

Staves Show Which Way the Wind Blows

And the constantly increasing demand for, and steady growth in popularity of, St. Jacobs Oil among all classes of people in every part of the civilized world show conclusively that remedy the people use for their rheumatism and bodily aches and pains. Facts speak louder than words and the fact remains undisputed that the sale of St. Jacobs Oil is greater than all other remedies for outward application combined. It acts like magic, cures where everything else fails, conquers pain.

Their Ways.

Tom—If you don't love him, why don't you let him know it?
Jess—Well, he sends me flowers and takes me to the theatre, you know, and—
Tess—But, gracious, I can't see how you can play with his affections that way.
Jess—Play? I call that "working" them.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and it will take the best of your money to cure it. For a great many years doctors pronounced it incurable. But a certain local remedy, and by constantly using it, you can cure it. It is known as Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials to F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

From Milwaukee.

"Yes," said the haughty young woman who was a Colonel's dame as well as a "Daughter of the Revolution," "my great-great-grandfather fell at Bunker Hill."

"Ice or banana skin?" inquired the polite young man from Milwaukee.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

NO family, shop, ship, camp or person should be without Wizard Oil for every painful accident or emergency.

Helpful.

Boris—Nagrus, I am writing a story I would like a name for. It's somewhat on the plan of "Ship That Pass in the Night, but I want the title to be as different from that as possible.

Nagrus—How would "Elevators That Pass in the Daytime" do?—Chicago Tribune.

Mothers will find Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup the best remedy to use for their children during the teething period.

Which?

"You can depend on that man's keeping his promises," said the close political adviser.

"Yes," answered the practical politician, "but which promises is he going to keep, those he makes to me or those he makes to the voters?"—Washington Star.

FITS—Formerly cured. No fit or convulsion after first dose of Dr. Allen's Great Nerve Remedy. Sold by R. H. Knapp, Ltd., 100 South Philadelphia, Pa.

Preposterous!

"Bill, can you lend me two-pence?" "Why if I had two-pence, wot 'd I be doin' standin' outside a public 'ouse?"—Punch.

Looked Ahead.

He—If you didn't love me why did you marry me?
She—Because you were the only man I cared to be divorced from.—Brooklyn Life.

NICKNAMES IN AUSTRALIA.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

SHEEP MEN GO TO LAW.

Owners of Utah Flocks Bring Damage Suits Against the Idaho Authorities.

Salt Lake, Oct. 28.—Utah sheep men who had so much trouble with the Idaho authorities early in the summer over the question of grazing Utah sheep in Idaho, have begun suits in the Third district court to recover damages. There were nine suits filed in all, eight of them for damages to the flocks and one for malicious prosecution and damage to character. The aggregate amount of damages claimed is $34,47.

With the exception of the complaint of Shafer, the allegations are all similar, and state that on or about July 12, 1901, the defendant unlawfully took possession of flocks of sheep belonging to the plaintiffs and grazing on the public lands of Oneida county, Idaho, and that by reason of the action many of the sheep died, and strayed, many lambs were prematurely born and a large amount of wool was lost.

Congratulations. "Did Polehunter have any success on his Arctic expedition?" "Oh, yes! He succeeded in getting back."—Punch.

WANTED—Every man, woman and child suffering with cold, cough, croup, pneumonia or consumption, to write to American Lung Pain Pad Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Supremely Restful. "I wonder if there's any lazier occupation than fishing." "Well, yes—looking at people fishing."—Brooklyn Life.

NICKNAMES IN AUSTRALIA.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

Queer Appellations Given to People of Its Various Sections. Although the Australian colonies have now been linked together in a commonwealth, it is not probable that the nicknames bestowed by one province on another will be abandoned.

The inhabitants of New South Wales have long been known as "cornstalks," an allusion to the length and slenderness of the average young New South Wales native.

QUAINT SAM HOUSTON.

Amazing Story of the Famous Texan When He Sat in the Senate.

Gen. Sam Houston of Texas was the most picturesque figure in the Senate during his first years of service at the capitol, writes Galusha A. Grow in the Saturday Post. Like Benton, he was very fond of young men, and soon came to count me as "one of the boys." Only those who were youngsters in the '40s can realize the interest people felt in Houston in the days when his part in the struggle for the independence of Texas was still fresh in the public mind. Visitors to the Senate chamber invariably asked to have him pointed out to them, and they were never disappointed in their quest, for he was a large frame, of stately carriage and dignified demeanor and had a Bonike countenance.

