Miss Artie Morrow, of Pearsall, Texas wrote a letter to her uncle, G. W. Morrow of this city, the letter coming to hand this week making inquiry about relatives in this vicinity. The letter was written by a daughter of a brother of G. W., of whom he has not heard since 1867. The communication was a joyful surprise to Mine Hot Morrow.

Entries for the great livestock show at the Portland Fair will close August 1. Document will be followed by a report should write at once to M. D. Winslow superintendent of the livestock exhibit, Lewis and Clark Exposition. The livestock show will be held in September.

Thousands witnessed the great sham battle at the Portland Exposition last Saturday. The contest will be held August 2 by a big naval battle on Guild's Lake, and August 10 by the crowning spectacular event of the year—a representation of the Custer massacre, in which 200 Umatilla Indians and a force of soldiers will engage. All these big events are free to all possible visitors.

Taken to St. Vincent's Hospital.

Some months ago it will be remembered that Frank Ogier, who had received injury from bruises by a plow handle, was treated for the results at J. S. Morris'. Now it appears the results of the injury were not wholly eradicated. Another operation was imperative. By advice of Dr. Prill, the young man was sent to St. Vincent's hospital, Portland, under Dr. Prill's care last Friday. On the following morning Dr. Prill operated upon him, with apparently the best of results. A short time at the hospital were the best of trained nurses are in attendance will show whether the young man will recover his complete health or not.

To the Buzz Saw the Second Time.

George Compton was introduced to the buzzsaw for the second time last week. Our readers will remember that he had his right arm and hand mangled, last year by this same machine. Now the second finger of the same hand has come to grief. It was so badly mangled that amputation was necessary. Dr. Prill performed the job, and George will be ready for another introduction. He will probably get acquainted with Mr. Buzz Saw if he continues to monkey with it.

Mr. Campbell, of Illinois, who is visiting his relatives in this vicinity, the company with Grandma Blyen, Jas. A. Blyen, of the penitentiary force, started for Belknap Springs this week. They expect to meet Mique there, who will come over from Bend, Crook county.

Peterson's butte was visited by a large party from Albany this week who made the ascent. C. H. Walker, one of the party writes up the trip for the Albany Democrat. He states the Butte to be 1200 feet high, some 25 years ago, Prof. Geo. Davidson of the U. S. coast and geodetic survey measured the height and found it to be 1054 feet.
