Sunday eight of the boys and men of this city took a very enjoyable winter party at the station at West Scio to see if the high water had taken out the bridge and when returning, as they were coming down a steep grade at about 15 miles an hour the handle on the car broke throwing Ray Esbleman in front of the car, which passed over him, turning him over and down with three others under the car. Mr. Esbleman had a large gash in his scalp and also fractured his skull. He is now doing as well as could be expected.

The high water in Scio did more or less damage but suffered little compared with other surrounding cities. The south approach of the Thomas creek bridge was slightly damaged and the Standard bridge above Scio was carried completely out. J. N. Morris lost part of the walk running around his house, and several others lost some trifling things. At Albany the big steel bridge is damaged about $200, and at Jefferson that bridge is damaged at about $500. The Sanderson, Lebanon and Stanton bridges lost office or less of their approach. The Green's bridge, between Scio and Jefferson is not damaged any, in fact it is the only bridge in the county which is not in need of repairs. Some parties here took an empty coffin up above town and turned it loose in Thomas creek, and when it came floating through town caused quite an excitement, some being under the impression that a grave yard had washed away, and after that all kinds of coffins and skeletons were seen coming down Thomas creek.

A good story is told on a young couple living near this city, on the Linn county side of the river, says the Jefferson Review. A few nights since they heard a racket in the house and imagined burglars were getting in their work. Hastily arising, they, in company with a young lady who was visiting them, set out for a neighbor, where they arrived all right, with the young man valiantly clutching a big stick of stove wood. On their return home next morning the racket was found to have been caused by the family cat.

Tendency of the Times.

The tendency of medicine science is toward preventive measures. The best thought of the world is being given to prevent rather than to cure. It has been fully demonstrated that pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical have to contend with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pneumonia always results from an attack of influenza and it has been observed that this remedy counteracts any tendency of these diseases toward pneumonia. This has been fully proven in many cases in which this remedy has been used during the great prevalence of diphtheria and grip in recent years and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Pneumonia often results from a slight cold when no danger is apprehended until it is suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing and pains in the chest, then it is announced that the pneumonia. Be on the safe side and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as contracted. It always cures for sale by all Dealers.

For State Land Agent.

Salem, Ore., Jan. 21—Governor Chamberlain today appointed J. W. Morrow, of Steppner, Morrow county, to succeed L. B. Geer as state land agent. The appointment will take effect April 1st. Morrow served four terms as clerk of Morrow county and one term as state senator for that county. He has been eminently successful in business. The appointment of a state land agent at this time came as a surprise, and probably indicates that the governor intends to make all the appointments soon and thus relieve himself of considerable trouble.
