A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED.

At Panama, Colombia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Chas. H. Uter, a prominent physician, of Panama, Colombia, in a recent letter states: "Last March I had as a patient a young lady 10 years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentery. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not get over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result was effected. Within eight hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well." For sale by Peery & Peery, druggists.

The other day when the Pomona was coming up stream the other side of Salem, Capt. Sping saw a cow stuck in the mud. He stopped the boat and with his crew got the bovine out of the mud to a safe place. Like a sponge full of water Capt. Sping's heart is full of kindness for all beings, and the man who treats a dumb animal well may be depended upon in the every day avenues of life.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has a world wide reputation for its cures. It never fails and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Peery & Peery, druggists.

"Why not spend the vacation at Yaquina Bay, where can be had excellent fare, good fishing, good bathing, safe bathing, alluring rides and rambles. The courses and exercises at the Summer School, of 1901, at Newport, will afford great variety of instruction, diversion and entertainment. No other resort offers equal attractions and advantages."

The dispute about the wedding of King Edward's estate of accession continues, though his Majesty himself doesn't seem to worry about it. He is probably willing to compromise on swearing to hang on to his job.

Knock-Out Drops

"I am a saloon-keeper, and used to think that rock and rye, or whiskey and quinine were proper remedies for coughs and colds. Most of my acquaintances were of the same opinion. Now I know something about a thousand times better. It is Aker's English Remedy for Coughs and Colds. One bottle did the business for me—knocked that cough out completely—and it has never come back again. There is never a day passes that I don't say a good word about this wonderful medicine. I almost forgot to say that I am stronger and fresher now, since taking the remedy, than I was before the cough began. I write this letter voluntarily and cheerfully and am glad to do it." (Signed) Chas. H. Uter, Saloon-keeper, Pocatello, Idaho.

Sold at 25c. 50c. and $1 a bottle, throughout the United States and Canada; and in England, at 1s. 2d., 2s. 3d., 4s. 6d. If you are not satisfied after buying, return the bottle to your druggist, and get your money back.

We authorize the above purchase.

EDITORIAL WASH

A man with a mission has reached this country from far-away Australia. And what do you suppose that mission is? Something that the Australian missionary seems to think dead easy, but which he will think differently about before long. One thing can be placed to his credit. He is paying his own expenses. His name is G. T. Wyleigh, but he will be called Dennis or Mud by most Americans. His mission is to educate Americans into the belief that this country has outgrown the garb of a republic and that it should adopt King Edward, of Great Britain, as its royal ruler and become a part of the British Empire. Whether Mr. Wyleigh is a harmless lunatic at large or is trying to get notoriety as a freak that can be turned into money on the lecture platform is not yet fully determined, but there seems little doubt of his being one or the other.

A too common error among readers of newspapers is to assume that what ever is printed by way of clippings is an endorsement by the newspaper reprinting them. It is the mission of the well regulated newspaper to not only have and express views of its own, but to set out the views of other newspapers and other people, that the public may be enabled to judge for itself. The paper that confines itself to clippings that only accord with its own notions will not only fail in its own mission as a newspaper, but will be forced in time to the conclusion that the public has no particular regard for the opinions of the paper that does it. Most papers of good standing find it easy to express their judgment at the proper time and in the proper place; and they find it an equally easy matter to give other people the same latitude which they claim for themselves.—Ex.

E. C. Smith, of Eugene, who is visiting in Hawaii, writes the Register that his annexation ideas have undergone a renovation more especially on account of the labor exclusion act. He says one sugar plantation he visited employs 2,500 but 2,000 more were needed. If the demand for labor has been brought by annexation to the United States, Mr. Smith's views are certainly not tenable. Further on he says a sugar plant capitalized for $5,000,000 pays an annual dividend of 60 per cent. It seems to us that the industries of our new possessions have not been very seriously damaged by annexation. Besides this Mr. Smith must take into consideration that Hawaii knocked at our doors and asked to be admitted.

In many of the fraternal orders the active, effectual work of securing new members stops during mid-summer and early fall, but death does not stop during that period. It keeps right on making its expected and unexpected calls at the homes of our brethren, thus entailing financial obligations which the Order must pay and reminding us anew of the necessity for vigilance and industry. Time and death take no vacations and there is no good reason why fraternal orders should be allowed to drop into a retrograde motion at any time. The motto should be to keep moving ahead all the time.—Reporter.

Oregon has a beautiful and well equipped state fair ground, located in easy distance of Salem, the state capital; a good street car service to and from the grounds where visitors can take the car for a ride to the capital building, asylum or penitentiary. A beautiful grove adjoins the ground which is used for camping, here the farmer can pitch his tent for a week's outing and enjoy the state fair which will be a school of instruction as well as a great out-door entertainment.

