"In Poetry of the Oregon."

"It ripens to you, when the fruit hangs ripe and sweet on the tree late in February, or early in March. Then the blossoms break out, and the trees are yellow with golden glances, and white with orange flowers. It may be that a flurry of snow has whitened the mountain tops, and then you have an artistic background for a tropical forest. The air is full of sunshine, and heavy with fragrance as night comes on, and then if the moon be shining, you may hear at midnight through open windows, the sing of the mockingbird in the scented grove, and it never seemed so seductive before.

An experience like this is possible any winter, and it is worth a journey of a thousand miles, while you can have it, by taking the scenic Shasta Route through the grand and picturesque Sierra and Shasta Mountains, to Northern California. Complete information about the trip and descriptive matter, relating about California, may be had from any Southern Pacific agent or W. E. CONAN,
Gen. Pass. Agt., S. P. Co. Lines in Oregon, Portland Oregon.

Five Good Reasons.

That the Rio Grande route is the most popular one between the Pacific coast and the east, is evidenced by the fact that the greater per cent of transcontinental travelers use it.

First, the scenic attractions in view are unequalled in the world.

Second, the daily personally conducted tourist car excursions being especially adapted for ladies traveling alone or with children, affords a comfortable mode of travel at rates within reach of all.

Third, it is the only route between the East and West passing directly through Salt Lake City, or modern Zion.

Fourth, the choice of two distinct routes through the heart of the Rocky Mountains.

Fifth, three fast through trains daily between Ogden and Denver equipped with every modern convenience.

There are many other reasons why this route is the most comfortable and enjoyable in the whole country.

You can learn a great deal on the subject of through travel, and receive some very beautiful and interesting booklets by calling on or writing to the undersigned, W. C. McBride, Gen'l Agent,

Agent, 124 Third Street, Portland, Ore.

Circuit Court.

Department No. 2 of the circuit court convened April 21, 1903.

Judge R. P. Boise presiding. A. R.
Weatherford was appointed bailiff.

A motion in the divorce case of Ira J. Hull vs. Mary E. Hull was heard and $50 alimony granted.

E. J. Rumbough vs. F. M. Rumbough; divorce, on grounds of adultery with one Myrtle Berry, was granted.

W. S. Foster vs. O. C. Williams, to quiet title; default and decree for plaintiff.

The principal attraction, however, and the one that drew 350 spectators to the court house, was the divorce case of Laura E. Froman vs. Thomas Froman. The plaintiff asks for a divorce from defendant, alleging adultery committed with one May Davis, or Williams, on February 12, 1903. Other acts of cruel and inhuman treatment are also alleged.

The defense denies all the allegations of the complaint, alleges a conspiracy existing between the complainant and May Davis, whereby the latter sought to compromise defendant. D. J. Murphy and J. F.
Watts, of Portland, and Gale S. Hill, of Albany, represented the plaintiff and Weatherford & Wynn the defendant.

Miss Ida Allen, sister of Mrs. Froman, was the first witness examined and was on the stand about two hours. She told of being present with her sister on February 12th when the defendant was found in the bedroom of May Davis at four o'clock in the morning.

Mrs. Mabel Cunningham, of Halsey, formerly in the employ of the Froman family, testified that the defendant had made improper advances to her during her stay at his home.

Orlo W. Froman, son of plaintiff and defendant, corroborated in part the testimony of his aunt, Miss Allen.

The plaintiff testified that she first met May Williams in Albany about February 1st, at the residence of Rev. Pierce. She had placed an advertisement in the Herald for a girl to do housework a few days previous and the Davis woman answered it.
She took her out the next day and the Davis woman remained until after the trouble occurred. She also told substantially the same story related by her sister regarding the relation between the defendant and the Davis woman.

The cross-examination of Mrs.
Froman was concluded about 10:30 Wednesday, after a searching cross-examination. She told a straightforward story and the attorneys for the defense failed to break down her testimony.

Thomas Froman, the defendant, took the stand and denied every charge in the complaint. He admitted being in the room of Nettie Dempsy and May Davis, but said he only talked to them. He denied any intimate relations with the women. While Attorney Murphy was conducting the cross-examination regarding the belief of Mrs.
Froman concerning secret societies, Judge Boise created considerable merriment by remarking: "Well, all members of secret societies can't do worse than go to jail, as that is what Mrs. Froman was supposed to have said concerning the Masonic fraternity."

Mrs. Nettie Dempsy, of Waterloo formerly Nettie Connett, of Albany and elsewhere, testified that she had worked for the Fromans; that the charges in the complaint were false; that the affidavit submitted by the plaintiff which she had heretofore signed and sworn to was false. She was one of the star witnesses for the defense in some particulars.

Mrs. Emma Rumbough testified concerning a conversation between Mrs. Dempsy and other parties.

Jacob Weiss and May Baker told their stories about the relations of Mrs. Froman and Arthur Bindings.
Their dates were somewhat mixed, but they were sure that they caught the two in a compromising attitude, at least once or twice.

The trial was completed Wednesday evening and Judge Boise rendered a decision at 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

Several witnesses were examined in rebuttal and the attorneys a gain the case. Gale S. Hill made the opening argument and was followed by J. R. Watt and J. R. Weatherford. Their addresses were masterly efforts. They claimed a conspiracy, dating back for several months between plaintiff and other parties for the purpose of securing property from defendant. In summing up the testimony they sought to build a chain to prove this conspiracy.

