The Question of Dyes

Used by manufacturers of hosiery is of great importance. You should know about it, for cheap dyes are poisonous and are used frequently to make a larger profit at the wearers expense.

We guarantee all dyes used in all Shawknit half-hose for men, and ribbed hose for children, to be the costliest and purest dyes made. Our dyes are chemically tested by our own experts and are positively free from all injurious matter.

Our products are not affected by perspiration, never fade, stain, or run. Our colors will stand acid test—the most absolute test known.

Thirteen is an unlucky number all right enough. According to the Portland weather bureau it has been thirteen years since Oregon got such a juicy storm period as that of the past week. It was almost enough to satisfy a man from western Kansas or Nebraska, and more than enough for the natives, who are inclined to grumble if they get less than twelve months of sunshine every year.

New ads this week are those of H. J. Jones, F. G. Will and Reeves Department Store, all of Albany. We wish to all your special attention to Reeves ad as it offers rare bargains, but to secure them you must cut out the ad or take the paper containing it, otherwise you cannot secure them. This was done to test THE NEWS as an advertising medium, so by presenting this ad you not only take advantage of some rare bargains but also show Mr. Reeves that THE NEWS readers are up-to-date and quick to take advantage of low prices when sold by a reliable house.

The bank of this city has received a letter from the Corn Exchange National Bank of Philadelphia, inquiring for a gentleman by the name of John Shellenberger who died some place in Oregon leaving a vast estate. The same inquiry has been appearing in various papers throughout the state and his wealth has been set as high as two million. No such individual with two million ever lived or died in Oregon and if such a man ever lived it must have been in the Orient instead of Oregon. So far as our knowledge goes only one millionaire ever died in this state and that was Hon. H. W. Corbett.

The average editor secretly hopes that sometime, somewhere, somehow, somebody may come to him and unselfishly commend him for something he has said or done, but most of us do not expect it—on the other hand he may probably go down to the end dodging swipes, ignoring cutting personal sarcasms from jealous minds, edging away from ill-natured criticism, and in the other ways steadfastly endeavoring to avoid as many of the nastiest and unpleasant things in this life as possible, sincerely trusting that when peace finally comes and all in life's fitful fever is over so far as worldly affairs are concerned that nobody will take the trouble to cast stones or other deadly missiles at the editor, and that he will be hailed on a trot to the nearest cemetery.

Before the election of Chamberlain for Governor there were lots of people who denounced him as a man at no force of character and that because he was a "jolly good fellow" he had no backbone and was therefore unfit to be governor. These same howlers are now howling that he has too much backbone in demanding a pledge from the legislature that they will not consider any question but that of the tax law if he convenes them in special session. Several exchanges make all manner of remarks about the same, such as suggesting a "nigger in the wood pile." Some of these chronic growlers would rather the legislature would meet and spend thousands of dollars and accomplish no more than if they do as the governor requests. For once we have a governor who is a governor and one who looks to the interests of the taxpayer, not to the useless expenditure of money.

In the amount of produce shipped Seio merchants lead, shipping more produce from Seio than any other city of its size in the valley. Hibler & Gill Co. alone shipped for Thanksgiving market over $3,000 worth of turkeys, a large per cent of which was brought from neighboring cities, such as Jefferson, Lebanon and several others. As long as Mr. Hibler has been in business in Seio he has had the reputation of paying more for produce than any other merchant in the valley, a reputation which has drew the farmers for miles around and who would otherwise have gone to other towns. Hibler & Gill Co. paid 17c per pound for turkeys and secured a great many from Jefferson whose merchants paid from 15c to 16c per pound.

He came to Oregon with his family in 1877 and located near Mehama, Marion county, where he resided until 1899 when he removed to Seio and resided here until his death. H. S. JOHNSTON.

J. P. Crabtree brought us the other day a copy of The Seio News published by H. H. King, January 11, 1871. Contained in it are the ads of Irvine & Morris, general merchandise and also J. M. Johns, general merchandise, which shows that in 1871 Seio had as many general merchandise stores as there are now. We copy the following: "New Store—Snyder & Richards are preparing to open up a new store in Seio. They will occupy the store room formerly occupied by J. R. Lake."

In the contest for Mayoralty of this city, before the common council on last Tuesday, Hon. J. B. Irvine was declared Mayor for the present term."

The Seio Legislature has been changed to the Seio Debating Society, J. C. Sumner president, Chas. Johns secretary.

We also notice the ad of Wm. Morrow and brother, which makes four general stores Seio had in 1871 as against two now. The only ad we notice in which the same party is now engaged in the same business in Seio is that of E. J. Daley, painter.

Following is the ad of I. C. Dickey who lately became a resident of our city but who then conducted a furniture store:

Now if you can't pay down the dust From three to six months I will trust; And if my work will suit at all Don't forget or me to call. You'll find me in Mechanic's Hall Where I'll attend to one and all.

Convicted of Manslaughter.

Albert Martin, the Indian blacksmith, tried in the Federal Court for the murder of U. S. Grant, is guilty of manslaughter.

After remaining closeted in the jury room for seven hours, beginning at 11.15 Tuesday morning the jury late in the afternoon returned a verdict finding Martin guilty of the lesser degree of the crime of taking human life.

In reaching the verdict it is quite evident there was a compromise and from the fact that seven hours were consumed in reaching an agreement there can be no doubt that part of the jurors were in favor of a verdict of murder in the first degree.

Court House News.

Judge Barnett held an adjourned session of department one. A motion of the plaintiff in the case of E. A. Truelove agt. Albany, to strike out the answer on the grounds that it was verified by the Mayor instead of the recorder, upon whom the complaint was served, was overruled. The plaintiff gave notice that he would move to strike out parts of the answer to be heard Dec. 15, at 1 p. m., at which time the case of Mary Ann Powers agt. S. B. Powers to quit title will also be tried.