The drought in the Middle West states is sure to make living high in the large cities there. Not only the corn crop has been materially affected, but garden and fruit truck that enters into the household of every family is scarce and will be high. Meats of all kind, including poultry, are getting out of reach of the poorer classes and wages will have to be kept to a high pitch if the laboring man makes both ends meet this winter.

ACKER'S ENGLISH REMEDY
Will stop a cough at any time, and will cure the worst cold in twelve hours, or money refunded. 25 cents and 50 cents. Peery & Peery, druggists.

A newspaper is primarily a business enterprise. Its function is to gather and print news and sell it to whomever will buy, say an exchange. Yet a newspaper is universally regarded as having a responsibility in the community that belongs to no other business. When other men are noncommittal on a public question for fear it will hurt their business to take sides, the newspaper whose business is more responsible to the fluctuation of popularity than any other enterprise, must nevertheless take the first and largest responsibility of utterance upon itself.—Ex.

"The Old Man"

The following from the pen of a correspondent in the Stanton Mail is so full of good, sober thought, that it gives us pleasure to reprint it. The advice given in it should reach the heart of every young person in the land who has formed the habit of speaking of their father as "the old man."

How often we hear that name from the lips of young boys, some quite old boys, too, when speaking of their father. I never hear it that I do not think that there is something lacking in the individual's make-up. I think it denotes a lack of respect. Boys, do reverence to the old man. Once like you, the vicissitudes of life have silvered the hair and changed the round, merry face to the worn visage before you. Once that heart beat with aspirations equal to any that you have felt, aspirations craved with disappointment, as yours are perhaps destined to be. Once that form stalked through fields of pleasure, the beau ideal of grace; now the hand of time that withered the flowers of yesterday has wrapt that figure and destroyed the noble carriage. Once at your age he possessed the thousand thoughts that pass through your brain, now wishing to accomplish deeds equal to those of his youth; imagining life a dream that the sooner he awoke from the better. But he has lived the dream very near through. The time to awaken is at hand; get his eyes kindled at the old deeds of daring and the hand takes a firmer grasp of the staff. The old man is but a child of an older growth. There is beauty in old age as well as in youth. It shines in the silver hair, in the eyes which reflect charity and love of all mankind. An honorable old age is the perfect consummation of that which is best in life, and it is no more to be feared than the gray hairs of a child of nature which fulfill in lustuous and well rounded fruit, the pledge of the tender and fragrant blossom.

A Cure For Cholera Infantum.

"Last May," says Mrs. Curtis Baker, of Book-walter, Ohio, "an infant child of our neighbor was suffering from cholera infantum. The doctor had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house, telling them I felt sure it would do good if used according to directions. In two days the child had fully recovered, and is now (nearly a year since) a vigorous healthy girl. I have recommended this Remedy frequently and have never known it to fail in any single instance." For sale by Peery & Peery, druggists.

The Daily American of El Reno, Oklahoma, of July 28, under the head of "Oregon Organization" contains the following:

Oregon members met at the office of The El Reno American and elected Jefferson Myers, of Salem, Oregon, chairman of organization to attend to all matters for the Oregonians in connection with the drawing of land in the new country. Oregon men call on chairman, room 17, Kerfoot Hotel.

Resolved—That the Oregon delegates assembled by the courtesy of the El Reno American at their office do hereby extend their sincere thanks to their very kind consideration of our long distance from home, among strangers, and we hereby pledge to Editor of the El Reno American staff on the El Reno American whenever they visit Oregon, the Royal Chinook salmon of the Columbia, the fruit, flowers and fowls of the Willamette and the beautiful girls of the west.

There Is Out.

Ali Sedeville, Ky., was curious to learn the cause of the vast improvement in the health of Mrs. S. P. Whitaker, who had for a long time, endured untold suffering from a chronic bronchial trouble. "It's all due to Dr. King's New Discovery," writes her husband. "It completely cured her and also cured our little grand-daughter of a severe attack of Whooping Cough." It positively cures Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Bronchitis, all Throat and Lung troubles. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Peery & Peery's drug store.

First Arrest.

The first arrest for the violation of the game law this year was made Saturday morning by a local deputy game warden, who captured John M. Needham, near this city, while shooting a Chinese pheasant. He promptly arrested him, took him before Justice Swan, who was fined $15 and costs. Violators of the law had better look out. They are being watched.—Albany Democrat.

An exchange prints the following marriage ceremony, which was said by a Tennesseean, a short time ago: "With thee take her for thy wife; for better or worse; to have, to hold, to fondly guard till hauled off in a hoarse? Will thou let her have her way? Willst thou her many wishes, make the fire every day and help her wash her dishes? Will thou support and comfort her father, mother, Aunt Jimima, Uncle John and three sisters and a brother?" His face grew pale as black; it was late to J.H., as through the floor he sank, he meekly said, "I will!"