No passage in Houston's career was nobler than the heroic stand against disunion which marked his close, while of his kindness of nature and generous helpfulness to those in distress one could recall stories sufficient to fill a volume.

Near Quincy, Ill., there was a stretch of country known as the "Indian tract," to which Houston held title, a fact many of the settlers there, a careless pioneer brood, failed to search out. One of them called upon William A. Richardson, long a member of the House from the Quincy district and subsequently a Senator from his State, confided to him that he had inadvertently settled upon 100 acres of Houston's land and that all he was worth stood in improvements on it. He wanted Richardson to see Houston and make the best terms that he could. Richardson told Houston the story and asked what he would take for a quit claim deed to the 100 acres.

"What sort of a man is this constituent of yours who has blundered upon my land?" asked Houston. "A good, square, honest man," was the reply. "When I turn him off my land I reckon he and his family will be beggars?" Richardson nodded.

"What's his farm worth now?" asked Houston. "Improvements and all, about $6,000," was the response. "What was the bare place worth when you fellows went on it?" queried Houston. "About $5 an acre; $500 in all," answered Richardson.

"Good fellow, this man of yours, Richardson?" This after a moment's thought. "Improvements and all, about $6,000," was the response. "What was the bare place worth when you fellows went on it?" queried Houston. "About $5 an acre; $500 in all," answered Richardson.

"Good fellow, this man of yours, Richardson?" This after a moment's thought. "Improvements and all, about $6,000," was the response. "What was the bare place worth when you fellows went on it?" queried Houston. "About $5 an acre; $500 in all," answered Richardson.

"Good fellow, this man of yours, Richardson?" This after a moment's thought. "Improvements and all, about $6,000," was the response. "What was the bare place worth when you fellows went on it?" queried Houston. "About $5 an acre; $500 in all," answered Richardson.

"Good fellow, this man of yours, Richardson?" This after a moment's thought. "Improvements and all, about $6,000," was the response. "What was the bare place worth when you fellows went on it?" queried Houston. "About $5 an acre; $500 in all," answered Richardson.

"Good fellow, this man of yours, Richardson?" This after a moment's thought. "Improvements and all, about $6,000," was the response. "What was the bare place worth when you fellows went on it?" queried Houston. "About $5 an acre; $500 in all," answered Richardson.

"Good fellow, this man of yours, Richardson?" This after a moment's thought. "Improvements and all, about $6,000," was the response. "What was the bare place worth when you fellows went on it?" queried Houston. "About $5 an acre; $500 in all," answered Richardson.

"Good fellow, this man of yours, Richardson?" This after a moment's thought. "Improvements and all, about $6,000," was the response. "What was the bare place worth when you fellows went on it?" queried Houston. "About $5 an acre; $500 in all," answered Richardson.

"Good fellow, this man of yours, Richardson?" This after a moment's thought. "Improvements and all, about $6,000," was the response. "What was the bare place worth when you fellows went on it?" queried Houston. "About $5 an acre; $500 in all," answered Richardson.

"Good fellow, this man of yours, Richardson?" This after a moment's thought. "Improvements and all, about $6,000," was the response. "What was the bare place worth when you fellows went on it?" queried Houston. "About $5 an acre; $500 in all," answered Richardson.

"Good fellow, this man of yours, Richardson?" This after a moment's thought. "Improvements and all, about $6,000," was the response. "What was the bare place worth when you fellows went on it?" queried Houston. "About $5 an acre; $500 in all," answered Richardson.

FREE FOR TOBACCO TAGS FROM "STAR" "MASTER WORKMAN" "HORSE SHOE" "DRUMMOND" Natural Leaf "SPEAR HEAD" "SICKLE" "NOBBY SPUN ROLL" "PIPER HEIDSIECK" "BOOT JACK" "OLE VARGINY" "OLD PEACH & HONEY" 1902. Includes illustrations of various tools and gifts like a bicycle, sewing machine, and various knives.

THE NEW PRESIDENT.

A Prayer. Not for the silent chief whom Death Gently and solemnly keeps Within a splendid calm; naught mars His well-won laurels where he sleeps.

