A DREAMER.

I.

I keep a-sayin' to myself—when summer's sizzin' so:
"I'd like to be down yonder, where the honeysuckles grow!
I'd like to find the meadows, with the daisies, cool an' deep;
An' have the winds an' whippoorwills to sing my soul to sleep!"

II.

An' yet, when I was with 'em—in the shadows of the pines,
Where the hummin' bird was browsin' in the mornin' glory vines,
I was evermore a-sayin', io the lonesome day an' night:
"I'd like to be up yonder, where the city shines so bright!"

III.

It's still the same old feelin'—the restlessness that seems
To keep the soul a-movin' for to realize its dreams!
An' when we realize 'em, an' reach the highest hill,
We're longin' for the valley, an' we're old-time dreamers still!

The State Normal school at Monmouth reports that the demand for its graduates during the past year has been much beyond the supply. Graduation from the Normal practically assures a place worth from $40 to $100 per month. The student takes the state examinations during the regular course and are easily able to pass on all subjects required for state papers before graduation. The school has a well equipped training department consisting of a nine grade town school and a typical country school.

The Liquor Dealers' Association has objected to the prohibition leaning of President Kruttschnit of the Southern Pacific, who ordered the bars out of the Oakland ferryboats. The association says the bars must go in or the company will lose an annual freight business of a million dollars. The liquor association has struck a giant in the Southern Pacific which might do considerable damage in other quarters.

Diversified farming for the Willamette valley—this is the salvation of that part of the state. It transformed the middle West only 15 or 20 years ago, just as it had previously transformed the agricultural districts of the Atlantic coast, and made them regions wherein prosperity reigned supreme in spite of temporary adversity of hard times.

The Nebraska legislature has appropriated nothing toward the Omaha Exposition. It gave $100,000 for a state building, though, and appointed a commission to expend that amount. The Oregon legislature will not donate $1,000,000 to the Lewis and Clark Exposition. Such a thing is out of reason.

Montana cattlemen are getting ready to build a fence seven hundred miles long. Maybe they think they will have the best fence ever, but they won't. Theodore Roosevelt has a political fence that crosses and recrosses a country over three thousand miles wide, and it's in pretty good repair, too.

Another application of the idea of centralization—the La Grande Sugar factory is now in the hands of the bigger Utah concerns. Talk and resolutiont seem not to be doing much in the way of preventing the the trust idea from gaining foothold everywhere.

Dispatches convey the information that several officials have been punished for plotting against President Cuestas of Uruguay. Glad to hear you are safe, Senor Cuestas. Really, we had forgotten your name and where you live.

The king of Italy is the latest royal guest of Czar Nicholas of Russia. St. Petersburg is a great place for hospitality—provided you own a country or have a job bossing one.

Salisbury has retired at the height of his career. A wise old diplomat is that same Salisbury. Balfour comes to the front in time to get all the effect of the reaction that will soon be due.

Minister Wu Ting-Fang must go back to China. What a shame! Philadelphia liked him so well, and was thinking of giving him a steady job as orator on all celebration days that are purely American.

Odds of Information.

A plague of ants is the latest outbreak in Kansas.

The United States weather bureau employs more than 1400 trained officials at 180 stations.

Bronx river, New York, derives its name from Jonts Bronx, who settled in that region in 1639.

Eleven experts have worked for five months on a Wilton carpet intended for the drawing room of a London club.

Australia, twenty-five times larger than the whole of the British Isles, has a population smaller than that of London.

The Jericho of today is a collection of wretched cabins inhabited by a peculiar people, unlike any other in Palestine.

What He Gets.

What a man gets in return for the taxes he pays is figured out as follows by one of our exchanges: A man with $1000 worth of property is likely to pay from $10 to $15 a year taxes. For this if he lives in town he gets the service of the police, education for his children, officials to look after the streets and sidewalks, the courts at a nominal figure for the litigant. If he lives in the country he gets bridges and roads and many of the above advantages also. Sometimes the taxpayers find it hard to spare the taxes but he would find it a great deal harder to get along without what his money brings in.

A Portland Murder.

In one fierce revel of vengeance, A. L. Belding, a bartender, last Friday night shot and killed his wife, his mother-in-law and Frank Woodward, whose attentions to his wife he resented, and seriously wounded Lemuel McCroskey, his father-in-law, at whose house on the corner of Fifth and Flanders street, the shooting occurred. After he had killed, as he supposed, every inmate of the house except his little boy, the murderer coolly walked over to the Lake Charles saloon, across the street, invited a man to take a drink with him, and went out to look for a policeman to arrest him.

E. H. Smith, of Prineville, arrived in Scio the first of the week with a band of bunchgrass horses. He is engaged in the harness and saddle business in the Crook county metropolis, and is here on a sort of a vacation. He is disposing of his horses at a pront, and enjoying the Willamette valley climate.

When Traveling.

Few women care to make a gown and lay it aside for traveling and for traveling alone. Therefore any quiet suitable gown in the wardrobe is used for the purpose.

The traveling gown should be dark.

It should be snug, but not tight.

