affects one seriously interferes with the functions of the other. Not only health, but life itself, depends upon perfect harmony between the blood and skin. When, therefore, the blood becomes poisoned from any cause, it quickly manifests itself upon the skin in the form of sores and ulcers, pimples and various eruptive diseases. By the character of the sore we are enabled to determine the nature of the poison or humor in the blood, as every disease originating in the blood has its own peculiar sore or pimple. The skin is not only affected by the poisons generated in the system, but poisons from without enter through the open glands or pores and quickly infect the blood. Mercury rubbed upon the skin will produce rheumatism, and Poison Oak and Ivy and other wild plants gain easy access to the blood through the skin. As so-called skin diseases originate in the blood, the application of powders, soaps and washes can do no permanent good, but often do immense damage by closing up the outlet to these little tubes and interfering with the natural action of the skin. The treatment must begin with the blood, and the acid or other poisons antiodated or neutralized. S. S. S. does this and purifies the circulation, builds up the blood and flushes the little glands or pores with pure, new blood, and restores healthy action to the skin. The use of cosmetics never yet brought health and beauty to a rough, red, pimply skin, or a sallow complexion. What is needed is rich, pure blood, such as S. S. S. makes. It not only relieves you of all disgusting blackheads, blotches and irritating, itching eruptions, but improves your general health. S. S. S. contains no mercury, potash, arsenic or other mineral, but is a purely vegetable remedy and the safest and best in all blood and skin troubles. Write our physicians for advice or information; they have made a study of blood and skin diseases, and you can have the best medical advice without cost. Book of Blood and Skin Diseases free.

To Mothers of Large Families

In this workaday world few women are placed that physical exertion is not constantly demanded of them in their daily life.

We make a special appeal to mothers of large families whose work is never done, and many of whom suffer, and suffer for lack of intelligent aid.

To women, young or old, rich or poor, we extend an invitation to accept free advice. Oh, women! do not let your lives be sacrificed when a word of advice at the first approach of weakness may fill your future years with healthy joy. Address a letter to Mrs. Pinkham's Laboratory, Lynn, Mass., and you will not be disappointed.

When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was not able to do my household work. I suffered terribly at time of menstruation. Several doctors told me they could do nothing for me. Thanks to the Pinkham advice and medicine I am now well, and can do the work for eight in the family.

I would recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all mothers with large families.—Mrs. CAROL BELLEVILLE, Ludington, Mich.

ONE EXPERIENCE ENOUGH.

Farmer Tells How He Tried to Conquer Corn and Failed.

"Durandest experience I ever had," said the old farmer who was cautioning his son against speculation, according to the Detroit Free Press. "Come mightily sigh ruin! You follow here in Detroit don't know nothin' 'bout it. You kin squint an' wriggle an' get on yer feet some ways, but there me an' Jim was out there in the law' row o' townships with no bank fur to draw on an' both our farms mortgaged up to the hilt."

"How did it happen, dad?" inquired the son, who has been on the right side of the market often enough to make himself comfortable.

"Me an' Jim started in fur to corner corn. I see a piece in the country paper tellin' how the thing was done, an' I read it to Jim. Jim was all-dreaded excited man you ever see and calculated that there wasn't nothin' anybody else could do that me an' him couldn't do. So we slips round an' bought in all the corn in the country, paying a average of 35 cents a bushel. We only give out cash where we had to and the rest got our fut notes. It jest 'bout filled up Jim's double-decker barn, and when the stuff was all cornered there we sat back and counted up what we was a'goin' to make."

"The Simmons kin' round and wanted ter let ten bushels ter keep fur seedin', I asked him a plum dollar a bushel and he wouldn't budge. I said 'less he liked. We argued and then we clinched and he was wrapping me 'round an apple tree when yer new interloper, Me an' Jim had four or five pitched battles like that and was squirin' on gittin' shot guns at wholesale by takin' two when we found out that all the farmers up there was buyin' corn from the country's jinja. They were so dinged mad they wouldn't give us nothin' for our own we had to haul it sixteen miles and sell it to a banker with an elevator for 20 cents a bushel. Took me ten years' hard labor ter git even, and I never had no use fur corners or speculators or bankers since. Keep outen it, me boy."
