LOCAL

Prof. J. R. Geddes, is now principal of the Halsey public schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bilyeu expects to move to Eugene, next week.

John Wesely paid Albany a short business visit last Friday evening.

Still there is nothing doing in hops. The bears continue to hold the fort.

Lee Bilyeu and wife returned from a visit to the Lewis and Clark Tuesday.

E. C. Peery and family, went to Portland Wednesday on a Lewis and Clark trip.

Dr. Prill, the attending physician, reports that W J. Hassler, of Lacomb, is very sick.

R. B. Miller went to Portland last Saturday, to serve as a juror in the U. S. court.

The ringing of the public shool bell at regular intervals, gives out quite a cheerful sound.

Roy Koker, a Lebanon boy, was committed to the reform school on Tuesday, by Judge Stewart.

Chas. Wesely's new store building is now practically complete, with the exception of the upper story.

W. F. Gill went to Portland Wednesday with business intent and for a look in at the Lewis and Clark.

Mrs. Jas. Tucker went down to Portland Wednesday for a few days visit with the old folks at home.

W. E. Arnold moved to Albany Wednesday. Billie is among our best citizens, and we regret to lose him.

Henry Myers, Don McKnight—Shelton of Jordan went to Portland on Monday morning's S. P. train via Jefferson.

The attendance of our public schools on opening day was about 75, which will be increased to near 100 in a short time.

The Richardson hotel is soon to be closed. The present proprietor A. L. Richardson expects to move to Eastern Oregon.

Rain has prevented the commencement of work on the Gaines building and may prevent the building being erected this fall.

For Rent.—The best of stock and grain ranches, 400 acres known as the Cyrus ranch, on Crabtree creek. V. Cladek, Scio, Ore.

The grand lodge K. of P. meets in Portland next week, P. A. MacDonald and G. A. Griffin are the delegates from the Scio lodge of the order.

For Sale.—364 acres of pasture land ¾ cleared and sowed to grass; 80 acres can be cultivated. Price, $5 per acre Inquire of L. W. Pomeroy.

If you intend to visit the Lewis and Clark fair, you will have to hurry, for the gates will close for the last time on the night of the 14th instant.

E. D. Myers will hold a public sale, on Oct. 12, of personal property, house hold goods, etc, after which he and family will move to Portland.

Mrs. P. A. MacDonald, on account of illness was unable to take charge of her department in our public schools, her place being supplied by O. B. Cyrus.

Plowing is now under full headway in many fields between Albany and Eugene preparatory to fall seeding. Disc gang plows seem in quite general use.

The Peery-Miller-Shelton hunting party returned Tuesday evening late. They report that there are three less deer in the mountains because of their visit.

Most every one is of the opinion that we have had quite enough rain lately for al practical purposes. The weather clerk will please govern himself accordingly.

James J. Hill, the railway magnate has certainly been feted to his heart's content down at Portland. If he makes his promises good perhaps it was all right.

Tuesday Jupiter Pluvius got right down to business in a steady old fashioned way. Enough of rain has now fallen to enable fall plowing to be done in good shape.

Having accepted the call to Condon I desire to sell all my household goods. I also have 4 cords of wood cut ready for the stove which I will sell cheap. J. W. Mount.

Farmers are quite busy seeding over in the Albany prarie now. There has been rain enough to cause summer follow to work nicely, though not enough for plowing.

The News office was honored by a visit from State Printer J. R. Whitney, last Saturday. Unfortunately we were not at home, so could not be present to swap lies with him.

Rev. J. W. Mount left Wednesday afternoon for Portland to attend a meeting of the State Board preliminary to the Baptist State Convention, which meets next week in Eugene.

Mr. Knof is having a farm house erected on his land near this city. The peculiarity of the building is, the walls are six inches thick and are built solid. Ed Balschweid is the cheif builder.

Portland day at the Lewis and Clark, attracted a very large crowd of people but the 100,000 failed to materialize by nearly 15000. Two more weeks and the fair will become past history, but one of splendid financial success.

Mr. Herman Hecker a resident of Thomas for many years, has rented the James Elkins place and moved to this city to reside. Mr. Scott Ward and family, who have been residing there the past year, have moved upon Mr. Ward's farm at Fry station.—Democrat.

V. Cladek one of our prosperous Bohemian farmers milks ten cows the proceeds of which with other incomes from the farm, has deposited in the bank since April 1 last, $950. This is obtained from a 165 acre farm and is clear of all expense. Farming in Oregon will pay, if conducted intelligently.

