TAKE THE GOOD WITH THE BAD.

Long ago
I reasoned why
'Tain't no use
To moan and cry—
'Tain't no use an' dey ain't no sense
Fallin' out wif Providence!
Long ago
I says, says I,
'Don' you weep
When weep de sky!
'Bleeds to come all 'long de way,
Sunshine wahn an' de rainy day!'
Streak or fat
An' streak or lean—
Joy, wif sorrow,
In between;
'Tain't no use to raise a yelp,
'G'inst de woe 'er don' kin help!
Don' you worry,
Don' you fret;
Better times an'
'Comin' yet;
Nabber been so flak a day
But de stajn-clone blow away.
So, my breddern,
Shout an' praise
Don' you cease
De rainy day!
'Tain't no use an' tain't no sense
Gettin' gay wif Providence!

There is a class of men who are seldom, if ever, appreciated at their true value. In this enlightened age they are commonly called "Dads." It is dad that humps himself year in and year out on the farm, in the office or the workshop in order that his boy or girl may go away to school, and upon their return, that the boy may have a fine horse and toy buggy and the girls costly piano. It is dad that hustles and cultivates great calloused knots on his hands and becomes stoop-shouldered in order that his offspring may revel in luxury and make ternal fools of themselves. His sons and daughters have learned at his expense to despise his old-fashioned ways. They secretly laugh at the style of his coat and the shape of his bell-crowned hat. On Sunday when his daughter has company and he would like to sit in the parlor and listen to the music, he is given in various ways to understand that his presence is not desirable, and the poor old man goes out in the kitchen and stays the rest of the afternoon. God help the son and daughter who goes back on Dad. In the catalogue of low-down cussedness that of ingratitude to parents is the most contemptible.

B. S. Martin, democratic candidate for surveyor, is a man of more than passing ability in this important line of work. He is a graduate of the Oregon Agricultural college, and is thoroughly versed in the line of civil engineering. He is a resident of Brownsville, where he bears the distinction of being a gentleman in every sense, and everyone speaks of him as a man of ability and honor.

Hon. M. A. Miller, democratic candidate for senator, is making many new friends every day on the canvass of the county. He is an able speaker, and the stand he occupies on the leading questions of the day as well as the public school question makes him very popular, and will doubtless make him many votes on the day of election. He is conducting a clean campaign.

Prof. P. L. Campbell, of Monmouth, has accepted the presidency of the University of Oregon at Eugene, and will take charge of the University at the close of the present term. The selection is a splendid one.

Will be Welcomed.

E. H. Harriman, president of the Southern Pacific lines, is in Portland respecting the company's holdings here, and has given out the information that fares on all the lines in this state will immediately be reduced from four to three cents per mile. This reduction will indeed be welcomed by the people of Oregon, and especially the Willamette valley. During the last session of the legislature a bill was introduced to compel railroads to place fares at three cents, but the bill was lost, and now the company has concluded that it can get along on a little less, and has reduced the fares voluntarily. Other improvements in the operating department of direct benefit to Portland, will be made in the near future.

A Divine Healer.
The celebrated divine healer, Schraeder, or Schlatter, who caused such a furor through Colorado a couple of years ago, and who also visited the big cities of the East, arrived in Albany on Eugene and is at Mt Parker's ready for business. The Democrat man met him early this morning and had a pleasant talk with him. He has long hair and whiskers and wears an oriental cloak reaching to the ground. He is a shrewd, well posted man, who knows what is going on in the world. He is used to the funny remarks made about him and criticism is entirely immaterial to him. Very few people believe in his powers of divine healing, and yet a good many go to his rooms for some reason or other.—Democrat.

A New Railroad.
Senator J. H. Mitchell has introduced a bill granting a right of way across the Cascade forest reserve for the Oregon & Southeastern railroad, from a point on the western border of the reserve in Lane county southwesterly up the valley of the Frank Brice creek, thence up the valley of the Champion creek to the base of Grizzly and Grouse summits of the Cascadia mountains.

