OUR BOYHOOD DAYS.

I'd like to be a boy again, without a woe or care,
With freckles scattered on my face, and hayseed in my hair.
I'd like to rise at 4 o'clock and do a hundred chores,
And saw the wood and feed the hogs and lock the stable doors;
And herd the lions and watch the bees and take the mules to drink;
And teach the turkeys how to swim so that they wouldn't sink;
And milk about a hundred cows and bring the wood to burn;
And stand out in the sun all day and churn and churn and churn;
And wear my brothers cast off clothes and walk four miles to school
And get a licking every day for breaking some old rule,
And then get home again at night and do the chores some more,
And milk the cows and feed the hogs and carry mules galore;
And then crawl wearily up stairs to seek my little bed,
And hear dad say, "That worthless boy! He isn't worth his bread!"
I'd like to be a boy again—a boy has so much fun!
His life is just a round of mirth from rise to set of sun.
I guess there's nothing pleasanter than closing stable doors
And herding lions and chasing bees and doing evening chores.

B. S. Martin, the democratic candidate for county surveyor, is a native son of Oregon, having been born in Benton county, but has spent two-thirds of his life in Linn. He is a graduate from the Oregon Agricultural College, besides holding diplomas from two other institutions. Besides being a civil engineer he has had several years experience as a practical surveyor. All his surveys are models of neatness and accuracy. He is a fine mathematician and is capable of making all estimates for bridges and all measurements and specifications necessary thereto. Under the present law it is incumbent upon the surveyor to superintend the construction of bridges, which practically compels him to be a civil engineer. Now if the people of Linn county want the duties of surveyor carried out in every detail, and all work appertaining thereto, neatly and accurately done they should vote for Mr. Martin. The field notes, plats, etc., of the surveys of Linn county are in the county surveyor's office at Albany and are always at the disposal of the county surveyor. So the field notes belonging to a private individual cuts no figure when undertaking to survey everywhere in the county. So in order to do accurate surveying he would be compelled to have access to the material in the county surveyor's office. Mr. Martin is a genial, sociable, and estimable young man. He is well acquainted in Linn and has many friends. It is to the financial interest of the people of Linn county that he be elected surveyor. Be sure that he gets your vote.

In speaking of the union label a Baltimore clergyman says: "What can be more sacred, more holy, or more deserving of the reverence of men or angels than the union label, which signifies that human life has been more highly valued in the production of commodities than the mere profits sought for by greed? The label is an emblem of justice, of fraternity, of humanity. When you find a label on a garment, or box of cigars, or a loaf of bread, or a piece of printing, you can be sure that neither was made in a sweat-shop. When you see this label on any commodity, you can buy it with a clear conscience, knowing that in doing so you are not becoming a partner to an institution that degrades humanity for private profit. The union label is the banner that represents justice to labor, fresh air and sunshine and healthful conditions to those who toil, and the truth that human life is of greater moment than the gain of gold."

Hon. M. A. Miller is making a very honorable and clean campaign and is gaining friends daily. He has spoke in many precincts throughout the county and has received assurance on every hand that his election was no longer a matter of doubt. He has placed himself on record as being a man strongly in favor of legislation which will be of benefit to the taxpayers of the county, and would—if elected—work for no measure other than that which was for the best interests of all, and was fair and right in every detail. He is the champion of the public school, and points with pride to his past record in this particular line of work. He is ever ready to help make such laws as the people want and will spare no labor in the line of law making which will reduce the burden of taxation now being bourne by the people of this county and state.

The Sunday edition of the Portland Telegram devoted a page to an able editorial on the drink habit, showing that 99 per cent of the suicides of the world, are brought about directly or indirectly through drink, and charging to intemperance a very large portion of the crime of the world. The article is illustrated by a skull and a bottle of whisky, cards and a revolver, which are suggestive of the pointed remarks of the article. To those who take an interest in the mighty effort to subdue the liquor traffic, the stand being taken by a number of the leading papers of the United States is refreshing and will cause renewed efforts to be put forth to the end that this nefarious traffic may be abolished.—Brownsville Times.

Postmaster General Payne has announced that the portrait of Martha Washington has been decided upon as that of the first American woman to adorn a United States postage stamp. The portrait will be placed on the eight-cent stamp.

To insure the adoption of the Initiave and Referendum amendment to the constitution it must have more than forty-five thousand votes even if not one vote is cast against it. Do not forget to mark your ballot on this question.

Married.

CONN—MOSIER—At the M. E. parsonage, Albany, Oregon, Thursday, May 22, 1902, Mr. Samuel Conn and Mrs. Sarah D. Mosier, both of Albany. Dr. M. C. Wire officiating.

The contracting parties are well known in Albany among a large circle of friends who will congratulate them upon this joyful event. After a trip to Portland they will return to make their home in Albany.—Herald.

How To Gain Flesh

Persons have been known to gain a pound a day by taking an ounce of SCOTT'S EMULSION. It is strange, but it often happens.

Somehow the ounce produces the pound; it seems to start the digestive machinery going properly, so that the patient is able to digest and absorb his ordinary food, which he could not do before, and that is the way the gain is made.

A certain amount of flesh is necessary for health; if you have not got it you can get it by taking

Scott's Emulsion

You will find it just as useful in summer as in winter, and if you are thriving upon it don't stop because the weather is warm.

The Shasta Route.

