War on Cocaine in India. The drug cocaine has had such a hold on the natives of India that the authorities are making strenuous efforts to prevent its unrestricted distribution.

Within the last few years a shipment of cocaine worth a lot of rupees ($25,000) was shipped to Calcutta, and the excise department intervened, with the result that the cocaine had to be sent back to England.

The results of taking cocaine regularly for any length of time are dreadful. The immediate effect is a delightful feeling of languor, the ultimate effect is the ruin of mind and body.

In Europe and America the drug is mostly taken by injection, but the Indian found another method. "Pan supari" was already an institution. "Pan supari" was a kind of native chewing gum. It consisted of a leaf smeared with lime and rubbed with areca nut, cloves and various aromatics. Then the native added cocaine and found "pan supari" an excellent means of taking the drug.

The abuse of cocaine by the natives grew to such an alarming extent that two years ago a measure was introduced prohibiting the sale except by licensed persons. Native offenders against the law have been prosecuted in large numbers.

INVENTION OF PORTLAND MAN.

Creating Great Interest Among Irrigators and Hydraulic Miners.

What promises to be a priceless boon to the hundreds interested in irrigating and hydraulic mining projects is an invention which has recently been brought to a state of commercial perfection by W. B. Phillips, a practical hydraulic engineer of Portland. It is a hydraulic ram that will utilize any fall of water from three feet up for the purpose of raising a portion of it to any desired level. It is a perfect substitute for the water-wheel and pump combined, with greater efficiency. It requires no attention and involves no cost of operation.

For hydraulic miners it will convert the volume of water into pressure, enables them to dispense with long and costly pipe lines. It will make available gravel beds heretofore untouched by the hydraulic giant. It is of unquestioned superiority in its application to hydraulic gravel and water elevators. It is thought it will fill the demand of the hydraulic miner for some suitable means of exploiting gravel beds inaccessible to the high heads of water demanded by the hydraulic giant. Recent reports show vast areas of such unexplored gravel beds to exist in the Pacific Northwest.

In an interview with Mr. Phillips from whom the above information was obtained, we were told that the license to manufacture the ram was sold to the Columbia Engineering Works, of Portland.

Be Ready for the Opportunity. People are apt to think that, though their actual lives are poor and self-centered and such as they are half ashamed of, if some great crisis arose they would be able to gather up their halting will and raise themselves to its height. Yes, no doubt. Only life's sternest crisis never come in any such fashion. Things don't arrange themselves for us to gather up our feeble will and settle with our souls that we will be heroes. They come hard and sharp, testing not what we have resolved to be, but what we really are. We have a sort of feeling that it is the opportunity that makes the man. Not so. The opportunity only shows him for what he is, and the spirit of prompt duty, of quick instinctive loyalty to right under whatever temptation may ever come, may be cultivated and grow to the very capacity for heroism even in life's lowliest place and poorest work.

When one starts out to do the greatest good to the greatest number, No. 1 is usually "it."
