AN OREGONIAN IN ALBERTA.

Editor Santiam News:

As I have been in Alberta long enough to form an opinion of the country, I will give you my idea of it as an agricultural, stock-raising, and residence place.

This is the greatest grain country I ever saw. The yield of grain here this year was wonderful. Winter wheat made from 25 to 54 bushels per acre. I know of one field of five acres which yielded 50 bushels per acre, and another field of 30 acres made 54 bushels. Oats made from 33 to 100 bushels per acre. One of my neighbors had 30 acres of oats that yielded 75 bushels per acre, machine measure, and which weighed 44 lbs to to the bushel. Another neighbor's oats made 60 bushels per acre and weighed 48 pounds to the bushel. I could tell you of many more similar yields, of fields that I have personal knowledge of, but those mentioned will be sufficient for this time. I am not so well informed as to the yield of barley. My own, sown June 10th on sod and cut green, made 20 bushels per acre. This is the poorest crop I know of. One field near this place made 60 bushels per acre.

Potatoes do quite well; yet they often get frost bitten. Our potatoes were planted quite late last Spring on sod, yet they ripened nicely and yielded quite well.

One thing an Oregonian would like about this country is the hay. All one has to do in order to have plenty of feed for stock is to cut and stack hay, all they want. Our milk cows have fattened on hay alone this Winter and they have been in the stable but three nights.

Thousands of cattle run on the grass all Winter without shelter or feed.

As a place in which to live, Alberta is far better than Oregon. I can't say that I particularly like the Spring weather here; it is too changeable. Summer, Fall and Winter weather is fine. Yet, we have some very cold days in Winter. However, water has frozen in our kitchen only a very few nights this Winter. Vegetables have never frozen and we have kept no fire at night.

This is a far more healthful climate than the one in which you live. We rarely hear of sickness. Very few people have really severe colds even. Of course, I am not speaking of all Alberta, just our own neighborhood in the Porcupine Hills district; but I think the statement will hold good for a great part of the country.

Wishing you every success, I am,
Very truly,
S. E. Penn.

A first class "furse" occurred over at Lebanon Tuesday morning in which Dr. J. C. Booth and D. B. Hansard played the star parts. The liquor question is assigned as the cause. Neither of the participants were injured to any great extent, though each of them, probably had to invest in new suits of clothes.

Three miners, Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone, of the Federation of Labor, were arrested a few days ago and are now held in the Idaho penitentiary, for complicity in the murder of ex-Governor Steunenberg. Orchard the first arrest, has made a confession implicating the leaders of the Labor organization.

A rather strange appearance was presented, last week by Thomas creek. From the location of Scio's bucket house through town, one-half of the stream was muddy while the other half was comparatively clear. A small creek or branch that enters Thomas creek at this point was caused to rise quickly by the heavy downpour of rain, whose muddy contents were emptied into the creek, before the creek itself had become affected by the rain, being the cause. This explanation relieves the bucket house from any responsibility in the matter.

Last week a horse was stolen from G. W. Hunsaker, of near Turner, and a young man by the name of Chas Edgar, disappeared from the neighborhood at the same time. Monday the horse and rider was located over near Tallman at the home of Eugene Palmer, where Edgar was endevoring to trade or sell the animal. Sheriff White, having located his man by means of the telephone, went out Monday forenoon and arrested him. As the horse was found in his (Edgars) posession a few years at the hotel De James awaits him.

MAY MEAN SOMETHING.