The Shasta Route.
In going over the famous "Shasta Route" of the Southern Pacific Co., the traveler ever finds something new to excite his admiration and interest. Starting at Portland one traverses the whole length of the Willamette Valley, the gem of the Northwest. Mt. Hood, Mt. Jefferson, and the Three Sisters and other snow-capped peaks are kept in sight for hours. The prunes, peaches, apples and other fruits are a delight in themselves. The crossing of the great mountain barrier between Oregon and California reveals the grandest mountain scenery in the United States. The wonderful array of towering mountains, and gorges into which we gaze from dizzy heights, forest clad mountain slopes stretching up to the line of perpetual snow, and the foaming mountain streams dashing fiercely down deep canyons, now and then stopping for a short rest in some quiet pool. After a days enjoyment of old Mt. Shasta, the finest peak on the continent, we drop rapidly down to the canon of the Sacramento to the broad plains of the Sacramento Valley in California, and thence through vineyards and orchards to San Francisco.

of Cod Liver Oil is the means of life, and enjoyment of life to thousands: men women and children.
When appetite fails, it restores it. When food is a burden, it lifts the burden.
When you lose flesh, it brings the plumpness of health.
When work is hard and duty is heavy, it makes life bright.
It is the thin edge of the wedge; the thick end is food. But what is the use of food, when you hate it, and can't digest it?
Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the food that makes you forget your stomach.

NEW THEORY OF SLEEP.

Narcotic Secretion in the System

Thrown into the Circulation Causes the Phenomenon.

What causes Sleep?

Very likely there is not a scientist of your acquaintance who will be able to tell you. As for the poets they have been offering explanations ever since time began, but, unfortunately, none of them is reasonable, says a scientific exchange.

A rather startling theory lately put forward by a young physiologist is attracting considerable attention. This student believes that a gland or certain glands in the system secrete a narcotic substance; that this substance is stored in the gland or glands until at definite times—mainly influenced by habit and "tiredness" of the individual—it is thrown into the circulation, and thereby causes the phenomenon of sleep.

There is no direct evidence of the correctness of this theory, but he refers to a lately discovered fact that the urine of health secreted in waking hours always contains a narcotic substance, and he urges this point in support of his theory. The existence of such glands is difficult to deny. Sir T. Lauder Brunton has pointed out that opium will keep a person awake if he wishes to be awake, and, conversely, will make him sleep if he wishes sleep—which would seem to show that sleep is in some measure under the control of the will.

A Far-Traveled Locomotive.

The English papers record the recent completion by express locomotive No. 1 of the Great Northern railway of its four-millionth mile of travel. The engine was built at Doncaster more than 20 years ago, and is still in active service. It has single driving wheels, and was one of the first to be fitted with outside cylinders. Four million miles is more than 100 times the distance between the earth and the moon, and 100 times the circumference of the earth. But the veteran locomotive would have to continue the same average rate of travel for about 700 years in order to traverse a distance equal to that of the sun from the earth.

THE STATE TAX BOO-HOO.

Linn County Democrats are making a great noise about the "excessive state tax levy. The tax levy for this year is based on the new law, passed at the last session, designed to defeat the unequal and unjust assessments of the various counties. The apportionment of state taxes is made on the average assessment of each county for the last five years. The total expenses of the state are computed and then each county pays its pro rata reckoned from this average assessment. Linn county's share is $48,392.

The Linn county court levied a tax of 7.4 mills on the assessed valuation of $6,773,040. The state tax in 1901 was 6.3 mills and in 1900, 6.7 mills, yet the amount of money raised in the county was nearly equal to this year. In 1900 the amount paid to the state by this county was $42,474.43, and in 1901, $44,783.14. The apparent increase in the levy over these two years last past is quite heavy but the amount of money contributed by the county and each individual taxpayer is scarcely perceptible. The levy this year includes some special state school taxes and deficiency appropriations of the preceding year.