In going over the famous "Shasta Route" of the Southern Pacific Co., the traveler ever finds something new to excite his admiration and interest. Starting at Portland one traverses the whole length of the Willamette Valley, the gem of the Northwest. Mt. Hood, Mt. Jefferson, and the Three Sisters and other snow-capped peaks are kept in sight for hours. The prunes, peaches, apples and other fruits are a delight in themselves. The crossing of the great mountain barrier between Oregon and California reveals the grandest mountain scenery in the United States. The wonderful array of towering mountains, and gorges into which we gaze from dizzy heights, forest clad mountain slopes streching up to the line of perpetual snow, and the foaming mountain streams dashing fiercely down deep canons, now and then stopping for a short rest in some quiet poll. After a days enjoyment of obl Mt. Shasta, the finest peak on the continent, we drop rapidly down the canon of the Sacramento to the broad plains of the Sacramento Valley in California, and thence through vineyards and orchards to San Francisco.

Granted A Divorce.

In the state circuit court, at Watertown, South Dakota last week Mrs. Fayne Moore, of New York city, was granted an absolute divorce from William A. E. Moore. The plaintiff was given the right to resume her maiden name of Fayne Strahan. She instituted her suit on the grounds of extreme cruelty, non-support and conviction of felony. The defendant is serving a term of 19 years in Sing Sing prison for alleged robbery. He alleges his imprisonment is due to a plot of the plaintiff to get a divorce in order to wed a wealthy nEglishman. The plaintiff's father was the late Chief Justice Strahan, of the supreme court of Oregon.

Men Without a Party.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD:

Eight years ago the populists in this county outnumbered the republicans. The democrats mustered only about one-fourth the total vote if memory serves.

The populists listened to the siren song of the democracy and fused with that effete organization and today they are without a party. Hundreds of them are too patriotic to train with the socialists, too disgusted to affiliate further with the democrats and are not yet convinced that the republican party stands for a government for the people. These men have not registered and the democratic party, which has acted so dishonestly with them, will fail to secure their votes. The result will be a sweeping victory for the republicans in this county and the democratic party will receive the reward of its perfidity.

POPULIST THAT WAS.

The democrats keep up a continual howl about the republicans concentrating their strength on Mr. Kelly and Mr. Van Winkle. This is not true at all. In the first place it is wholly unnecessary. Then those men are above that. But the fact is the democrats are doing all in their power to concentrate their forces against them, and would willingly sacrifice most of their ticket to elect Payne and Miller. They would gladly sacrifice all the rest of their legislative ticket to elect Miller, and the county ticket for Payne. Not more than two or three days ago a few democrats approached two republican relatives of a republican candidate and told them that if they would turn four or five votes to Payne and Miller they would pledge them twenty-five votes in return for their relative. The offer was emphatically refused. This is not the only instance which might be cited, if any more was desired to convince the other democratic candidates of how they are being bartered for Payne and Miller.

There is no question but the republicans have registered a large number more voters than the democrats have and the democrats are now badly scared. There are more than 200 more republicans than democrats registered, and all it requires for the republicans to do is to get their people out on election day and vote and they will carry the county by a good majority. The people are entirely satisfied with republican prosperity and will vote to continue it by electing the republican ticket in this county this year. The old time populists have some faith in the republicans but none in the democrats. They have tried them and by sad experience of how much a democrat pledge is worth and what perfidity they can resort to.

Joseph Hume is as good as elected sheriff of Linn county. Everybody is going to vote for Hume.

Hugh Fisher is as capable a man as there is in the county for surveyor. His majority will be counted by the hundreds.

J. S. Van Winkle is a native of Linn county. He is one of the most competent men in the county to fill the office of county clerk, and he will be elected by a handsome majority.

Charles E. Barton is a quiet, unassuming young man and well qualified to fill the office of county recorder, to which he will be elected in June. He is making votes every day on the canvass.

James Elkins is one of Oregon's

To The Public.

Untruthful persons are spreading a false rumor to the effect that I will not serve in the legislature if elected, and that my absence from the campaign is due to the fact that I am not in sympathy with the democratic principles and candidates. These statements are absolutely false, and are given circulation for the purpose of preventing my friends from casting their vote for me. It is true that I did not seek the nomination. Now that I am nominated I want to be elected, and I will thank my friends to let this fact be known. I am in complete sympathy with my colleagues and the democratic ticket, and shall do all in my power to help elect them. Much to my regret, the illness of my son-in-law, who requires my constant care, has prevented my going on the campaign. I shall be present at the meetings yet to be held if possible. This is the only reason why I have been absent. I assure my friends that I shall be very grateful to them for their support in this campaign. Any statement contrary to this is absolutely false.

S. R. CLAYPOOL,

May 26, 1902.

Oregon still continues to pay about one-half more for her school books than the states of California or Washington. Don't you think that there is something "rotten" in this particular? Either legislators of our neighboring states are smarter than ours, or ours are less honest. Which?

There is no reason why Hon. J. K. Weatherford should not receive the vote of a very large majority of the people of the central Willamette valley. He is a self made man and worthy in every particular. Should Mr. Weatherford be elected, work on Yaquina harbor may be renewed in the near future. If Mr. Tongue is elected Yaquina will continue to be considered unworthy of further improvement.

The Herald figures out a large majority for its party in Linn county. That paper's well-known accuracy in political figuring was strickingly illustrated two years ago when two days before the election it telegraphed the Oregonian the republicans would carry this county by 250 majority. The result of the election showed comfortable majorities all along the line for democrats, but these majorities showed that the Herald missed it only from 400 to 800 votes. Its figures this year are fully as trustworthy as they were two years ago.

Brownsville Woolen Mill Co.

The Brownsville Woolen Mill Company has been incorporated under the laws of the state, with the following officers: Joseph Cordingly, president; Geo. H. Coshow, secretary and treasurer; Emil Koppe, superintendent and business manager; Seth Ralstrick, Emil Koppe and James Denton, directors. James Denton, a well-known woolen mill man, formerly of Salem, has purchased a one-fourth interest in the comsany. The mills are being operated to their fullest capacity and have a tright future before them under their present management.
