There is a best time for doing everything—that is, a time when a thing can be done to the best advantage, most easily and most effectively. Now is the best time for purifying your blood. Why? Because your system is now trying to purify it—you know this by the pimples and other eruptions that have come on your face and body.

Hoody's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Are the medicines to take—they do the work thoroughly and agreeably and never fail to do it.

Hoody's are the medicines you have always heard recommended.

"I cannot recommend Hoody's Sarsaparilla too highly as a purifying medicine. When we take it in the morning, it makes the system healthy." Mrs. E. H. Neal, MCKEAN, Pa.

BAD BLOOD, BAD COMPLEXION.

The skin is the seat of an almost endless variety of diseases. They are known by various names, but are all due to the same cause, acid and other poisons in the blood that irritate and interfere with the proper action of the skin.

To have a smooth, soft skin, free from all eruptions, the blood must be kept pure and healthy. The many preparations of arsenic and potash and the large number of face powders and lotions generally used in this class of diseases cover up for a short time, but cannot remove permanently the ugly blotches and the red, disgusting pimples.

Eternal vigilance is the price of a beautiful complexion when such remedies are relied on.

Mr. H. J. Shole, 1001 Louisiana St., New Orleans, La., writes: "My daughter was afflicted for years with a disgusting eruption on her face, which resisted all treatment. She was taken to two different hospitals, but received no benefit. Many months were passed, but without result, until we decided to try S. S. S. and by the time the first bottle was finished the eruption began to disappear. A dozen bottles cured her entirely and left her skin perfectly smooth. It is now seventeen years old, and a sign of the curative power of S. S. S. has never returned."

S. S. S. is a positive, unfailing cure for the worst forms of skin troubles. It is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and the only one guaranteed purely vegetable.

Bad blood makes bad complexions. S. S. S. purifies and invigorates the old and makes new, rich blood that nourishes the body and keeps the skin active and healthy and in proper condition to perform its part towards carrying off the impurities from the body.

If you have Rheumatism, Acne, Salt Rheum, Eczema, or your skin is rough and pimply, send for our book on Blood and Skin Diseases and write our physicians about your case. No charge whatever for this service.

Science and Invention

The bacillus of the grip is the smallest disease germ yet discovered.

The amount of blood in the human body is one-thirtieth of the body weight.

It has often been claimed that the presence of nickel in dust is a sufficient criterion to distinguish it as of cosmic rather than terrestrial origin. It has lately been shown that nickel is found in soil, and hence that nickeliferous dust may be terrestrial.

Gallium, also, is found in all aluminum minerals, in many forms of iron ores, in soil, and in atmospheric dust.

The cultivated oasis of Dakhla in the Libyan desert has a copious water supply, derived entirely from an underground bed of sand which is never visible. The water rises to the surface through wells, averaging about 400 feet in depth.

Some of these wells were made in ancient times, during the Roman occupation. They fertilize broad areas of cultivated lands, in comparison with palm groves. The success of this system of irrigation in Dakhla is interesting in connection with the projects for supplying moisture to some of our Western plains which are similarly underlain by hidden supplies of water.

The continually increasing demand for India rubber, and the great interest manifested in all efforts to prevent waste of the tree from which rubber is derived, have led our consuls in countries where these trees grow to collect many valuable facts concerning them.

Consul Goldschmidt at La Guazira recently transmitted to Washington some highly interesting statements about the rubber, or caoutchouc, trees of the upper Orinoco by Dr. E. J. Morise, who has made extensive personal investigations in that region. Dr. Morise has made the somewhat surprising statement that the prohibition of the Venezuelan Government against the felling of the trees is altogether unnecessary, because "it relates to an immense forest measuring upward of 74,000,000 acres, where caoutchouc exists in abundance, and which it would require millions and millions of hands to exploit, whereas it only contains three or four thousand Indians, not more than the tenth part of whom are engaged in the work."

Some interesting details have lately been published concerning the use of ozone in purifying water. Ozone is oxygen in a highly active condition and it occurs in small quantities in the air of the sea and of the mountains. Near Berlin an establishment has been erected for the purpose of experimenting on the effects of ozone in ridding water of the microbes it contains. Ozone, contained in from 2 to 3 grams per cubic meter is cubic meter equals 230.09 gallons and is about 15 grains in weight, is passed upward into a tower which is filled with flints and in its passage meets the water coming down and thus acts upon it. It has been shown that, as regards water, ozone is a more effective disinfectant than chlorine, and its application to the purification of water becomes, therefore, a matter of great interest. If the cost can be reduced this mode of purification may have a chance of widespread adoption.

JUST AS GOOD.
Backwoods Merchant Who Always Had What a Customer Wanted.
Abel Judkins kept the corner store in Centerville, and it was his boast that no man who patronized him need lack for anything he wanted, provided he had the wherewithal to pay.

