EXTENDING WINTER RATES.

To Yakima Bay. Which to People Wishing to Enjoy Nature's Beauties Proves So Popular.

The low rates in effect from points on the S. P. to Yakima Bay during the winter, which proved so popular with the people wishing to view the beauties of nature at that magnificent seaside resort, have been extended during the month of April, and tickets will be sold on Wednesdays and Saturdays until the 1st of April, good for return at any time up to May 31, 1905.

The month of April should be a favorite one for visiting the seaside, where "Smiling Spring" her earliest visit pays, and where the health-giving breezes of the Pacific will banish "Spring Fever," and other ills to which flesh is heir.

Through Ticket Arrangements.

Tickets from all East side points to all West side points, and vice versa, via the C. & E. are also on sale; and on April 1st tickets to all West side points will be on sale by the C. & E. at Albany, and to all East side points on the S. P. by the C. & E. at Corvallis on which baggage can be checked through to destination, thus avoiding delay and annoyance to passengers traveling between East and West side points.

Full information in regard to rates, etc., can be obtained from any S. P. or C. & E. agent or from W. E. Coman, C. P. A., S. P. Co., Portland, or F. H. Curtis, Acting Manager, C. & E. R. R. Company, Albany, Oregon.

PHOTOGRAPHS.

Make it a point, when in Albany, to drop into J. G. Crawford's Art Gallery and look through his collection of Portraits, Views and Prehistoric Curios. 129, Second Street, near Lyon.

For Sale—One of the best dairy and stock ranches in Lincoln county, containing 200 acres. Only $6,000, one-half cash. V. CLARKE, Scio, Oregon.

DeWitt's Wild Cherry Salve For Piles, Burns, Sores.

CENTENNIAL NOTES.

The Lewis and Clark fair opens Thursday, June 1.

A party of 20 Washington bankers, with their families and friends, will attend the Lewis and Clark Exposition on July 20, the opening day of the bankers' convention.

Twelve notable organ recitals are scheduled for the Lewis and Clark Exposition. The recitals will be held in the Auditorium, where a $3,000 pipe organ will be set up.

H. G. Higinbotham, who was director-general of the Chicago World's Fair, has accepted the invitation extended by the management to attend the opening exercises of the Lewis and Clark Exposition on June 1.

John Hunt, one of Oregon's oldest pioneers, has built a miniature corn crib to represent the kind of crib used by the Oregon farmers in the old territorial days, which he will exhibit at the Lewis and Clark Exposition.

Joseph Marvin, Alaskan commissioner for the United States government at the Lewis and Clark Centennial, is in receipt of a telegram from Governor Brady of Nebraska telling him that a large exhibit of gold nuggets has been collected for exhibition. Mr. Marvin has secured a special safe for storing the nuggets.

Roy Knabenahne, who gained renown as the aviator who made the only successful airship flight at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, is working on an airship of his own design, which he claims will be superior to the famous "California Arrow," and which he will operate in the airship contests at the Lewis and Clark Exposition.

An interesting exhibit in the Mines and Metallurgy Building at the Lewis and Clark Exposition is now in course of construction. A miniature mountain is being constructed for the purpose of showing methods of coal mining in Washington. The mine will be tunneled, and a miniature car will run around the mountain and through the tunnels. The mountain is thirty feet long by twenty wide and is fifteen feet high.

LOCAL

Road work in both North and South Scio precincts is in full highway.

Dr. A. G. Prill has a patient at Annetteville that he has made several trips to see.

Mrs. Donald McKnight returned Sunday from a visit with relatives in Lebanon.

George Phillips and wife of Woodburn came up Wednesday on a short visit to relatives.

The water of the various streams in this locality is lower than ever before at this time of year.

The S. P. railroad has taken an economical streak. Telephones at its depots are being taken out.

President Roosevelt is now on his journey home, and the Rocky Mountain bear can again live in peace.

R. W. Gill and wife came down from their stock ranch near Melama, last Friday, for a few days' visit with relatives.

All hunters will be required to pay a license of $1 after the 15th, providing, of course, that they indulge in any hunting.

