Economy in medicine must be measured by two things—cost and effect. It cannot be measured by either alone. It is greatest in that medicine that does the most for the money—that radically and permanently cures at the least expense. That medicine is

Hood's Sarsaparilla

It purifies and enriches the blood, cures pimples, eczema and all eruptions, tired, languid feelings, loss of appetite and general debility.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla and found it reliable and giving perfect satisfaction. It takes away that tired feeling, gives energy and puts the blood in good condition." Miss EVELYN COOPER, 433 10th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

THAT COWBOY BREAKFAST.

Man Who Cooked the Steak for the President Tells of It.

The incident, or whatever of President Roosevelt's Colorado experience which will make his great western tour memorable—the unique entertainment that furnished Mr. Roosevelt the right kind of Western welcome and gave Hugo, Col., a permanent place on the map—was the cowboy breakfast served to the national chief early on the morning of May 4, says the Denver Post.

The cook who cooked the breakfast and who glories in this exalted bit of cookery, is now in Denver. This is "Jack" Keppel, the whole-souled cowboy who deserted his herds and rode many long miles in order to be on hand and officiate at Hugo.

"I was very proud," said quiet Mr. Keppel—and, by the way, nobody can describe the great event and the causes leading up to it, as he can—"quite proud when the Lincoln County Cattle Growers' Association selected me to take charge of the cooking of the cowboy breakfast which we had determined to serve to President Roosevelt.

"The Holt Live Stock Company's 'chuck' wagon was driven down to Hugo for my use and it was well supplied, as it was ready to start next day on its regular round-up route.

"As my assistant for the great enterprise I had that veteran of the range, John Heyman, as good a cowboy as ever drew breath, so long as he was awake, and, thus fixed up, I felt fully equal to the great undertaking ahead of me.

"On Friday preceding the eventful Monday, May 4, when the President was to come through, I went down to Hugo from my ranch at Arroyo, to get everything shipshape and in order. On that evening we swung the pot rack and cleared a space about the rear of the chuck wagon and on Saturday we unpacked the provisions and laid in butter and such things as had been overlooked.

"On Sunday, just to get my hand in and have things in working order, I cooked a big dinner for 150 natives and a couple of dozen 'rawhides' from Denver. I hadn't done any cooking for five years, and I was a little shaky about the job I had ahead of me, but as we were to have a large crowd, I came back for more conviction that John and I could do the big stunt as well as anybody.

"On Sunday night about 8:30 I closed off the feeding and left nothing on but the beans, which cooked over a roaring fire till 12 o'clock. While the beans were cooking a number of old-timers gathered around the camp fire and swapped lies and sung songs and kept me company. It was a fine night, and they were all sorry when 12 o'clock came and I took off the beans and drove them all away. And I hated to do it, too, but it was late enough, and I had important work ahead of me for the morning.

"I rolled out my bedding right alongside the camp fire and turned in to my blankets a little before 1 o'clock. I could hear the others celebrating up-town and I wished I could be with them, but I knew that would never do for me.

"A few hours later I was wailing John Heyman to get him awake and heating around with a club to find daylight in the dark. The first thing I did after making up my fire was to put the beans back on. John and I then made twelve gallons of coffee in three big pots and got the French fried potatoes ready. The next thing was to make the biscuits and put them in the Dutch ovens ready to bake. I made eight dozen of these and patted them out round and smooth. It's quite a job to make good biscuits, and I bet I was very particular with these. I wanted to have 'em just right when the President came, so I went over to the depot and found out from the telegraph operator the exact moment when he would arrive.

"When we saw the smoke of the pilot train we heaped the fire on the tops of the Dutch ovens. This train brought the Governor and Congressman Brooks. They were too busy getting ready to receive the President to want to eat anything, and the biscuits were not done, anyhow. When the President's train hove in sight we got pretty excited around that camp fire, I can tell you. I had picked out a big T-bone steak, the finest one I ever saw, for the President.

"As the train was slowing up I nodded to John Heyman, my assistant, to drop the big steak onto the hot surface of the oven, which was on the rack, and heated up just right. By this time the biscuits were done to a turn and everything was ready. I had heard discouraging reports to the effect that President Roosevelt would not be allowed time enough at Hugo for him to get off and eat, but I knew if I could once get him in range of that beefsteak where he could get a whiff of that steak he would have to stay and eat.

"Well, I have cooked many a steak, but I was certainly more proud of that one than of any I ever turned out. It was a regular 'beaut,' and when Teddy cut into it and munched the first mouthful and I saw the tickled expression of his face I was so proud—well, I just had to swing my hat and holler."

An Accomplished Monarch.
The King of Portugal is, personally, one of the most notable of living monarchs. His accomplishments with a gun are sufficiently well known, and also as a revolver shot he is hard to beat; but his tastes are very broad, for he is an accomplished landscape painter, whose work has before now won a medal at the Paris Exposition, and, like his kinsman, the Prince of Monaco, he is deeply interested in scientific pursuits. Of all monarchs he is probably the most accessible for, though he has an immense number of duties as the first servant of his country, he does not take the trappings of royalty very seriously.

