

Catarrh

The cause exists in the blood, in what causes inflammation of the mucous membrane. It is therefore impossible to cure the disease by local applications. It is positively dangerous to neglect it, because it always affects the stomach and deranges the general health, and is likely to develop into consumption.

Many have been radically and permanently cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It cleanses the blood and has a peculiar alterative and tonic effect. R. Long, California Junction, Iowa, writes: "I had catarrh three years, lost my appetite and could not sleep. My head pained me and I felt bad all over. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and now have a good appetite, sleep well, and have no symptoms of catarrh."

A Formula.

"Aren't you going to buy me one, mamma?" "Buy you another new hat? That would be extravagant."

"Oh, we could tell papa it was such a love of a hat I had to have it."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other sections put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly healing to cure with local treatment, promoted its incurability. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hood's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It cleanses the blood and restores the mucous surfaces of the system. It offers one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists. Hood's Family Pills are the best.

Took the Hint.

"I thought you were going to spend a week with your cousins over in Michigan."

"No, I didn't go. When I wrote to them about it they said for me to come right along and make myself at home—they wouldn't consider me company."—Chicago Tribune.

Lucky Shortage.

"Yes, my wife reads every blessed receipt she finds in the papers."

"Heavens; and does she try them all?" "No, she doesn't. In fact she never tries a solitary one of them."

"How does that happen?" "Why, she's always out of something."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

America Leads.

In consequence of the great demand for cotton goods, the United States consumed more raw cotton than Great Britain, which has always held supremacy in this industry, just as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been the best family medicine, and which has retained its prestige for over 30 years. Today the Bitters is used in almost every home. It cures dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation and biliousness, also purifies the blood, calms the nerves and builds up the entire system.

A PUZZLING CASE

That Has Attracted Wide-Spread Attention in Medical Circles.

From the Evening Post, New York. Thousands of dollars have been spent in doctors' bills by those afflicted with epilepsy and, very frequently, it has been in vain. It so often happens that the doctors do not strike at the root of the trouble. A cure which was easily effected, after physicians had failed to accomplish any permanent results, is that of Miss Annie R. Herbert, of No. 507 West-ern avenue, Lynn, Mass. After years of suffering from this terrible affliction she was made well by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. She makes the following statement:

"I was the victim of epileptic fits and spasms of the nerves from the time I was two years old until I reached the age of seventeen, when Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People cured me. Ten well-known physicians of Lynn treated me at different times but none succeeded in helping my case. I have even been to the Lynn hospital, but the physicians there failed to cure me, so you can see it was a disease that puzzled a good many doctors. "My illness at times caused racking headaches and an awful dizziness made my head swim. I had what the doctors called spasms of the nerves about four times a day. The blood would rush to my head and a feeling come over me so that I wouldn't know what was going on around me. The spasms left me very weak. During one year I had eight epileptic fits. "At last when all the efforts of the doctors had proved in vain I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and hardly three weeks had passed before I found they gave me great relief. I continued using them faithfully and in six months I was entirely cured and have had no return of my illness since." Signed, MISS ANNIE R. HERBERT. Subscribed and sworn to before me this 10th day of April, 1901. THOMAS P. PORTER, Notary Public.

The pills which cured Miss Herbert are a specific for all forms of weakness arising from a watery condition of the blood or shattered nerves. Two fruitful causes of almost every ill to which flesh is heir. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by all dealers or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Semblance of Perpetual Motion. Into a basin of clear water put a few pieces of camphor. They will commence a peculiar motion, traversing every part of the surface of the water, but may instantly be stopped by dropping into the water the minutest quantity of an oily substance.

FIRING THE FIRST SALUTE. How Old Glory Was Honored by the French Frigate.

The little Ranger ran slowly between the frowning French frigates, looking as warlike as they; her men swarmed like bees into the rigging, and her colors ran up to salute the flag of his most Christian majesty of France, and she fired one by one her salutes of thirteen guns, says Sarah Orne Jewett, in the Atlantic.