It should be of a color that will not fade nor show dust.

It should have a small 'non-crushable hat to match.

It should be in pedestrian length.

15 Cents for Hops.

A contract was filed Tuesday under which Mrs. Ella Mendenhall, of Harrisburg, is to deliver all of her hops this year to T. A. Livesly & Co. of Salem, at 15 cents a pound with a 7 cent advance. —Democrat, Saves a Woman's Life.

To have given up would have meant death for Mrs. Louis Cragg, of Dorchester Mass." For years she had endured untold misery from a severe lung trouble and obstinate cough. "Often", she writes, I could hardly breathe and sometimes could not speak. All doctors and remedies failed till I used Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption and was completely cured. Sufferers from coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles need this grand remedy, for it never disappoints. Cure guaranteed by Peery & Peery. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

The Palace restaurant has been re-opened under new management, and is now the leading restaurant in Albany. Don't foget this when in the city and hungry.

A married woman who resides in Eugene for a few days past has been busily engaged painting her house, while her husband was seated in the shade and moved the ladder for her occasionally.

License was issued this week for the marriage of Borden McAllister and Mary Hite, of near Lebanon. Mr. McAllister is 75 years of age, but he says he can jump up and kick his heels together twice as easily as when a boy.

Superintendent Swan with a force of men recommenced construction work on the Calapooia wagon road to the mines Tuesday. C. H. Elswick, who with a small crew, has been working on the extension in Lane county, came out Saturdry.

There are three prisoners in the county jail, Vennum awaiting trial on account of the Brownsville bank robbery, Scofield on six months sentence for picking up a pocketbook and keeping it, and Cargus on a six months sentence for robbing the Halsey barber shop.

Personal!—Harry Tracey, late of Salem, Ore., is making an extended tour of the Sound country. He is the receipient of many attractions. At Seattle he was given the liberty of all the suburbs. At Olympia he was tendered the free use of a naptha launch, at various private residences he has been received as a respected guest. Indeed his name has become a household word and everywhere men, women and children stand ready to do his slightest bidding.—Spokane Review.

Changed His Methods.

The man lives in the northwest part of Lane county. His name is not known. The story came to the Times from a citizen of Corvallis, who heard it from the owner of the farm.

The man had a mortgage. It was a big mortgage, and he saw no way of lifting it. He had tried year after year, and at the end of each season the burden seemed to grow greater.

At length he determined to give up the farm. He went to the man who owned the mortgage and told him that a deed would be signed to the place any time that it would suit. The interest could not be paid this year, and it seemed hopeless to struggle on in a dismal effort to pay the principal.

The money lender differed from many of his class. Said he to the mortgage-ridden farmer: "Try it a while longer. Go back to the farm, and make one more effort to save it. Change your methods a little. You need not pay the interest this year. Find out where you can find four or five good brood sows. Come to me for the money to buy them. Put a part of your money in a patch of peas. Come to me for the money to buy seed. That was seven years ago.

The farmer tried the new plan. Today there is 100 acres of peas on the piece, and hogs in abundance. The interest has been paid on time every since, and the mortgage is nearly lifted. If good prices are realized this year, the last dollar of it will be paid. The farmer and his family are happy and so is the money lender. Change of methods did it.—Corvallis Times.

The Heaviest of Cups.

America's cup is apparently the heaviest bit of silverware in the world. Sir Thomas Lipton, that prince of sportsmen and genial gentleman, has not been able to raise that cup or tilt it the least bit in his direction, says the New York Herald.

It is estimated that he has spent about $1,300,000 to lift it and yet it firmly maintains its level of the last half century. He has spent enough to lift Westminster abbey an entire story and still is unable to move that cup the smallest fraction of an inch nearer the British islands. If he had put that money into coal, and by its combustion converted a small portion of the water he has sailed over into steam, he would have power enough to lift the great pyramid. Yet all this power directed against that little cup has not been able to even shake it on its foundation. Surely this is a wonderful exhibition of gravity.

A High Balloon Ascension.

MM. Siering and Berson of the meteorological institute of Berlin have lately ascended in a balloon of 8,000 cubic meters capacity to the great height of 10,300 meters (33,800 feet). Success was possible only because the aeronauts began to breathe pure oxygen at an elevation of about 8,000 meters. The scientific results of this ascension are now in process of calculation and will shortly be published.

Why Go East

over the sun burned, sage brush and alkali plains when you may just as well take a delightful, cool and comfortable ride through the heart of the Rocky Mountains in view of the grandest scenery on the American continent?

This you can do by traveling on the Rio Grande System, the far famed "Scenic Line of the World," the only transcontinental line passing through Salt Lake City, Glenwood Springs, Leadville, Colorado Springs and Denver enroute to eastern points.

Three daily express trains make close connections with all trains east and west and afford a choice of five distinct routes of travel. The equipment of these trains is the best, including free reclining chair cars, standard and tourist sleepers, a perfect dining car service, and also personally conducted excursion cars, each in charge of a competent guide whose business is to look after the comfort of his guests. No more pleasant and inexpensive means of crossing the continent can be found than is provided by these excursions.
