Consumption

The only kind of consumption to fear is "neglected consumption."

People are learning that consumption is a curable disease. It is neglected consumption that is so often incurable.

At the faintest suspicion of consumption get a bottle of Scott's Emulsion and begin regular doses.

The use of Scott's Emulsion at once, has, in thousands of cases, turned the balance in favor of health.

Neglected consumption does not exist where Scott's Emulsion is prompt.

Prompt use of Scott's Emulsion checks the disease while it can be checked.

Jordan.

A crowd of young people attended the spelling school at the Shelton school house Friday evening. A good time is reported.

The woods rang with merry voices when the young people gathered at the home of J. A. Walker Sunday evening for singing. The evening was very pleasantly spent.

Glady and Carl Smith have recovered from their long spell of la gripe and are attending school.

The saw mill of the Hall Lumber Co. will be running to its full capacity by May 1st.

The farmers in this vicinity believe in making hay while the sun shines but as the hay is yet to come they are stirring mother earth with a good intent.

School opened in No. 22 last Monday with J. F. Mitts at the helm.

J. A. Walker has been widening the road along the creek, a great improvement.

We have already heard complaints of the hot weather, even the grouse are grunting.

Some of the boys who attended spelling school Friday night report having seen a meteor descending from the heavens. It disappeared from view behind the Cascades.

FREAK IN GEOLOGY.

Georgia Sand Hills a Puzzle to Scientists.

Although the Country for Miles Around is Flat and its Soil Clay These Hills Are of Pure Sand.

One of the most remarkable geological formations that is to be found anywhere in Georgia is located in Dougherty county within ride shot of Albany, and but a short distance east of Flint river. The theory of its existence has for many years been the subject of wide speculation among the people of this section, but uncertainty as to whether it was created by nature or built by the hand of man still exists to as great an extent as ever.

The plantation of James M. Tift is directly east of Albany, a distance of about one mile, and is famous throughout southern Georgia as the Sand hill or Sand mountain place. It embraces 562 acres of land, much of which is exceedingly fertile and especially adapted to the cultivation of fruits. There is a good deal of timber on the place, and some pines that are of truly astonishing proportions grow in certain localities.

The group of steep, white sandhills, which has made the place celebrated, covers an area of about 350 acres and presents a remarkable and most interesting sight to even those persons who have viewed it many times. It is located on a rich, flat stretch of farming country, unbroken by either hill or ridge of any description, with broad, cultivated fields and valuable timbered lots succeeding each other mile after mile. Nowhere hereabouts is there a rise of ground that deserves to be dignified by being called a hill except on the Sand hill place; the country is uniformly level for many miles in every direction from Albany.

These sand peaks are more than 100 in number. They are grouped in the shape of an elongated circle just a mile in length and half as wide. There is not a hill in the group less than 30 feet high, while many of them rise to a height of from 75 to 80 feet. The sides, almost without exception, are remarkably abrupt for such sandy soil. The hardest rains that ever fall in this section cannot cause water to run down the slopes, as it sinks from view immediately on touching the surface. The hills, however infertile they may appear, are covered with a luxuriant growth of wire-grass, which serves to prevent heavy winds from drifting the sand.

A person may begin at a point where the bottom of one of the hills borders on the outside of this group meets the flat country, walk entirely around the group until he reaches the starting point, and all the while there will have been on his one side steep, sandy hills, and on the other an unbroken stretch of flat country, with a soil black and fertile. It seems that these hills must have been made after the creation of the world, and many persons believe that they represent hundreds of years' toil of the mound builders. A fact that would seem to support that theory is this: While the soil all around these great piles of sand has a solid clay foundation, the hills themselves are nothing but sand, from summit to base. One of them might be cut down to a level with the surrounding country, and no soil but white, shifting sand would be encountered.

Another theory that has often been employed in an effort to account for the existence of these remarkable peaks is that they are a diuvial formation, perhaps thrown up by the action of a great whirlpool at a time when this country was covered with water. The absence of fossil remains indicative of the presence of the sea in past centuries, however favors the mound builders' theory.

A number of persons have endeavored to induce Mr. Tift to make excavations in some of the sandhills for the purpose of settling, if possible, the question of their origin. Many persons believe there is little doubt that the hills contain evidence that they were built by the hand of man. It is a little remarkable that Mr. Tift has never yielded to the importunities of his friends, but he now states that he has at last decided to make one or more excavations. The result will be watched with a great deal of interest by the people of this section.

Try for Health

222 South Peoria St., Chicago, Ill., Oct., 1902. Eight months ago I was so ill that I was compelled to lie or sit down nearly all the time. My stomach was so weak and upset that I could keep nothing on it and I vomited frequently.

I told her I had not and she bought a bottle. I believe that it saved my life. I believe many women could save much suffering if they but knew of its value.

Don't you want freedom from pain? Take Wine of Cardui and make one supreme effort to be well. You do not need to be a weak, helpless sufferer. You can have a woman's health and do a woman's work in life. Why not secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today?

$50,000.00 Cash Given Away to Users of LION COFFEE

We are going to be more liberal than ever in 1904 to users of Lion Coffee. Not only will the Lion-Heads, cut from the packages, be good, as heretofore, for the valuable premiums we have always given our customers, but the same Lion-Heads will entitle you to estimates in our $50,000.00 Grand Prize Contest, which will make some of our patrons rich men and women. You can send in as many estimates as desired. There will be TWO GREAT CONTESTS

The first contest will be on the July 4th attendance at the St. Louis World's Fair; the second relates to Total Vote For President to be cast Nov. 8, 1904. $50,000.00 will be distributed in each of these contests, making $100,000.00 on the two, and, to make it still more interesting, in addition to this amount, we will give a Grand First Prize of $5,000.00 to the one who is nearest correct on both contests, and thus your estimates have two opportunities of winning a big cash prize.

Five Lion-Heads cut from Lion Coffee Packages and a 2 cent stamp entitle you (in addition to the regular free premiums) to one vote in either contest.

Printed blanks to vote on found in every Lion Coffee Package, The 2 cent stamp covers the expense of our acknowledgment to you that your estimate is recorded.

WORLD'S FAIR CONTEST. What will be the total July 4th attendance at the St. Louis World's Fair? At Chicago, July 4, 1903, the attendance was 283,273.
