"LAYIN' LOW."

Earthquakes shakin' de country 'round,
Lightnin' jabbin' de trimblin' ground;
Sunshine hot an' de cyclone blow—Bress de Lawd I'se er-layin' low!

Ship goes down in de col', wet sea,
Sendin' a shiver ober me;
Pelee bust an' she oberflow—Bress de Lawd I'se er-layin' low!

Railroad wreck an' de b'iler bust,
Tuhnin' de victims wrong side fust!
Trabblin' fas'an' trabblin' slow—Bress de Lawd I'se er-lagin' low!

Cannods roar in de foreign lands;—
Death am wukkin' his harvest hands!
Guggle ob blood an' de wail of woe—Bress de Lawd I'se er-layin' low!

Soppin' grease in de fryin' pan,
Good enough foh de nigger man;—
Plenty enough foh me to know;—Bress de Lawd I'se er-layin' low!

We have a friend who has a nicely improved 80-acre farm. It has always made him a good home and he has done very well on it, yet he has lately got the notion into his head that he would like to sell it and move into town where he could work out by the day at carpentering. It is our opinion that inside of six months after leaving the old home he would give $100 premium to get back on the farm he left. This thing of working out by the day is not what it is cracked up to be. While it is true that a good carpenter gets good wages yet $2 or $2.50 don't go very far when flour, meat, potatoes and all kinds of vegetables have to be bought and paid for in cash. We who live on the farm think nothing of the cost when we go out and dig a pailful of potatoes and pick a mess of peas and beans, but let us move into town where all those things must be paid for in coin properly stamped and dated by your Uncle Samuel and to get that coin is harder and harder every year as the day laborer grows older.

The average farmer makes and accumulates more in a year than he thinks he does. Farming has so many side lines and branches that are continually being added to by the average well working farmer that, taken collectively they amount to considerable, and yet a person may think that after all the tide is flowing the wrong way. For instance there are the calves, and the little pigs that come every year, also the chickens and perhaps a colt or two. Then too, it is probable that something that represents a number of dollars is being added to the place in the way of buildings or implements every year. In figuring up at the end of the year these may be overlooked. We remember three years ago a neighbor got to looking at his prospects from the dark side and finally concluded to quit farming and go to doing something else. He thought he wasn't making anything but he soon found out his mistake. After all the accumulated property had been sold it came to so much more than he had expected that to say he was surprised is putting it mildly. In five minutes after he found out what his sale amounted to he looded at farming in a different light. In two weeks he had his teams bought back, paying a little premium to get them, and before the season opened he was ready with a full line of farm tools, etc., to begin his old work again. He had simply made a mistake in not figuring in the small things when he thought the old farm was not paying what it should.—Homestead.

During the week a couple of the rich people of the world while riding in an automobile in France met with a fatal accident. While going at a terrific speed the machine lost its balance and run into a tree and two were killed and the man steering it under a French name went crazy. Well, this is a harsh enough world to suggest a criticism. From every where come reports of the reckless manner of running these red and white devil machines and it is a wonder more accidents do not occur. It is said that the wealthy owners of the automobiles have become so arroganf in many instances that they hardly recognize the right of any one else to the roads of the country. Perhaps a few serious accidents are needed to teach them a lesson.

Besides being the outing season this is the harvest season. The kind of outing the farmer gets these summer days, is hardly in keeping with the outing season. Fourteen or fifteen hours of hard work a day is not conducive to the same kind of pleasure. At the same time nature has made the harvest season and the outing season come together and men have learned to make the best of it. Perhaps there is one piece of work which may be combined with the pleasures of the summer, that of hop picking. By some it is looked forward to and accepted as a substitute. It is healthful, invigorating and remunerating and has many bright sides to it.

The Chicago Record-Herald very truthfully remarks that there seems to be a tendency on the part of some people of a certain class to wink at abuses in cities for fear that a town's business interests will be injured if its citizens raise an outcry concerning its wickedness or its filthiness. As the Bishop of Syracuse says, they are the worst enemies of the cities whose interests they pretend to have at heart. It may not be advisable to magnify a cities wickedness or its unlovely features, but failure to make war upon wrongs where they exist is a policy fraught with civic discredit and eventual disaster.