There was a moment of suspense, the wind was very light now; the powder smoke drifted away and the fapping sails sounded loud overhead. Would the admiral answer back, or would he treat this bold challenge like a handkerchief waved at him from a pleasure boat? Some of the officers on the Ranger looked incredulous, but Paul Jones still held the letter in his hand. There was a puff of white smoke and the great guns of the French flagship began to shake the air—one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, and then were still, save for their echoes from the low hills about Carnac and the great droid Mount St. Michael.

"Henry Gardner, you may tell the men that this was the salute of the King of France to our republic, and the first high honor to our flag," said the captain proudly to his steersman; but they were all huzzing now along the Ranger's decks, that little ship whose name shall never be forgotten while her country lives.

The captain lifted his hat and stood looking at the flag. "We hardly know what this day means, gentlemen," he said soberly to his officers who came about him. "I believe we are at the christening of the greatest nation that was ever born into the world. The day shall come when America, republic though she may be, will salute no foreign flag without receiving gun for gun!"

Output of the British Mint. The recently issued report of the deputy master of England's mint shows that the output of new money was beyond all precedent in 1900. A total of 192 tons of standard gold, 234 tons of standard silver and 391 tons of bronze was coined into 107,080,513 pieces. In addition nearly 30,000,000 pieces were struck in the colonial mints. The output of the English mint amounted in value to about $78,000,000.

CAPE MALEA HERMIT.

PATHEPIC STORY OF AN ENGLISH SEA CAPTAIN.

Stricken While a Young Man by the Drowning of His Bride Luring the Honey-moon, He Lived for Many Years Among Ignorant Greek Goatherds.

About twenty-five years ago there was a young sailor who, by dint of hard work, integrity of character and firmness of will, reached at the age of 26 the summit of his ambition—becoming a master of what then would be called a good-sized steamship, some 900 tons register. Upon this accession to good fortune he married the girl of his choice, who had patiently waited for him since as boy and girl sweethearts they parted on his first going to sea. And with rare complacency his owners gave him the inestimable privilege of carrying his young bride to sea with him.

How happy he was! How deep and all-embracing his pride, as steaming down the grimy Thames he explained to the light of his eyes all the wonders that she was now witnessing for the first time but which he had made familiar to her mind by his oft-repeated sea stories during the few bright days between voyages that it had been able to develop to courtship. The ship was bound to several Mediterranean ports, the time being late autumn, and consequently the most ideal season for a honeymoon that could possibly be imagined. Cadix, Genoa, Naples, Venice, a delightful tour with not one weary moment wherein to wish for something else. Even a spring visit to old Rome from Naples had been possible, for the two officers, rejoicing in their happy young skipper's joy, saw to it that no unnecessary cares should trouble him, and bore willing testimony, in order that he should get as much delight out of those halcyon days as possible, that the entire crew were as docile as could be wished, devoted to their bright commander and his beautiful wife. Then at Venice came orders to proceed to Galata and what for longer. Great was the grief of the girl-wife. She would see Constantinople and the Danube. Life would hardly be long enough to recount all the wonders of this most wonderful of wedding trips. And they sailed, with hearts overflowing with joy as the blue sky above them seemed welling over with sunlight.

Wind and weather favored them, nothing occurred to cast a shadow over their happiness until nearing Cape Malea at that fatal hour of the morning, before the dawn, when more collisions occur than at any other time, they were run into by a blundering Greek steamer coming the other way, and cut down amidships to the water's edge. To their peaceful sleep or quiet appreciation of the night's silver splendors succeeded the overwhelming steam, the suffocating embrace of death, in that brief fight for life the ship perished but one, he so lately the happiest of men, the skipper. Instinctively clinging to a fragment of wreckage, he had been washed ashore under Cape Malea at the ebbing of the scanty tide, and his strong physique reasserting itself enabled him to reach the plateau. Here he was found gazing seaward by some goat-herds, who, in search of their nimble-footed docks, had wandered down the precipitous side of the mountain. They endeavored to persuade him to come with them back to the world, but in vain. He would live, gratefully accepting some of their poor provision, but from that watching place he would not go. And those rude peasants, understanding something of his deep depth of woe, sympathized with him so deeply that without payment or hope of any, they helped him to build his hut, and kept him supplied with such poor morsels of food and drink as sufficed for his stunted needs.