The state levy in Benton county is equal to about 8 mills, in Lane county 7.6 mills and Polk county 7.5 mills. A number of counties have lower tax levies for state purposes, because of the juggling with the assessment rolls, during the times of the State Board of Equalization and the effort of these counties to decrease their assessed valuation to defraud the state out of the state tax. Under the new law, which by the way, received every vote of the Linn county legislative delegation, Democrats and all, and had but three negative votes in the legislature, the state tax after 1905 will be based upon the average county expenditure since 1890 excluding the amount expended for roads and bridges. In other words an economical county administration will decrease the amount the county will contribute to the state. The average county expenses of all the counties in the state will be added to, and then each county's per cent will be ascertained and apportioned.

The law is just and while it slightly increases our proportion of state tax this year, it is a step in the right direction and in years to come the people will feel thankful for the change. The democratic haul is in line with their other negative oppositions and is merely wind. The amount of state tax would be the same under Democratic state officials as under the present regime.

REPUBLICANS SEE DANGER SIGNALS.

The Herald is evidently worried over the record its party has made in matters of expenditure of public money and increased taxation.

That that paper is in utter confusion about the matter needs no better proof than the following statement from that paper:

"The state tax in 1901 was 6.3 mills and in 1900 5.7 mills, yet the amount of money raised in this county was nearly equal to this year."
Now the truth is, as found in the records, that the state tax in 1901 was 7.4 mills and in 1900 it was 5.7 mills. This makes an increase in the state levy from 1900 to 1901 of 1.7 mills. But the fact that taxes are increasing right along from year to year under republican rule as is shown by the fact that in 1894 the state levy was 3 mills and it has been gradually increasing from year to year until in 1901 it was 7.4 mills. If republicans think they can make taxpayers believe their tax burdens are not increasing they are sadly mistaken for the taxpayers know better. If the Herald thinks so let its editor study the following facts:

Linn county paid the following amounts of state taxes for the years named:

1893	$23,956.16	1898	$38,984.67
1895	35,734.91	1899	42,374.53
1896	36,330.90	1900	44,783.14
1897	28,893.07	1901	48,392.00

Any taxpayer can understand the above recorded facts, and most all taxpayers can see this increase in their tax receipts. The increase was from $23,956.16 in 1894 to $48,392.00, showing that state taxes have more than doubled in eight years. The Herald may try to cover up these facts in a cloud of smoke arising from a jumbled mass of inaccurate statements but the taxpayers know better and many of them will resent it in a way to be felt.

The Herald says the law under which the increased levies are made is a just one. This the Democrat has not denied. The increase is not the fault of the new law but is caused by the extravagance of republican legislatures.

To prove that the fault is not in the new law, but in extravagant appropriations by the legislature, we need only to adduce the fact that under the old law our state taxes increased from $23,956.16 in 1894 to $44,783.14 in 1900.
All this time the rate of the state levy was uniform in all the counties and the legislatures all these years were republican. Men must learn later if not sooner that the legislature is responsible for high taxes and not the executive. The legislature appropriates the money and not the governor. All the above hard, stern, unyielding facts are pretty well understood by the taxpayers and they can not be misled by the subterfuges of the Herald.

The Oregonian insists that the only question at issue between the two parties is the question of republican policy and democratic policy. Well, yes, the democrats feel, yes, they know, that the republican policy of administering the affairs of this state is detrimental to the best interests of the state, and entails large tax burdens upon the owners of property, and that this is needlessly done. Yes, the democrats are more than anxious to draw the line on the republican policy of administering the affairs of this state, and make the issue direct and sharp in favor of returning to simpler, better and more economical methods. Let us have such state tax levies as we had in 1894 when it was three mills, and do away with the republican policy of seven and four tenths mills, the rate we have now. Yes, by all means let these constitute the issue. Democrats welcome it.
