

The Santiam News.

IRA A. PHELPS, Publisher

SCIO, LINN COUNTY, OREGON, OCTOBER 24, 1932

What a howl would go up if the newspapers were to criticize individuals as freely as many people criticize the newspapers. Every issue of a live and reputable newspaper is a mantle of charity, and the matter left out—truth, not gossip—would often more than equal in volume the matter published. If the editor should get out a cold fact edition some day and then stand off on a corner and watch the result—what a picnic there would be! What a trembling in bosoms and shaking of knees! What gasping of teeth and cursing under breath! What a testing of scandal mongers, gossip-politicians, and parvenues with positions for public place! All would flee for the shades of darkness to hide them from the glaring light of truth.—Exchange.

Portland makes the announcement that the railroad of that city handled more cars during the month of September than during any previous September in the history of the city. That Portland is gaining ground as a commercial center of the Pacific Northwest is quite evident. But Portland is not gaining more in proportion than hundreds of smaller towns and villages throughout the state. Business is coming to the Northwest and will continue for years to come. No doubt we will experience our periods of depression but the general tendency will be greater efforts and greater accomplishments. Oregon is a good place to stay, also a good place to have your friends locate.

It might be well to suggest to fruit growers once more that good winter apples bring a good price and that they are always in demand. As Oregon's population increases the demand for apples will increase and it is about time that more new orchards were being planted. There is no crop that is cleaner or nicer to handle than big red apples, besides the work is such that the farmer and his family can do it without the expense of hired help, thereby keeping all of the profits. Prunes, plums, peaches and pears are all good fruit but the apple is the king of all fruit.

The horrible news comes from Kansas that a boy climbed a corn stalk to see how the corn was getting along and now the boy cannot climb down. The boy is entirely out of sight. Three men have undertaken to cut down the stalk with axes and save the boy from starvation, but it grows so fast that they can't hack twice in the same place. The boy is living on nothing but raw corn and has already thrown down over four bushels of corn.

Mr. Belding is to be hanged on Oct. 31 for having murdered his wife. He left a boy who is homeless. It is proposed to charge an admission fee of $5 to see the hanging, the money to be given to the boy. This is infamous. Nothing can justify the receipt of money for witnessing a hanging. Portland is a wealthy city and should do the right thing by the boy without resorting to this method.

Did you ever stop to think why a man advertises who is in business, and why one who is in business does not advertise? Well, one invites you to come and trade with him and the other, well he thinks he has enough business, or is too penurious and stingy to either sell you good goods or give you good weight. Of course there are exceptions to this rule, but just make a note of it when making your purchases and see if it isn't true.

If a unanimous viva voce vote the conviction of United Mine-workers accepted President Mitchell's arbitration plan shortly before noon Tuesday. Great cheers greeted the announcement of the result. The resolution as adopted carried with it a declaration that the strike is off and provides for an immediate resumption of work in the coal mines throughout the anthracite region.

A Missouri farmer has made a serious mistake in exposing himself to the gibes of a heartless world. He saw an advertisement of a "ten dollar fire escape," and the more he looked at the advertisement the more he wanted the fire escape. "I can't let a bargain like that go away," he murmured through his long whiskers. And then he sat down and mailed the two dollar bill.

In due time the fire escape arrived. It was an inexpensive copy of the Bible.

The story going the rounds of the press about a secret organization of negroes for the purpose of making war upon the whites is absurd. There could be but one end to such a contest should the colored people be foolish enough to inaugurate it—and we give them credit for enough sense to know it.

The Shasta Route.

In going over the famous "Shasta Route" of the Southern Pacific Co., the traveler ever finds something new to excite his admiration and interest. Starting at Portland and traversing the whole length of the Willamette Valley, the gem of the Northwest, Mt. Hood, Mt. Jefferson, and the Three Sisters and other snow-capped peaks are kept in sight for hours. The prunes, peaches, apples and other fruits are a delight in themselves. The crossing of the great mountain barrier between Oregon and California reveals the grandest mountain scenery in the United States. The wonderful array of towering mountains and gorges into which we gaze from dizzy heights, forest clad mountain slopes stretching up to the line of perpetual snow, and the foaming mountain streams dashing fiercely down deep canyons, now and then stopping for a short rest in some quiet pool. After a days enjoyment of old Mt. Shasta, the finest peak on the continent, we drop rapidly down the canon of the Sacramento to the broad plains of the Sacramento Valley in California, and thence through vineyards and orchards to San Francisco.

Why do Eat

over the sun-burned, sage brush and alkali plains when you may just as well take a delightful, cool and comfortable ride through the heart of the Rocky Mountains in view of the grandest scenery on the American continent.

This you can do by traveling on the Rio Grande System, the world's "Scenic Line of the World," the only transcontinental line passing through Salt Lake City, Glenwood Springs, Leadville, Colorado Springs and Denver enroute to eastern points.

Three daily express trains make close connections with all trains east and west and afford a choice of five distinct routes of travel. The equipment of these trains is the best, including first reclining chair cars, standard and tourist sleepers, a perfect dining car service, and also personally conducted excursion cars, each in charge of a competent guide whose business is to look after the comfort of his guests. The most pleasant and inexpensive means of crossing the continent can be found there is provided by these excursions.

Get a free sample of Chamberlain's Cough and Liver Tablets at E. C. Peery's drug store. They are easier to take and more pleasant in effect than pills. Their use is not followed by constipation as is often the case with pills.

Produce is still high, and notwithstanding I am selling everything but groceries without profit, I am still paying the very highest prices for produce, as I always have done. Don't forget that you save about 20 per cent by trading with me now.

How E. H. Hays

If anybody doubted that How Hays would sell his stock of goods down at cost we guess they will give up the idea if they will go into his place any time these days and see the way people buy goods. He seems to be wrapping them up by the wagon load.

Hon. Jefferson Myers, of Portland, was in Roseburg Thursday on legal business. Mr. Myers is a close adviser of people and events, and he finds a strong sentiment in many parts of the state, and among persons of all political beliefs, against the state legislature appropriating so large a sum as $500,000 for the Lewis & Clark Centennial exposition in Portland in 1935. This is a very great amount of money, and he is opposed for such a purpose by a state of the wealth and population of Oregon.—Review.

STOPS PAIN

Ever since the first appearance of my disease I have suffered with great pain in my side, back, stomach and legs, with terrible nervousness. I have been taking Wine of Cardui and Chamberlain's Black Plaster, and I passed the month of October without pain for the first time in years.

What is life worth to a woman suffering like Annie Davis suffered? Yet there are women in thousands of homes today who are bearing these terrible agonizing pains. Wine of Cardui is one of these we want to say that this will bring you permanent relief. Consult yourself with the knowledge that 1,000,000 women have been completely cured by Wine of Cardui. These women suffered from hemorrhages, irregular periods, headache, backache, and bearing down pains. Wine of Cardui will stop all these aches and pains for you. Purchase a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui to-day and take it in the privacy of your home.