The great flood of home seekers that the Lewis and Clark fair was to bring to Oregon, has failed to materialize to any considerable extent in this locality so far. Lots of people have come to Oregon during the summer, but after short or long visit, as the case may be, go away again.

A Mr. Kladinger, one of our Bohemian friends, who thought more of the home east than here, sold out and started for his old home. At West Scio he was taken severely ill and returned to the home of his step-father, where he has had quite a serious time with inflamation of bladder, kidneys and bowels. Dr. Brown, his physician, reports him now to be getting better.

The Southern Pacific railroad is doing an enormous business this year—just about all the traffic one single track is capable of doing. A voluntary reduction in both freight and passenger rates, might delay drastic legislation by the government. Such an act on the part of the railroads would do much to change the growing idea in the minds of the public, that the railroads are public enemies.

A postal card announced to the News family on Wednesday, the death of Mrs. Alfred Wheeler, of Sand Ridge, in this county, which occured at the farm home of Wheeler Bros. Mrs. Wheeler was among the early pioneers who settled near Lebanon. Her husband, Alfred Wheeler preceded her to the Great Beyond several years ago. She was a most excellent woman and a good neighbor. She leaves a large family of children, all grown and most of whom have families of their own.

Lester Holt and his sister, narrowly averted a runaway scrape Monday afternoon, that might have resulted seriously. Just as they were turning into Main street coming from West Scio, the breeching strap was broken, allowing the breeching to drop down on the horses heels. This frightened him and started him running. Just in front of Hibler Gill & Co's implement house the horse made a sudden turn, which threw Lester out of the buggy, but with the assistance of by-standers, the horse was stopped, without doing any material damage.

The Development League.

Last Saturday, we attended the second and last days session of the Willamette Valley Development League, which convened at Eugene on Friday of last week.

The League is composed of representative business men from all the leading cities of the Willamette valley. The object of the organization, as the name would indicate, is the development of Oregon and of the Western portion in particular. "Better railroad facilities," "Improvement of our rivers and harbors," "Regulation of freight rates and Assesment and taxation," were subjects discussed and upon which papers were read.

The delegates composed as before stated, of earnest. representative business men, who are giving time and expense to this work, did not seem to be actuated from selfish impulses in the least; but seemed to be broadminded enough to take in the entire state and coast, in their schemes of development; evidently realizing that the development of any one particular section of the state, would in a measure, benefit the whole. Just why Portland men were couspicuous by their asbence was unexplainable, unless it was because their attention is so completely absorbed by the Lewis and Clark fair that they did not have the time to devote to interests in the state outside of Portland.

The work of the League, so far, is largely preliminary. But plans are being arranged, that will probably exercise great influence upon corporations and individuals who have in charge enterprises which effect the general interests of the people. It is then, quite important that every town and locality in the state should be represented at the meetings of the League.

The purpose is a most landable one and its meetings, at stated intervals, will familiarize the wants and needs of one section of the state with that of another. The next meeting will occur in Albany, about the end of the year, and Scio should be represented by duly qualified delegates.

Hunters Take Notice.

Any person or persons with gun or dogs found on my place, will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. V. Cladek.

Nibbs.

Died.

Bilyeu—At Horst Bros hop yard near Independence, on Sunday September 23, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Bilyeu, aged about 6 months.

The burial occured near the family home at Lacomb.

Crabtree—At the family home on October 1, after a long and painful illness, Mary Jane Crabtree, wife of James A. Crabtree; aged 70 years 6 months and 14 days.

Mrs. Crabtree was one of our earliest pioneers, having crossed the plains with her parents in 1847. She was married to James A. Crabtree, Sept. 1. 1853, joined the church in early life and has ever remained a consistent Christian. She leaves a husband and 7 grown children to mourn her loss.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. J. W. Mount, at the Miller cemetery, on Monday.

Born.

Dr. Prill reports the following births this week, which indicates that race suicide is not belived in by the people of the "Forks."

Read.—On September 27 at Halls Mills, to the wife of J. L. Read, a son.

Davenport.—On October 1, to the wife of Wayne Davenport, of Lacomb, a daughter.

Rex.—On October 3 to the wife of Clarence Rex, of Scio, a daughter.

Linn County Premiums.

County Judge Stewart late this afternoon was notified by Secretary Roberts of the Linn county exhibit that individual exhibitors in the Linn county booth had been awarded 26 gold medals, 38 silver medals, 16 bronze medals, and more coming in agricultural. This is a big show. Others and county awards will be made latter.—Wednesday Democrat.