SISTERS OF CHARITY

Use Pe-ru-na for Coughs, Colds, Grip and Catarrh—A Congressman's Letter.

In every country of the civilized world Sisters of Charity are known. Not only do they minister to the spiritual and intellectual needs of the charges committed to their care, but they also minister to their bodily needs.

With so many children to take care of and to protect from climate and disease, these wise and prudent Sisters have found Pe-ru-na a never failing safeguard.

Dr. Hartman receives many letters from Catholic Sisters from all over the United States. A recommendation recently received from a Catholic institution in Detroit, Mich., reads as follows:

Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio:
Dear Sir:—The young girl who used the Pe-ru-na was suffering from laryngitis, and loss of voice. The result of the treatment was most satisfactory. She found great relief, and after further use of the medicine we hope to be able to say she is entirely cured.—Sisters of Charity.

The young girl was under the care of the Sisters of Charity and used Pe-ru-na for catarrh of the throat with good results as the above letter testifies. Send to the Pe-ru-na Medicine Company.

Peculiar to Samoa.
Kava, the national beverage of Samoa, is a wholesome and refreshing drink, though not agreeable to the unaccustomed palate. A really good Kava-bowl is a curiosity difficult to obtain. CATARRH CANNOT BE CURED
With local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quick medicine, but it is prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best known ingredients, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.

Winter is coming
BRINGING CATARRH

Every Catarrh sufferer dreads the coming of winter, for with the first breath of the "ice-king" this miserable disease is fanned into life and all the disgusting symptoms return. The nostrils are stopped up and the throat can be kept clear of mucus secretions only by continual hawking.

COULD NOT HEAR THE TICK OF A CLOCK.
Watertown, Pa., July 13, 1903.
Dear Sir:—I have used S. S. S. for Catarrh of the throat, and have found it an excellent remedy for same. I had been troubled with this disease for years and tried many things in an effort to get relief, but nothing did me any permanent good until I began S. S. S. I had a discharge from my ear and my hearing was so badly affected that I could not hear the tick of a clock. I was in bad shape when I began my medicine. S. S. S. has done away with the discharge and my hearing has been wonderfully improved; so much so that I can now carry on a conversation in an ordinary tone, whereas a year ago this was impossible.
Your medicine has done me a world of good and I do not hesitate to give it the credit it deserves.
W. F. KRUMHINE.

NO SIGN OF CATARRH IN THIRTEEN YEARS.
Krebs, Ind. Terr., Aug. 1, 1903.
Dear Sir:—About thirteen years ago I used your remedy for Catarrh. I had been troubled with it for about nine years, but since taking S. S. S. I have never been troubled with it. I feel able to recommend S. S. S. as a sure cure for Catarrh.
T. MILLWEE.

The way to cure Catarrh thoroughly and permanently is to cleanse the blood of the unhealthy secretions that keep the membranes of the body inflamed, and nothing does this so surely and promptly as S. S. S. As long as the blood is poisoned with Catarrhal matter the discharge of mucus and other disgusting symptoms of the miserable disease will continue. S. S. S. goes to the fountain source of the blood and purifies and enriches the blood, and so invigorates and tones up the system that catching cold and contracting Catarrh is not so likely to occur. Keep the blood in order and winter's coming brings none of the discomforts of Catarrh. Write us particulars of your case, and let our physicians help you get rid of this blood-tainting and stubborn disease. We make no charge whatever for medical advice.

Fainted on Broadway

Woman in an Unconscious Condition Found on Sidewalk.

Upon Examination at the Hospital, Her Body was Discovered to be Covered with Scars, Caused by the Hypodermic Injection of Morphine—Facts Published as Warning to Other Women.

The above headlines recite the actual experience of a poor wreck of a woman who had once held an honorable and lucrative position in a large mercantile house in New York. Her health began to fail, and instead of taking rest and proper medical treatment she resorted to stimulants and morphine.

The hospital physician discovered that her primary trouble was an affection of the womb, which could readily have been cured in the first stages. If when she had first felt those severe pains in the back, the terrible headaches, the constant sense of fullness, soreness and pain in the pelvic region, she had heeded the warning that serious troubles were in store, and commenced a regular treatment with the Pinkham Remedies, as did Mrs. Rober of Chicago, whose letter follows, the polypos in the womb would have been dissolved and passed away, and to-day she would have been a well woman.

Why will women let themselves drift along in this way, when there is monumental proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is daily relieving thousands of women from this very trouble? There is no excuse for any woman who suffers to go without help. Mrs. Pinkham is very glad indeed to give her personal advice to any one who will write for it, and the following letter simply goes to prove that the Vegetable Compound will positively cure female ills:

"Since the birth of my baby I suffered from womb trouble, backache, irregular menstruation, also intense nervousness.

"After trying different remedies with no relief I was induced to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. To my surprise and delight I found after taking my first bottle very great improvement. I continued its use and it has made me a well woman.

"I am so grateful to you for my recovery that I wish to thank you, and if this testimonial will be of any use to other suffering women, you have my full permission to publish it."—MRS. MARY ROBER, 5492 Ellis Ave., Chicago, Ill.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Free Medical Advice to Woman.
Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.
