The Southern Pacific is about to establish a traveling school for the instruction of trainmen in the duties of their positions. Every branch of the business will be thoroughly taught and each trainman must know all about the narrow gauge. It is believed that this instruction will eliminate to a great extent danger of wrecks from the misunderstanding of signals and other blunders which have been prolific causes of loss of life and property.

The statutes of Oregon provide for the biennial restriction of members of the state to entitle them to exercise their franchise. The last general registration under the law took place in 1902 between the first Monday in January and the 15th of May. The time for another registration has now arrived, the law providing that it shall be held between the two dates mentioned above, beginning in January 1900, and biennially thereafter.

The news was received in this city Wednesday by Aunt Mary Hunt of the death of her nephew, Ben Capell, at Woodville, Wash., who committed suicide by shooting himself through the head with a 30-30 calibre rifle. He was not a drinking man but on New Year's day became slightly intoxicated and his friends joked him about it. He took the matter to heart and it is supposed brooded over it until he shot himself. He was 35 years old and has three brothers and one sister living in California. He was raised in California by Aunt Mary Hunt, and his death was a great shock to her. The remains were brought to Scio Thursday and interred in the Masonic cemetery.

THE MASTICATION CURE.

A German Scientist's Remedy for Indigestion on the Scandinavian Principle.

Mastication is the latest cure for the ill which afflict mankind, says a writer in the Brooklyn Eagle. A German scientist has discovered that indigestion and all the complaints arising from it can be either prevented or cured by obliging patients to bite up thoroughly everything that enters their mouths. Even liquids, such as water, must be chewed to some extent, and soup must receive as much mastication as if it were composed of dry bread crumbs. According to the scientist who advocates this method, 85 per cent of the stomach troubles of mankind are caused by improper methods of consuming food and drink. The human mouth, he points out, is neither a mere receptacle for food, nor is it designed solely for tasting. It is as much a digestive organ as the stomach itself. More than half of the process of digestion, he says, should take place in the mouth. It is when the work which should have been performed by the teeth is thrown upon the stomach that indigestion and other troubles ensue. Animals do not have indigestion, says the German discoverer, because those which have been given ruminant teeth never think of bolting their food, as mankind does. The dog bolts his food and does not suffer from indigestion simply because nature has provided it with a digestive apparatus which renders chewing more or less superfluous. Nature, however, stopped with the animals. No man yet investigated has been found to possess the dog's digestive abilities.

A heavy fine was assessed upon those who did not follow out this programme, consisting of music, recitations and a pantomime, representing "Young Lochinvar," was rendered.

WEEDS

Consumption is a human weed flourishing best in weak lungs. Like other weeds it's easily destroyed while young; when old, sometimes impossible.

Strengthen the lungs as you would weak land and the weeds will disappear.

The best lung fertilizer is Scott's Emulsion. Salt pork is good too, but it is very hard to digest.

The time to treat consumption is when you begin trying to hide it from yourself. Others see it, you won't.

Don't wait until you can't deceive yourself any longer. Begin with the first thought to take Scott's Emulsion. If it isn't really consumption so much the better; you will soon forget it and be better for the treatment. If it is consumption you can't expect to be cured at once, but if you will begin in time and will be rigidly regular in your treatment you will win.

Scott's Emulsion, fresh air, rest all you can, eat all you can, that's the treatment and that's the best treatment.

We will send you a little of the Emulsion free. Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 409 Pearl St., N. Y. 50c. and $1. all druggists.