The standing of the defendant, who has been counted among Linn county's substantial and reputable citizens since 1857, goes a long way in sustaining this view of the case.

Dan J. Murphy closed the case for the plaintiff.

Judge Boise rendered a decision Thursday in favor of Mrs. Froman, granting him a divorce, the children and the property.

The Wastes of the Body.

Every seven days the blood, muscles and bones of a man of average size loses to pounds of worn-out tissue. This waste cannot be replenished and the health and strength kept up without perfect digestion.

When the stomach and digestive organs fail to perform their functions, the strength lets down, health gives way, and disease sets up. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all of the wholesome food that may be eaten into the kind of blood that rebuilds the tissues and protects the health and strength of the mind and body.

Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. It is an ideal spring tonic. Sold by E. C.
Peery.

A Sliding Farm.

E. A. Evans is somewhat astonished over a peculiar land slide which is taking place on his farm just east of the city. A large body of land is gradually sliding down the hill, it having moved about 40 feet now and is still moving. One of the peculiar features about the slide is that during the dry season last year the ground cracked to a considerable depth, and when the rains came the ground commenced to move down hill.—Brownsville now and then, at bed time will cure constipation, biliousness, and liver trouble. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the famous little pills that cure by arousing the secretions, moving the bowels gently, yet effectually, and giving such tone and strength to the glands of the stomach and liver that the cause of the trouble is removed entirely, and if their use is continued for a few days there will be no return of the complaint. Sold by E. C. Peery.

Governor Chamberlain last evening appointed J. W. Esker, of Forest Grove, state game warden to succeed Mr. Quimby. He is said to be a capable man. The only appointment remaining to be made by the Governor is that of adjutant general, and it is stated that this will not be made until Nov. 1.

GENERAL NEWS

GATHERED FROM ALL PARTS OF
THE WORLD.

A gathering of the important happenings of the past week, most likely to prove interesting to our many readers.

Governor Chamberlain has appointed M. H. Biggs, a well-known attorney at Prineville, to succeed W.
A. Booth as county judge of Crook county. Both Biggs and Booth are Democrats.

The reported scandal at the state penitentiary is now said to have been a fake. Mrs. Carlisle, the winning prisoner, it is now declared, having made a false report, believing that it would give her her liberty.

The Roseburg Plinkdealer, one of the strongest regularism papers of the state commends the recent state legislature for just two laws, the ones requiring hanging at the state penitentiary and the protection of song birds.

SEAWEED GATHERING

Popular Diversion on the Beaches of Summer Resorts.

Prettily Mounted Specimens Are Taken Home by Seafarers as Souvenirs of the Season at the Seaside.

Seaweeds can be gathered at all seasons of the year, but are at their best in the summer and early autumn.

Some of them float free of anchorage in the ocean and others are attached to rocks and other stationary objects by parts which are known as "holdfasts" and look like roots, but furnish no nutriment to the plant. An advantage of this work is the fact that the plants may be gathered in the summer and not be pressed until it is convenient. Even the sun-dried products packed up on the seashore and carried home will retain their color and meaning and hold their tangled and mean-less masses into delicate traceries of pretty green, brown and red hues, says an eastern exchange.

In order to make the specimens of value, either as displays of nature's handiwork or as motifs for china and other decoration, they must be mounted. Stiff cards are excellent for the purpose. They can be white or tinted, so taste dictates. With the cards and seaweeds and a couple of deep basins of salt water one is ready to begin work. A pair of tweezers with which to pick up the delicate structures will be found useful. Float a small mass of specimens in one of the basins.

Then with the tweezers, as it were, insert into its parts, pick out a single plant and wash it free from all salts and impurities in the second basin.

When this is done plunge one of the cards under the water and bring it directly beneath the seaweed specimen.

This work must be done under water.
When the delicate specimens are spread out to the best advantage withdraw the card a little way from the water and observe the result. The specimens will adhere without any aid.
As the arrangement progresses the card is gradually lifted from the water until every portion is complete. If a change in the arrangement is desired, plunge the card into the water carefully and make the alterations. When the work is finished the middle should have a natural shape and from it the specimens should branch on either side. Drain off all the water possible and cover the specimens with white cotton cloth to prevent the seaweeds from adhering to anything else. When all the specimens are ready press them under heavy weights for several hours. If the effort has been painstaking beautiful souvenirs will result.

Persons who have never collected seaweeds are sure to find in the occupation relief from the conventionality with which seashore resorts abound and a pleasant resource for leisure hours when fancy work and summer novelties have lost their charms.

Then, too, with the work there are sure to come delightful surprises, for the inconspicuous water growths developing under proper treatment assume wonderful charms of form and color. To know the names of the plants is of benefit, of course, but without a botanical term at hand one may still claim the title of collector.

Nature is kind in Norway.

Although coal is scarce, and forests cess to grow many miles southward, the people of the rugged zones of Norway have an inexhaustible supply of peat, which is more easily worked into shape for fuel than either coal or wood, and makes a better fire than either.

Writes W. E. Curtis, in Chicago Record-Herald: Peat bogs are found everywhere in arctic Norway, on the desolate table lands, on the rocky sides of the mountains, in the bottoms of the valleys, in the inhabited districts inland, along the shores of the fjords and upon nearly all the islands. The peat bogs of northern Norway, so far as surveyed, cover an area of 4,300 square miles, or nearly four per cent of the surface of the entire country.