Miss Eva Blyden is visiting her sister, Mrs. Maud Conway, at McMinnville. Both ladies met Mr. Conway in Portland Sunday.

The United States surveyor general has decided a decision that places a lien on all bankrupt estates. They can no longer do business legally.

Dr. Wm. Herzig, scientific optician, has been doing business in Scio this week. A number of people see better because of his visit.

Wm. Brenner and Joe Warwick went to the mountains last Saturday, where the summer cattle feeding grounds of Mr. Brenner are located.

Mr. Holt, one of the R. F. D. carriers, is reported to have participated in a runaway scrape, coming out of the traces in a considerably dilapidated condition.

A very rich strike of ore up in the Blue river district last week. A vein was found at the depth of 15 feet that is thought will pan out from $300 to $400 per ton.

John Garland returned Monday from a visit to Princeton. He was called there in obedience of a summons to appear as a witness before the Crook county court.

Mrs. Emma Cyrus, Merle Cyrus, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morris, Misses Ollie and Bonnie Morris, and Pete McDonald paid a visit Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Gill, of near Melama.

Buggies and Wagons—Yes I have them, of the best quality and at prices that will suit everybody. If you want anything in this line, see Chas. Wesely, the housefurnisher, and he will fit you out in short order.

The center of population of the United States, which has gradually been going west since the formation of the government, has now, it is said, strayed back eastward because of the rapid growth in population of eastern cities.

The state of Washington has entered a friendly suit of law to determine the boundary line between the two states of Oregon, that is quite feasible. The story is told in a plain, unvarnished manner, which smacks of the pioneer camp fire in a way that at once attracts the reader's interest.

Conductors' Excursion.

Last Sunday the order of railway conductors gave their annual excursion to Portland, which was liberally patronized. Among the conductors who participated were: Chas. and John Wesely, Jack Jones, Willis and Ira Foren, Henry Stum, Jimmie Daly, Glen Bayless, Misses Emma Morrow and Eva Blyden, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McBride and several others whose names we did not learn.

Harvesting Machinery.

I have two carloads of harvesting machinery direct from the factory for the harvest of 1905. The McCormick and Champion machinery is acknowledged by all to be the best, and I am prepared to make prices low or lower than any other dealer in the valley.

CHAS. WESLEY, The Housefurnisher.

S. P. Lines to Be Improved.

The S. P. railway is about to make extensive improvements to its Oregon lines this summer in the way of laying heavy steel, relaying, rebuilding bridges and improving depots. For this purpose $1,500,000 have been appropriated, $500,000 of which will be paid for labor alone. It is evidently the S. P.'s intention to bring its lines in this state up to the highest degree of efficiency possible. We do not hear that any new construction of feeding lines is contemplated at the present, though of course these feeders will have to be built in the very near future.

We are also informed that the company will sell to holders of exposition railway tickets from points east of the Rocky Mountains round trip tickets from Portland to any point in Oregon at a one-rate rate, with stop-over privileges good for 15 days. Very many of the fair visitors will take advantage of these cheap rates to visit all points in the valley to see just what Oregon really is, with the view of finding a home or of investing in business enterprises. Every one should make it a point to extend a friendly greeting to the visitors, give them courteous treatment and give them every information possible.

Manager Merrill of the P. S. telephone was doing business in this city Wednesday.

The Monmouth normal school will graduate 64, more than all the normals put together.

Mrs. Maud Conway came up from McMinnville with Jack Jones and daughter, Gladys, Friday.

Mrs. A. G. Prill went to Albany Monday on her way to Harrisburg for a visit with Mrs. Ira Phelps.

A large machine for the breaking and scouring of flax has been received at the flax mill and will be put to work at once.

John Wesely spent the front of the week in Portland, replenishing the large stock of goods carried by Wesely Bros.

The Albany Democrat offers a free year's subscription to the person catching the first salmon in the river at that place.

A number of Crawfordville people have gone to the vicinity of Silver Lake, where they have taken up homes within the limits of the irrigation district.

S. P. Mankers (Frisco) of Albany has lost a concave growth on the side of his face. Dr. Hill has been treating it with his X-ray machine with excellent results, as the cancer germ seems now to be dead.

