The wood saw was compelled to suspend operation Monday, on account of breaking the saw. No one was hurt by the operation, and a new saw will soon take the place of the old one, and then the wood will fly as before.

J. L. Chapman has sold his farm near Crabtree to Ed Serfling, the consideration being $2400. Mr. Chapman will move to California as soon as he can close up some business matters here, and dispose of his horses and household effects.

There is a gentleman here this week looking for a suitable location for a salmon hatchery, and there is a probability that he may establish it on Crabtree creek. There are quite a number of salmon in this creek during the winter and spring, and it will doubtless be a good place for a hatchery.

Ed Miller and party returned from upper Crabtree Tuesday, and bring the information that the deer are not very plentiful in that section of the country. They got one deer, but the most of them were making their way back to the mountains, and the chances are that there will not be and good hunting up there until about the good storm.

The man that gets a shot at a Chin pheasant in this neck of the woods now days needs a long range gun. They have learned to keep a lookout for a man with a gun, and as soon as a hunter climbs a fence on the opposite side, and if a hunter gets a shot he is in luck—in fact he is in luck if he does not get fired off the ranch before he gets over the fence.

Found Dead in Cabin.

Last Thursday afternoon Geo. Rodgers visited the home of W. E. Powers, who lived alone on his place four miles east of Scio, and was greatly surprised to see the prostrate form of his neighbor lying on the floor of his house. He made a hasty examination, and seeing that there was a quantity of blood on the floor, he closed the door and came to town to notify the proper authorities.

Coroner Norman, Albany, was summoned, and came out the following day and held an inquest.

Dr. Prill was summoned, and with the jury made a thorough examination of the body, and soon traced to the position that the man had come to his death through natural causes. The condition of the body indicated that he had been feeling ill, and had taken a pillow under his head on the floor near the stove, and while lying there had been taken with hemorrhage of the lung, and died in convulsions.

There was a large pool of blood on the floor, and he was lying with his feet to the door and his head to the wall. His teeth were set solid upon his tongue, and his limbs were contracted. Indications were that he had been dead four days. There was no evidence of foul play whatever, and every indication pointed to death from natural causes, and the jury rendered its verdict accordingly with the facts.

Mr. Powers was a man sixty-five years of age, and was a native of Oregon. He had resided here at intervals for the past twenty years, and was quite well known. He owned a homestead of 150 acres where he lived, and was known as a hard worker in this country so far as known, but has a sister in England, but her address is not known to his numerous neighbors.

His personal effects were taken charge of by the coroner, and turned over to Mr. Rodgers pending the appointment of an administrator, and his remains were buried at the Miller cemetery Monday last.

Seven-cent beef on the hoof is a rare sight in any American market at any but the Christmas season.

It was seen in Chicago though last Wednesday, Sept. 11, when S. O. DeWitt, of the DeWitt & Co. Co., presented a high grade Angus steer weighing 1,720 pounds. The purchaser of the seven-cent beef was Silas Palmer who has sent the black steer to the farm of James Merdith in Kane county to finish off for exhibition at the coming International show next December.

HE RIDES IN HIS CARRIAGE.

The Young Man Who Saw a Chance to Get Ahead in the World.

A few years ago circumstances opened up a lucky chance to a young man who was seeking out a poor advertisement existence on a scrubby farm in the Pisacataquis backwoods. Even this poor bit of earth was not all his own, says the Lewiston (Me.) Journal. He was remote from neighbors, and so far from a sawmill that the buildings were put to work for want of lumber to repair them. In this state of things the Canadian Pacific railway was located above the side of the mountain just above his valley, and hundreds of Italians and other laborers were put to work on the commission to build this part of the road, working winters as well as in warm weather. The humble farmer saw his chance. He went to the settlements and secured a supply of clothing and knick-knacks to sell on commission, and soon rose to the dignity of having goods of his own. He does not live in the backwoods any more, for as soon as the road was built and the laborers departed he folded his tent also and went forth, bought one of the best farms in Pisacataquis, paying cash down, and now lives in comfort, rides in his carriage, sends his children to the best schools of all that. His case is one of those which show the advantage of promptly catching hold of Fortune, even if she is found in an unexpected place.

Wm. McKinley's Will.

The will of the late President McKinley has just been made public and is very simple in its form. He was worth at the time of his death about $25,000, including $67,000 life insurance. Everything was willed to his wife during her life, but he made a charge on his property, as is shown in the following clause of the will.

"To pay my mother during her life $1,000 a year, and at her death said sum to be paid to my sister, Helen McKinley. If the income from property be insufficient to keep my wife in great comfort and pay the annuity above provided, then I direct that such of my property be sold so as to make a sum adequate for both purposes. Whatever property remains at the death of my wife I give to my brothers and sisters, share and share alike. My chief concern is that my wife from my estate, shall have all she requires for her comfort and pleasure, and that my mother shall be provided with whatever money she requires to make her old age comfortable and happy."

The will was drawn in Washington, D. C., October 22, 1897.

Jury List.

The following jurors were drawn for the term in circuit court to convene in Albany on October 25: Holly—A. F. Hamilton.

Stops the Cough and Works Off the Cold.

Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets cure cold in one day. No Cures, no Pay. Price 25 cents.

One strong feature of the American cattle market is the high price of beaves in Chicago the exports keep on increasing in the most gratifying manner. In the month of August last exports of cattle footed up 25,430 or about 5,000 head more than in August, 1900, when the value was considerably lower. Up to August, 15, 1901, the receipts of foreign cattle in London, England, had exceeded those for the same period of 1900 by over 10,000 head.

ASTHMA CURE FREE!

Asthmaline Brings Instant Relief and Permanent Cure in All Cases.

Sent Absolutely Free on Receipt of Postal. Write your Name and Address Plainly.

There is nothing like Asthmaline. It brings instant relief, even the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.

The Rev. C. F. WELLS, of Villa Ridge, Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Asthmaline relieved in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was a slave, chained with painful sore throat and Asthma for ten years. I despaired ever being cured. I saw your advertisement; for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, Asthma, and thought you had overspoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment, the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full size bottle."

Rev. Dr. Morris Wechsler, Rabbi of the Cong. Bnai Israel, New York, Jan. 3, 1901
DRS. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO., GENTLEMEN: Your Asthmaline is an excellent remedy for Asthma and Hay Fever, and its composition alleviates all troubles which combine with Asthma. Its success is astonishing and wonderful. After having it carefully analyzed, we can state that Asthmaline contains no opium, morphine, chloroform or ether. Very truly yours,
REV. DR. MORRIS WECHSLER.

AVON SPRINGS, N. Y. Feb. 1, 1901

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO.
Gentlemen: I write this testimonial from a sense of duty, having tested the wonderful effect of your Asthmaline, for the cure of Asthma. My wife has been afflicted with spasmodic asthma for the past 12 years. Having exhausted my own skill as well as many others, I chance to see your sign upon your windows on 130th street, New York, I at once obtained a bottle of Asthmaline. My wife commenced taking it about the first of November. I very soon noticed a radical improvement. After using one bottle her Asthma has disappeared and she is entirely free from all symptoms. I feel that I can confidently recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this distressing disease.
Yours respectfully,
O. D. PHELPS, M. D.
