THE CITY CHURCH'S ORGAN.

Been a meetin' in the city, an' I tell you it was great!
An' I hope you will not doubt me when I confidently state
That the organ occupied the biggest wall within the church
An' when it started playin' you could see the ceiling lurch!
Oh, a sort o' skeery feelin' went a-climbin' o'er a feller
When that organ got excited an' the bass began to bellet
Thought I'd heard a bit o' music at Mount Pleasant down the road;
But I'm ready to confess it that I never really knowed
What a powerful lot of noise can be connected by a snap
When he starts the organ goin' like a tuneful thunder-clap
There's a rumble like the grumble of a mad bull in the cellar
When the organ gets excited an' the bass begins to bellet
Let's o' music in the city church's organ, but some way,
I get woeny when it's playin' an' I most forget to pray!
Mighty different from the little chapel organ I have knowed
All the years I've gone to meetin' at Mt. Pleasant down the road;
May be mighty grand an' solemn; but it sorter skeers a feller
When that organ gets excited and the bass begins to bellet!

Johann Most, the famous anarchist has been sentenced to serve a year in the penitentiary for publishing an incendiary article of the time President McKinley was shot. This is a country of free speech, but it is necessary to restrain intemperate and lawless utterances as it is actions of that character from the one leads to and promotes the other. The utterances of persons like Most and Emma Goldman are directly responsible for the death of McKinley and similar utterances can easily cause a repetition of the crime for there are plenty of ill balanced and foolish minds like that of Czolgosz, to absorb the anarchist ravings and carry their violence into effect.

The Cuban government has become weary of waiting for the American congress to accomplish any action in behalf of Cuban industry and has decided on a plan to relieve the economic situation. The government intends to distribute $3,500,000 among the sugar planters and cattle raisers as an encouragement to these lines of industry. President Roosevelt is firmly persisting in his effort to secure relief for Cuba but congress is apathetic in the matter. The best sugar men spare no effort to defeat Cuban reciprocity and their power in congress is not small.

At the Hood farm near Lowell, Massachusetts, a Jersey cattle sale was held on June 11th and 12th, when 154 head were disposed of, the total proceeds being $17,950. F. E. McElowney, manager for the W. S. Ladd estate, of Portland, Oregon, purchased four of the fine stock viz: A two-year-old daughter of Hood Farm Fogs, out of Mashie, daughter of Merry Maiden and a 50 per cent Diploma cow. Also a daughter each of Merry Maiden 3d son and Velo of Hood Farm and a fine two-year-old by Brown Bossie's son. The prices paid were $370, $75, $190, $280.

When President Roosevelt signed his name at the bottom of a bill of Congress last Tuesday night he performed an act whose importance will be far-reaching. The bill which he signed was the famous Hanstrough irrigation bill, and from this time forth the Government is committed to the policy of developing and making ready for settlement the arid lands on the eastern slopes of the Rocky Mountains and on the Pacific coast. Four million dollars is now ready for the development of arid lands.

The people who live in the vicinity of Liberty, five miles south of Salem, propose to have good roads over which to get into Salem with their produce—good at all seasons of the year, says the Oregon Statesman. They have banded together for the purpose of hauling the Linn County Council.

Linn County Council P. of H. met with Jordan Valley Grange on June 26th, representatives from five granges being present.

A called meeting of the grange for the purpose of initiating a candidate in the 2nd and 4th degrees was a very impressive ceremony presided over by the master, Frank Thayer. Jordan is one of the five granges with a membership of over one hundred.

At 11 a. m. the president of council, J. C. Cren, called to order for business. A song by the Jordan choir was appreciated.

The usual routine of business being transacted, a recess was declared for dinner, to describe which is beyond my ability. It was in a beautiful fir grove, with tables loaded with the necessities of life prepared by the good sisters. After spending about an hour in disposing of the same and in social converse, the meeting was again called to order. The following resolution was passed by unanimous vote: Whereas, the officers and members of Linn County Council, appreciate the generosity of the managers of the C & E railroad in kindness in giving special rates from Albany to Lyons, therefore be it resolved that we express our thanks to Edwin Stone, manager, by furnishing us with very liberal rates in our meeting and that we do feel aggrieved that more of the patrons could not and did not avail themselves to the privilege and pleasure of the excursion and meeting.

The meeting was enlivened by the best of music led by sister Eva Irwin, with Edith Ray as organist. On good of the order short talks were made by a number present. Considering the busy season of the year and the distance from most of our granges the meeting was a grand success.

Next meeting of Council will be with Harmony Grange No. 27, on the 1st Saturday in October.

The usual vote of thanks being given, at a late hour the meeting adjourned with the verdict that the day was well and happily spent, some returning home by their own conveyances. We scribble and Brother and Sister Miller accepted the hospitality of B. Blyen's family, while others accepted the kind invitation of members of the valley and returned on the 11 a. m. train, feeling grateful for the kind and generous treatment received from the Jordan Valley patrons—Cor. in Albany Democrat.

The Shasta Route.

In going over the famous "Shasta Route" of the Southern Pacific, the traveler ever finds something new to excite his admiration and interest. Starting at Portland one traverses the whole length of the Willamette Valley, the gem of the Northwest. Mt. Hood, Mt. Jefferson, and the Three Sisters and other snow-capped peaks are kept in sight for hours. The prunes, peaches, apples and other fruits are a delight in themselves. The crossing of the great mountain barrier between Oregon and California reveals the grandest mountain scenery in the United States. The wonderful array of towering mountains, and the streams dashing fiercely down deep canyons, now and then stopping for a short rest in some quiet pool. After a days enjoyment of old Mt. Shasta, we drop briskly down the coast of the Sacramento to the broad plains of California, and thence through vineyards and orchards to San Francisco.

COAL WASTED IN MINING.

Twenty-Two Per Cent. of the Total Output of English Mines Annually Lost.

"It has been recently computed that more than 50,000,000 tons of coal are wasted every year in the mines." So said J. Stephen Jeans in addressing the South Wales Institute of Engineers, reports the London Telegraph. This waste is that mainly of small coal, and is, of course, quite independent of the reckless and useless consumption that goes on in nearly every domestic grate and at every furnace. Even this huge figure is less than it used to be, for, with the general adoption of coal washing plants, the introduction of producers capable of using small coal in the making of gas and the manufacture of briquettes, the loss has been reduced. It forms still 22 per cent. of the total output, and represents a money sacrifice of $20,000,000. Allowing 10,000,000 homes in the United Kingdom, these 50,000,000 tons would allow five tons per annum for every family. A high authority (Forster Brown) reckons that at the existing rate of consumption (and wastes) "within 40 years from the present time an increase in the cost of coal will begin to be felt as a new element in the commercial position of the nation." Mr. Jeans thinks this estimate too pessimistic, but if we allow twice 40 years it is a terribly short time in the life of a nation. Most people ignore the fact that the exhaustion has begun. In the Northumberland coal field most of the thick seams are worked out, and it has now become necessary to work seams from two feet to two feet six inches thick, which is reducing the output per man by from 15 to 40 per cent.