It can't help but do you good

A Matrimonial Scheme.

An exchange publishes an item of the livery craze that overshadows the prize ticket schemes yet invented. A young man is offering 3000 tickets on himself as husband, which he is selling at $5 each, and it is said they are going like hotcakes. This is an explanation of his scheme. By selling 3000 chances for $5 each, it will bring to me $15,000, which is a sufficient sum of money to attract any young woman desirous of marrying. I may not get the wealthiest girl in the country, but I will get one. I am sure, who is anxious to marry me. I sell numbers for $5 and agree when paid for the number to marry the holder of said number provided she draws the lucky number at the raffle. I will have the raffle conducted on fair and square means, by parties entirely disinterested in it. Numbers from 1 to 3000 will be placed in a box and a blindfolded party will draw out one number. The girl holding the similar number shall become my wife. I will marry her as soon as she is ready. The money paid to the girl will be to support her handsomely. I shall take the bride on an extended wedding trip."

THE HOME BOLD CURE.

An ingenious treatment by which Drunkards are Being Cured Daily in Spite of Themselves.

No Noxious Drugs. No Weakening of the Nerves. A Pleasant and Positive Cure for the Liquor Habit.

It is now generally known and understood that Drunkenness is a disease and not a weakness. A body filled with poison, and nerves completely shattered by periodical or constant use of intoxicating liquors, requires an antidote capable of neutralizing and eradicating this poison, and destroying the craving for intoxicants. Sufferers may now cure themselves at home without publicity or loss of time from business by this wonderful "non-toxic cure" which has been perfected after many years of close study and treatment of inebriates. The faithful use according to directions of this wonderful discovery is positively guaranteed to cure the most obstinate case, no matter how hard a drinker. Our records show the marvelous transformation of thousands of Drunkards into sober, industrious and upright men. Write us your name and address. We will send you our "non-toxic cure" for free. This remedy is in no sense a nostrum but is a specific for this disease only, and is so skillfully devised and prepared that it is thoroughly soluble and pleasant to the taste, so that it can be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the person taking it. Thousands of Drunkards have cured themselves with this priceless remedy, and as many more have been cured and made temperate men having the "non-toxic cure" administered by loving friends and relatives without their knowledge in coffee or tea, and believe today that they discontinued drinking of their own free will, but not without being deluded by apparent and misleading "improvement." Drive out the disease at once and for all time. The "non-toxic cure" is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, thus placing within the reach of everybody a treatment more effective than others costing $25 to $50. Full directions accompany each package. Special advice by skilled physicians when requested without extra charge. Sent prepaid to any part of the world on receipt of One Dollar. Address: Peery & Peery, 232 Market Street, Philadelphia.

FROM THE COUNTRY.

An Old Lady's First Visit to a Great City.
The last passenger to leave the 4:30 train on the Michigan Central railroad after it drew to a standstill one afternoon recently was a little old woman in black. A wisp of gray hair straggled from under an old-fashioned poke bonnet, and a pair of kindly blue eyes looked out from behind her steel-rimmed spectacles. In one hand she carried a huge, shiny valise, the key of which was tied to the handle with a strip of calico cloth. When she was part way up the platform she stopped with a troubled look, and watched the baggage men toil by with their loaded trucks. Presently she dropped the valise and opened a big black fan which was fastened to her waist by a velvet ribbon. After she had waited some time, one of the depot ushers came along and asked if he could be of any service to her.

"Why, thank you, I think not," she answered. "I'm waiting for 'Dick' Robinson."

The depot usher hurried on and paid no more attention to the little old woman. When he came back a half-hour later, she was still standing where he had left her, gently fanning herself with the black fan. "Has your friend come yet?" asked the usher.

"No," she answered. "His watch must have been slow."

"Did he expect you by this train?"

"Well, you see, it's this way. Last summer, Dick and I came over to Griggsburg to visit the Cooperes. While they were there they came over often to my place to get a drink of buttermilk. Well, we got friendly and Sarah told me a lot of things about Chicago, and that she couldn't by no manner of means, get buttermilk in the city. Before 'Dick' went back he came around and says, 'Mrs. Hegge, just take a run up to Chicago next summer and visit us. We'll let you know when you're coming, and I'll meet you at the depot.' And so I'm here, and I've got three jars of fresh buttermilk for them in that bag."

"All I know," she explained, "is that he's a genuine friend of mine, and he had got my letter but he'd been here."

The usher made a list of two or three addresses and put the woman in charge of a trusty cabman with instructions to find "Dick." Two hours later the driver came back with the report that his fare was delivering her buttermilk.