According to the Brownsville Times, Halsey people are just now enjoying the enjoyable (?) privalege of indulging in a postoffice fight. We are told that the affair has assumed a warm aspect, and has reached out until local county politicians as well as congressman have become involved. W. M. Stewart is the man who is after Postmaster Power's official shoes. The outcome will be watched with much interest because of the fact that the result if Mr. Stewart is successful in ousting Mr. Powers, will lead to many a postoffice controversy throughout the state.

The game wardens of Oregon, Washington and California will petition Congress for the placing of 500 Elks in each of these states. These Elks are to come from Yellowstone Park, as the park contains over 25,000 of them. There are only about 1500 Elks in Oregon and an addition of 500 would be beneficial to those and to the general attractiveness of the state.

One of the attractions at the State Fair this year will be the Missouri Giantess standing 8 feet 4 inches in her stocking feet. She is direct from Missouri and will have to be shown! Don't fail to see her.

Over at Coos Bay the other day Joseph Andrulzskenijisiez and Pana Dziwoweizekszke were united in marriage. What a foolish woman to change her name.

Antoine Holeb, who has been so ill at the Scio hotel with appendicitis, has so far recovered as to be able to be up, and yesterday was taken to his home in the country.

Harry Boyle, who committed suicide yesterday, was a member of the Maccabee tent in this place for several years, but was suspended two months ago for non-payment of dues. He carried a certificate for $1000.—Lebanon E. A.

The Shasta Route.

In going over the famous "Shasta Route" of the Southern Pacific Co., the traveler ever finds something new to excite his admiration and interest. Starting at Portland one traverses the whole length of the Willamette Valley, the gem of the Northwest. Mt. Hood, Mt. Jefferson, and the Three Sisters and other snow-capped peaks are kept in sight for hours. The prunes, peaches, apples and other fruits are a delight in themselves. The crossing of the great mountain barrier between Oregon and California reveals the grandest mountain scenery in the United States. The wonderful array of towering mountains, and gorges into which we gaze from dizzy heights, forest clad mountain slopes streching up to the line of perpetual snow, and the foaming mauntain streams dashing fiercely down deep canons, now and then stopping for a short rest in ome quiet poll. After a days enjoyment of old Mt. Shasta, the finest peak on the continent, we drop raridly down the canon of the Sacramento to the broad plains of the Sacramento Valley in California, and thence through vineyards and orchards to San Francisco.

Why Go East

over the sun-burned, sage brush and alkali plains when you may just as well take a delightful, cool and comfortable ride through the heart of the Rocky Mountains in view of the grandest scenery on the American continent?

This you can do by traveling on the Rio Grande System, the far famed "Scenic Line of the World," the only transcontinental line passing through Salt Lake City, Glenwood Springs, Leadville, Colorado Springs and Denver enroute to eastern points.

Three daily express trains make close connections with all trains east and west and afford a choice of five distinct routes of travel. The equipment of these trains is the best, including free reclining chair cars, standard and tourist sleepers, a perfect dining car service, and also personally conducted excursion cars, each in charge of a competent guide whose business it is to look after the comfort of his guests. No more pleasant and inexpensive means of crossing the continent can be found than is provided by these excursions.

HOUSEWORK

Too much housework wrecks women's nerves. And the constant care of children, day and night, is often too trying for even a strong woman. A haggard face tells the story of the overworked housewife and mother. Deranged menses, leucorrhœa and falling of the womb result from overwork. Every housewife needs a remedy to regulate her menses and to keep her sensitive female organs in perfect condition.

WINE OF CARDUI

is doing this for thousands of American women to-day. It cured Mrs. Jones and that is why she writes this frank letter:

Glen Jeane, Ky., Feb. 10, 1901.
I am so glad that your Wine of Cardui is helping me. I am feeling better than I have felt for years. I am doing my own work without any help, and I washed last week and was not one bit tired. That shows that the Wine is doing me good. I am getting flesh better than I ever was before, and sleep good and eat hearty. Before I began taking Wine of Cardui, I used to have to lay down five or six times every day, but now I do not think of lying down through the day. MRS. RICHARD JONES.