And there, with his gaze fixed during all his waking hours upon that inscrutable depth wherein all his bright hopes had suddenly been quenched, he lived until quite recent years, "the world forgetting by the world forgot," a living monument of constancy and patient, uncomplaining grief. By his humble friends, whose language he never learned, he was regarded as a saint, and when one day they came upon his lifeless body fallen forward upon his knees at the little unglazed window through which he was wont to look out upon the sea, whose his dear one lay, they felt confirmed in their opinion of the sanctity of the hermit of Cape Malea.—London Spectator.

MILLINERY MODES. Showing the new English turban shape, a few plumes and a knot of straw will furnish the trimmings, and a little tilt adds to the stylish effect.

Output of the British Mint. The recently issued report of the deputy master of England's mint shows that the output of new money was beyond all precedent in 1900. A total of 192 tons of standard gold, 234 tons of standard silver and 391 tons of bronze was coined into 107,080,513 pieces. In addition nearly 30,000,000 pieces were struck in the colonial mints. The output of the English mint amounted in value to about $78,000,000.

The Distinction. "Yes, that's a pretty piece of bric-a-brac. Where did you get it?" "In Canada."

"What duty did you have to pay on it?" "None at all."

"Smuggled it through, did you?" "No, I just slipped it through. It isn't smuggling unless you're caught at it."—Chicago Tribune.

A New Species.

"I would like to sell you the entire works of Omar Khayyam," began the book agent glibly; "they are the finest things that ever came from a pen."

"There's a new breed of pigs to be seen," commented Mr. Porkanland, scratching his head doubtfully. Are they anything like Berkshire's.—Ohio State Journal.

He Couldn't.

"Oh, Mr. Spoonleigh, pray rise. It is not right that you should kneel at my feet. Rise, I beg of you!" implored the fair lady.

But he didn't rise. His Irish did, though, and he replied solemnly: "I'm afraid—Miss Grace—I'm afraid I'm kneeling on your—er—that is, you dropped your chewing gum, and, oh, Miss Grace, I'm stuck on you!"—Denver Times.

A Depraved Appetite.

"No, we couldn't have our usual ride on Sunday, and we were so disappointed!"

"What was the trouble?" "Why, our horse got loose in the night and ate up his best bonnet."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Present Paz.

Servant—A publisher at the door to see you, sir. Modern Author—Have him come in and wait; tell him I just began writing a book and won't have it done for 15 minutes.—Ohio State Journal.

Wrenched Foot and Ankle Cured by St. Jacobs Oil. Gentlemen—A short time ago, I severely wrenched my foot and ankle. The injury was very painful, and the consequent inconvenience (being obliged to keep to business) was very trying. A friend recommended St. Jacobs Oil, and I take great pleasure in informing you that one application was sufficient to effect a complete cure. To a busy man so simple and effective a remedy is invaluable, and I shall lose no opportunity of suggesting the use of St. Jacobs Oil. Yours truly, Henry J. Doirs, Manager, The Cycles Co., London, England. St. Jacobs Oil is safe, sure and never failing. Conquers pain.

Aggrieved. "It was an outrage!" exclaimed the excited young man with the very foreign accent. "The father of the young lady offered a marriage settlement of $100,000."

"It isn't much of a dowry," "My dear friend, it is not a dowry at all. It is a tip.—Washington Star.

The Story of a Woman's Suffering.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—When I began the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was suffering terribly. At times the pain was almost more than I could stand. My heart would nearly stop beating and I would get cold and numb."

"My husband thought many times I was dying and did not dare to leave me alone. I also suffered severely at times of menstruation."

"I had tried several doctors and they told me that medicine could do. In the face of all this, and to the astonishment of my family and friends, your remedies cured me. I am now well and do the work for eight in the family. I feel very grateful for my recovered health, and constantly recommend your medicine."—MRS. CARIE BELLVILLE, Ludington, Mich.

The record of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is written in thousands of such letters as Mrs. Bellville's. When during its whole career of thirty years no physician has to our knowledge criticized this medicine adversely, and thousands are daily prescribing it in their practice, should you, who know less about medicine than they, say, "Oh, I do not believe it is any good?"

Mrs. Pinkham advises women free of charge. Her address is Lynn, Mass. No woman knows the truth about women's ills as thoroughly as Mrs. Pinkham, and no medicine in the world has done so much good as
