CHEMISTRY OF CONFECTIONS.

Importance of Pure Milk and Sweet Eggs in the Manufacture of Sweets.

In four confections or cakes—not sugar confections or sweets proper, the principal substances used are flour, milk, eggs and sugar. For confectionery the weaker and softer flours, containing much starch and little gluten, are preferable. Milk is used as a moistener instead of water, because of its richness, average pure new milk containing 40 per cent. of fat, 3.5 per cent. protein, 4.5 per cent. sugar, 0.7 per cent. ash, 8.8 per cent. nonfat solids, and 78.4 per cent. of water. It is not only the fat in the milk that is of service to the confectioner, but also its proteins, which, though like the white of eggs, have no very pronounced taste, yet confer a fullness of flavor and a creamy texture. The white of water would not possess. In baked goods the proteins of milk produce a moisture and mellowness of character, and new milk therefore gives to confectionery richness through its fat, sweetness through its sugar and mellowness through its protein.

Next to milk, eggs are one of the most important moistering agents to the confectioner. In confectionery the white of eggs consists of proteins dissolved in water, while the yolk contains, in addition to the protein, fat and coloring matter. The white of eggs may be viewed as a solution of one part albumen in seven parts of water, while the whole egg about two-fifths of the solids consist of fat and three-fifths of protein, while the water of the whole egg amounts, roughly, to three-quarters of its weight. Another moistening agent used by confectioners is glycerine.

Many aerating agents are used by confectioners, the chief of them being ammonium-carbonate, usually called "ammonia," or volatile sodium bicarbonate, tartaric acid, cream of tartar, says the Scientific American. The chemical action of these on the confectioner's paste is to change the sugar present by fermentation into alcohol and carbonic acid gas, which has the mechanical effect of distending and lightening the dough. When tartaric acid and sodium bicarbonate are mixed in equivalent quantities, the result by neutralization is water, and the salt attacks the carbonate, liberating all its carbon-dioxide and forming normal sodium tartrate. The latter is comparatively tasteless, and the presence of the quantity produced as a residue from the amount of acid and soda necessary for the aeration of an average dough is not sufficient to injuriously affect the flavor of the resultant goods.

CONGRESSMEN AND MOURNING

All Would Have Worn Orange Fifty Years Ago for President's Death.

"Fifty years ago members of congress and of the senate would have been compelled by public opinion to wear orange on their arms for 30 days after the death of a president," remarked an ex-member who had served before the civil war, according to the New York Times.

"Up to about 1850, whenever a member of congress died the resolution of sympathy was invariably carried with it a provision that members should wear mourning. Deaths of members were of course less frequent, for the congressional body was numerically smaller. What, the increase of the membership, which led naturally to a higher death rate, was the direct cause of abolishing the custom."

"A number of members of congress now die every year, and it was not thought advisable to keep members of the house and senate in practically perpetual mourning."

MAYOR OF ASHLAND HEARS.

FOR SIX YEARS HE HAS BEEN GROWING DEAF—NOW HE CAN HEAR—ALL THROUGH DR. DARRIN'S SKILL.

—Albany Herald.

Those who are disposed to doubt Dr. Darrin's cures will have their doubts shaken on reading the testimonials of Mayor R. P. Neil and Mr. Rhodes. There are no persons in the state whose word will go further to substantiate the doctor's skill in treating the afflicted. There can be no doubt or question of the curative power of electricity, judging from the extraordinary cases of cure performed by Dr. Darrin. The great advance of electro magnetic treatment is that it brings relief in a large number of cases confessedly beyond the reach of the ordinary remedies of the physicians, and Dr. Darrin has enforced a belief in the curative powers of electricity upon the public by his remarkable cures. It seems that the uses to which electricity is applied is not confined to the arts, but is destined to do what medical and surgical skill has failed to accomplish.

Mayor Neil's Case.

To the editor: Six years prior to consulting Dr. Darrin I had been deaf in both ears. One ear was badly affected. One month's electrical and medical treatment has radically cured me. I most emphatically commend Dr. Darrin's new mode of treatment to all similarly afflicted. Will gladly answer questions as to the treatment and cure.

R. P. NEIL, Mayor of Ashland.

Mr. Rhodes' Good Luck.

Dr. Darrin: Your treatment for the past eight months has cured me of kidney trouble, inflammation at the neck of bladder and diabetes. For years I have been obliged to relieve my bladder many times a day and night, rendering sleep almost impossible. I now feel like a new man. I shall never fail to consult you when I need medical aid. The treatment you gave me for my debilitated condition from the effects of the grippe was entirely successful. I can be referred to at any time at Pendleton, Oregon.

ELMER RHODES.

Dr. Darrin's Place of Business.

Dr. Darrin is located at the Revere Hotel until Oct. 1st, and will give free examinations to all from 10 to 5 or 7 to 8 daily.

Very Remarkable Cure of Diarrhoea

"About six years ago for the first time in my life I had a sudden and severe attack of diarrhoea," says Mrs. Alice Miller of Morgan, Texas. "I got temporary relief, but it came back again and again, and for six long years I have suffered more misery and agony than I can tell. It was worse than death. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for physicians' prescriptions and treatment without avail. Finally we moved to Bosque county, our present home, and one day I happened to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with a testimonial of a man who had been cured by it. The case was so similar to my own that I concluded to try the remedy. The result was wonderful. I could hardly realize that I was well again, or believe it could be so after having suffered so long, but that one bottle of medicine, costing but a few cents, cured me." For 27 1/2 years.

A Wonderful Invention.

Catarrh of the Stomach.

When the stomach is overloaded, when food is taken into it that fails to digest, it decays and inflames the mucous membrane, exposing the nerves, and causes the glands to secrete mucus, instead of the natural juices of digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach. For years I suffered with Catarrh of the Stomach, caused by indigestion. Doctors and medicines failed to benefit me until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure—J. C. Peery, R. Rhea, Coppell, Tex. Sold by E. C. Peery.