Rather for him who newly stands Half startled on a slippery height, Like a strong falcon which some hand Unhooded rudely, whom the light Floods unforseen, but who shall prove A wide-winged strength! For him we pray;

Give him such wisdom swift and keen He shall restore us yesterday. —Dillon, Georgia.

A Suggestion. "No, I'm not very well impressed with the house," said the prospective tenant. "The yard is frightfully small; there's hardly room for a single flower bed."

"Think so?" replied the agent; "last-er—mighten't you use folding flower beds?"—Philadelphia Press.

She Knew. Mistress—Did you tell the lady I was out? Servant Girl—Yes, ma'am. Mistress—Did she seem to have any doubt about it? Servant Girl—No, ma'am; she said she knew you wasn't—Glasgow Times.

Brave Mother. Kind Lady—And does your mother let you go out alone at night? Little man—Yes'm; 'naw ain't afeard to stay by herself.

Faith in Him.

Towne—Do I understand you to say that Spender's case was really a faith cure? Brown—Yes. You see the doctor and the druggist both trusted him.—Philadelphia Press.

Evidence. "Does Mr. Blimmins know much about horse races?" "No," answered the man, with a faded and experienced look. "How can you tell?" "By the fact that he's willing to bet on them."—Washington Star.

Pretty, But—Fay—How do you like my new gown? May—It's very pretty. "Do you really think so?" "Yes, indeed; I was just crazy to get one like it when they came into fashion two years ago."

To Fit the Disease. Little 4-year-old Mabel coming into the room one day and finding the baby with one end of a door key in its mouth, exclaimed: "Baby, take that key right out of your mouth, or the first thing you know you will have the lockjaw."—Glasgow Evening Times.

Enough, But Not Sufficient. Mamma—What's the matter Willie? Didn't you have a good time at the party? Willie—"Naw!" "Why? Didn't you get enough to eat?" "Yes; but I didn't get too much."—Philadelphia Record.

Thirteen at Table.

Mrs. R.—Oh, Charles, we can never sit down with 13 at table! Mr. R.—Pshaw! I hope you are not so superstitious as that.

Mrs. B.—No, of course not, but we have only 12 dinner plates.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

Social Importance. "Mamma, how can you ask me to marry him when he has no social position?" "But, my dear, he tells me he has made a million."

"But even with that, it will take him a year to get into society."—Life.

A Quick-Stepper. "He's a nice little fellow (I saw him myself), and the dealer says I may have him for a song. Would you advise me to buy him?" "That depends upon your eye for a horse and his ear for music."—Brooklyn Life.

Worked Both Ways. "It's a poor rule that won't work both ways," said the old gentleman as he stood the boys up back to back, and operated the ruler so that it caught one or the other of them, both going and coming.—Chicago Post.

Hard to Identify. "That is Jimmy's hair," said the football player, laying out his trophies after the game, "and this is Billy's nose, and this is Tom's ear, and this eyebrow belongs to young Husher, but I can't identify this finger to save me."—Baltimore American.

A Report.

He—How is the new cook getting along? His wife—Well, I had to discharge her twice this morning, but since then she's been doing fairly well.

Yes, Darling. Mother (drilling Teddy for his first party)—And now, darling, what is a groovy boy? Teddy—A boy who wants everything I want.—Tit-Bits.

Useful Mr. Green. Young Lady—Oh, Mr. Green, I don't know what to do with Edie! She's so miserable because she hasn't had her donkey ride. Would you mind giving her a pick-a-back?—Punch.

An Extravagant Affair. "Molly, he said, 'if I should die first, I want you to see that I'm cremated.'"

"Mercy on us, John! coal may be $6 a ton then!"—Atlanta Constitution.

A Hero. "Who is the hero of this piece?" asked the man who was coming out of the theatre. And the manager thoughtfully replied: "The man who is putting up the money."—Washington Star.

That Friendly Feeling. Miss Olive of St. Louis—We got absolutely pure milk in St. Louis, that's one advantage of living in a country village. Each family or keep a cow of its own.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION. SOLELY WHEN ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup, Taste Good. Use in Time. Sold by Druggists.

MITCHELL, LEWIS & STAVOR CO., PORTLAND, OREGON. N. P. N. U. No. 44-1901.

WHEN writing to advertisers please mention this paper.