Something New Under the Sun.
All doctors have tried to cure CATARRH by the use of powders, acid gases, inhalers and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucous membrane, causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure, while pastes and ointments cannot reach the disease. An old and experienced physician who has for many years made a close study and specialty of the treatment of CATARRH, has at last perfected a Treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures CATARRH, by removing the cause, stopping the discharge, and curing all inflammation. It is the only remedy known to science that actually reaches the afflicted parts. This wonderful remedy is known as "SHELTON'S GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE" and is sold at the extremely low price of one Dollar, each package containing internal and external medicine sufficient for a full month's treatment and everything necessary to its perfect use. An effort is being made for the operation of the creamery in this city during the coming season. It is possible that it may be run as a cheese factory, provided sufficient milk can be guaranteed to justify the undertaking. All those who would like to furnish milk during the coming season will do well to call at THE NEWS OFFICE where they can learn the particulars of the arrangements. It is fully to allow the creamery to remain idle, and there are plenty of our people who can furnish milk to make the institution a success. Its part unprofitable operation should not stand in the way of its future success, and those who have cows should try to assist, and make it the success that it should be.

HORSES AND ELECTRICITY.
The Animals Iron Shoes Make Them Especially Susceptible.
The horse is easily killed by electricity. It is generally supposed that the current, on entering the body, meets with some physiological susceptibility that makes this animal more vulnerable than other animals of the same current. The London Lancet holds that there is no good ground for this assumption. The explanation lies elsewhere. The hoof, and more particularly its crust and sole, is good insulator, but the shoe presents to the ground a large metallic contact, and this contact is in connection with metallic conductors in the shape of nails which pierce the strongest part of the insulation, and afford an easy electrical path into the body. The current by the great superincumbent weight of the animal, and it may often happen that in passing over wet ground the external surface of the hoof and the wet fetlock, especially in the case of unshod horses, may become sufficiently wet to form a good surface conductor, and so carry a current directly from the earth to the upper part of the body. In this way the safety of the natural "resistance" of the hoofs is neutralized. A horse, shoe, covers more ground than a man and runs greater risk from being in contact with points of ground further apart. Farriers ought to consider the above well, so as to induce them to bestow extra care upon the driving of the nail, to see that it does not penetrate to the "quick."

An amusing incident is reported from Bay County, a young couple were married at Sunday school. THE WANDERING SHADE.
And I wandered from the quiet streets into a brilliantly lighted drawing room where were gathered many beautiful girls. They seemed to be arranging for the Christmas festivities. I looked about me and beheld hanging in the center of the room a bunch of mistletoe. Now I was acquainted with many of the manners and customs of yore, and I knew that when I "share" where I should be for a trifle I was dead with a mistletoe graft, besides being a courtly gentleman of the old school, with a fondness for the fair sex, and generally with a "gadabout" I chuckled in mine ghostly sleeve. "Stand by and watch me overhurl them merry maidens with mine old-time gallantry!" So I stole forward and caught the fairest about the neck, imprinting upon her red lips a sprig of mistletoe which rang with the loud report which always characterizes my osculatory efforts in the days of old. Alas! I was set upon and scratched and pulled apart. I hardly one bone remained clinging to another. Also I was called "unlucky," and various other appropriate epithets, and arrested and hurried away in a vehicle painted black, and placed behind the bars of a gloomy cell. I looked through the bars and saw many maidens with mine old-time gallantry!