Occasionally some unreasonable person would ask for a commodity not included in Abel's list, but if he did so, he was either provided with something which Mr. Judkins assured him was better than the article he had desired, and served exactly the same purpose, or he was made to feel that it was, for some dark and mysterious reason, no longer "carried" by any progressive and self-respecting shop.

When a carping suitor, resident, whose pair of ancient bellows, bought at an auction sale, had collapsed beyond repair, expressed surprise that no bellows were to be had of Mr. Judkins, the Centerville storekeeper turned upon her with a lofty smile.

"Folks here, ma'am," he said, coldly, "don't hold with getting so took up with old ideas, or being so narrow, as some of those that summer with us from below. The advances of civilization are prized here in this town, the air-tights with drafts are more thought of than old chimney flues, which require constant feeding and have to be blown on to keep 'em a-going."

He glanced at the summer resident, but could discover no special signs of weakening or humility in her face. With a briskness which always marked his mercantile proceedings, he changed in a twinkling from the advocate of progress to the upholder of primitive methods.

"But folks will be folks, ma'am," he said, indignantly, "and if you like an open glow I don't know what's to hinder. And better than any bellows that ever were made, ma'am, is an onion-stalk. I can fit you out complete with three stout ones at this present, and when you've blown them out o' use I'll be a-trinkling from the advocate of progress to the upholder of primitive methods."

Small Population.
Norway's population is the smallest in Europe, compared with her area. Each of her inhabitants could have forty acres of land, while the Briton would have to be content with less than an acre.

Fertility of Egypt's Soil.
The fertility of Egypt's soil is illustrated by a fact that every one of 10,500 square miles can support 928 persons, whereas even in densely populated Belgium there are only 580 to the square mile.

Russians in Kansas.
There are 4,000 Russians in Kansas, a thousand heads of families who do little beyond raising wheat. They vote in elections as one man, and attend strictly to their own business.

Honestly now, if you were in the other fellow's shoes, could you do any better?

DESEMOMONA'S FEET.

They Quite Drank Up the Scene for Elder Salvin.

From the most ridiculous to the most absurd, the scene recently related by Clara Morris, the feet which took that step were very conspicuous. It was when Tommaso Salvini was in this country. The play of the evening was "Orsino," and the scene of Desdemona's death had been reached.

Already the raging Moor had slain his innocent victim, and disturbed by Emilia's knock, had let fall the curtains before the couch on which the body lay. The draperies, provided, although rich and heavy, did not come to the floor. They missed it by a space of at least a foot, and this the deceased Desdemona unfortunately failed to observe.

The audience, which had been held tense and breathless under the tragic spell of the great actor, suddenly uttered a curious, long-drawn breath of amazement, followed by a hoisting of many heads, a universal craning of necks, and then, to poor Salvini's bewilderment and dismay, by a burst of downright laughter. He could perceive nothing amiss, and there was nothing for him to do but to ignore the laughter and proceed with the scene. But no wonder the people laughed!

The murdered Desdemona had risen and was evidently sitting on the side of the couch, for beneath the curtains her dancing feet were plainly seen, kicking cheerfully back and forth. Such utterly unconscious feet they were that the audience might not have laughed again had they kept still; but all at once they began a hoist and top step, and people rocked back and forth trying to suppress their merriment. And then swiftly the toe of the right foot went to the back of the left ankle, and a screech was emitted; every one set gasp and laughed and laughed. From the box one could see in the entrance the outspread fingers, the hoisted shoulders, the despairingly shaken heads of the startled crowd. No one could find a cause for the uproar.

Salvin behaved perfectly in that disturbed and distressed, he showed no sign of anger, but maintained his dignity through it all, even when, in drawing the curtains and disclosing Desdemona dead once more, the incomprehensible laughter again broke out.

The Butler Earl.
In old days, when kings received personal service from their most trusted nobles, simple offices were created, such as cup-bearer, chamberlain, butler, which have descended as titles of high rank. In a more complex world the service has been lost sight of, and only the outer circumstance and digressing the royal rank of the man and his theoretic function.

A story of his youth, told in the New York Times, brings into curious relation the royal rank of the man and his theoretic function.

When he was a young man he was reticent, and at evening receptions used to paste himself flat against the wall, and say nothing. On one occasion, as cup-bearer, chamberlain, butler, which have descended as titles of high rank. In a more complex world the service has been lost sight of, and only the outer circumstance and digressing the royal rank of the man and his theoretic function.

The Change of Life

Is the most important period in a woman's existence. Owing to modern methods of living, not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms.

Those dreadful hot flashes, sending the blood surging to the head until it seems ready to burst, and the faint feeling that follows, sometimes with chills, as if the heart were going to stop for good, are symptoms of a dangerous nervous trouble. These hot flashes are just so many calls from nature for help. The nerves are crying out for assistance. The cry should be heeded in time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life. It builds up the weakened nervous system, and enables a woman to pass that grand change triumphantly.