The hobo element will attend the Lewis and Clark fair in great numbers. They are assembling at the metropolis in squads ranging from two or three to fifteen and twenty. This is a class of people that the fair could get along well without.

A National Calamity.

Judge C. B. Bellinger, of the U. S. district court of Eastern Oregon, is seriously ill and but little hope of his recovery is entertained. Should the illness result fatally, the government would be greatly handicapped at the coming land fraud trials. He is so familiar with the entire history of all matters connected with the cases that it would be a difficult matter to supply his place. His death under the present circumstances would be a national calamity.

As Shown by the X-Ray.

Last week Dr. Prill made an X-ray examination of W. H. Stam's broken arm. The impression made by the X-ray machine was then photographed. This photograph shows very distinctly just how and where the arm is injured. It shows the bone of the upper arm to be split and one portion broken off from the main bone. Dr. Prill thinks, with out doubt, that stiffness will surely result and that it will be several weeks before Mr. Stam can use the arm.

Stories of Old Oregon.

Stories of Old Oregon is the title of a book published by the author, G. A. Wagner, of Corvallis. The author gives his experience in crossing the plains in an early day, in the mines and on the pack train trail, besides a number of exciting adventures in the early days of Oregon, that is quite readable. The story is told in a plain, unvarnished manner, which smacks of the pioneer camp fire in a way that at once attracts the reader's interest.

Deaths.

PAUL.—At the family home on Sunday, May 7, of pneumonia, infant son of W. S. Paul, aged about three months.

The babe was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul and was sick but about ten days. They had never had a picture of him made, so J. G. Crawford, the Albany photographer, was called out to make a picture to keep as a memento of the short, sweet life. The funeral was quite liberally attended, quite a number of the friends from Scio being present. Rev. Mount of Scio conducted the funeral. The little one was a remarkably bright child and though but a few weeks old, had doubtless endeared himself to the sorrowing parents. Death is an unwelcome guest in any household. When the victim selected, it is among the aged, whose span of life has reached the period of decrepitude, we look upon the passing away as the law of nature to which all are subject, but when one so young, who is just at the threshold of life, is called, we simply are at a loss to understand the reason why. The sympathy of the many friends of the bereaved family goes out to them in this their first hour of great grief.

Mound Discoveries

J. G. Crawford, Albany's archaeologist, who has one of the best collections of curios from the prehistoric age to be found in the state, yesterday opened a mound a few miles from Albany and secured some valuable additions to his collection. The mound is a large one, 80 by 100 feet. Yesterday's search was rewarded by finding four skulls, many of the other bones from the human body, three moccasins, an ear, mortar and pestles, beads and many other things. The most noteworthy among the articles is perhaps the ear. It is made of bone and is engraved with the carvings that are found on articles of like nature and material in Alaska. This has led to the belief that some of the Indians in the mound came from the Northern clime.

On one of the jaws the skin was clinging having been preserved by contact with the bone. Mr. Crawford, indicate that the Indians lived in the iron age, with the exception of one, who was a Flathead and evidently out of place in this mound. All the bodies in the mound were buried with the knees drawn up close to the chin. The bodies were placed within three feet of each other, the space between being filled compactly with dirt.

There have now been 12 skeletons taken from this mound, many of them in a good state of preservation. Mr. Crawford has been a close student of the aborigines who preceded the white people in the Oregon country, and has gathered some very valuable data. He has been active in opening and exploring the Indian mounds in this vicinity, and says there are enough of them to keep him busy for years. Between Albany and Brownsville, along the banks of the Calapooia river, are located fully 100 of these strange mounds. In many of them are found no bones or other indications of a human being, but instead there are what appear to be clay ovens for cooking, etc. In most of them, however, bones of dead warriors are believed to have found their last resting place—Sunday's Oregonian.

Munkers Murmurs.

Mrs. F. Denny returned from Albany Saturday.

Mrs. Jos. Huntley was at Jefferson Saturday.

Mrs. Gertrude Greene of Albany is visiting relatives here.