The Albany Democrat of last Saturday states; "General Manager O'Brien, General Superintendent Buckley and Superintendent Fields, of the Harriman lines, were in the city to day on a bridge inspecting trip over the S. P. lines in their special train. After inspecting the bridge at Jefferson they returned and went out on the Oregonian road to inspect the Santiam bridge, which it has been reported would be done away with on account of its unsafe condition on the banks." The above may mean much or little to the Scio people. If the bridge is condemned, which those who are qualified to judge think was or will be done, some definite arrangement for a new crossing will probably be made during the present year. The prevailing opinion among many persons, and some of them are in positions to render their opinions of importance, is that the track will be changed to come to or through Scio; thence on to where a good crossing of the river near Lebanon can be had. Another feature that may have an influence to bring the line through town, is the almost certain probability that an electric line will be built from Salem to Stayton and on to Scio, in the very near future. Certain it is that a railway line into or through town would get all of the freighting of this locality. With the enterprises now in existence from 200 to 300 cars of freight is assured the first year. With the construction of a large lumber mill in this city, whose supply of logs could be floated down Thomas creek, a train could be sent out daily. Also the developement of a splendid coal prospect and an unlimited deposit of the best mineral paint in the world ought to be a sufficient inducement to encourage a railroad to come to Scio, Again the known adaptability of the soil of this locality for the growth of flax fiber and probably hemp fiber as well, (which the present season will demonstrate) if developed and mayhap a fiber using mill be constructed would furnish a considerable freight trafic. All of these resources, susceptible of quick development, only await the necessary transportation facilities and until such a time will lie dormant. Our possibilities are great but they require transportation facilities to unlock them.

TO BUILD SAMPLE ROAD.

Senator Fulton has take great interest in having the government build sample roads in Oregon. We are permited to copy the following letter from him relative to the matter.

"At dates to be fixed later in the Spring, or Summer, one mile of road is to be built under Government on each side of the Cascades, in the State of Oregon. The Judges of Umatilla and Marion counties have agreed to provide the labor and materials, specifications for which will soon be agreed upon by an engineer for the Government and the countp courts named.

This work is to be undertaken at the most propitious time, the benefit of national experience will be offered, and it it is the hope of the officials of the Public Roads Bureau that all persons in Oregon who are interested in this vital question will attend during the demonstrations. To this wish I add my most solicitious request. No other work could be done at this time so well indicating the high plane of Oregon progress, as that showing our interest in good roads. Nothing could be done by our people in other lines that would command greater attention of the home-seeker and the home-builder, for by these standards does the Eastern farmer Judge our opportunities in Oregon.

The Government prom'ses to have present its best road engineers, with the most modern grading and road-building implements. Mr. Samuel Hill, connected with the Government bureau in an advisory capacity and president of the Washington Good Roads Association, and Judge John H. Scott, president of the Oregon Good Roads Association, will attend the work in both parts of the State, bringing to the scene as many as possible of their good roads workers. I would be pleased to know that the county Judge and commissioners of every Oregon county had arranged to attend one or both of the demonstrations, bringing with them all of their prominent road men. This fact would be an encouragement to the government officials in the first instance to continue in a departure that is certainly in the right direction, and would result in the officials of the state who control and make our highways receiving a pracical demonstration of the very latest and best work known to the revived science of road-building.

As soon as the Government engineers have ascertained from the Judges of Umatilla and Marion counties the best date for this work, I will communicate the same to you, and in the meantime will be ready to furnish all possible information, and co-operate in every way, that these demonstrations of work and cost may be given the widest possible educational influence throughout the State of Oregon.

The first work to be done in the Northwest will be at Pullman, Wash., and I think it is probable that Pendleton Oregon, will be the scene of the next demonstration. The work at Salem will not likley be undertaken earlier than the middle or latter part of May. Surveys and consultations regarding specifications, will be finished soon, and in the course of the present month I can probably announce the exact date for the demonstrations"

AFTER FIFTY YEARS.

County Clerk B. M. Payne has just received a letter from Arwilda Williams of 1314 Armstrong ave., Kansas City, asking about the whereabouts of her sister, Amanda Isom, known here as Amanda Deckard, and the letter was at once turned over to Mrs. Amanda Johnson, one of Albany's most esteemed citizens and only darkey resident, who was the person wanted. The two sisters had not heard of each other for fifty years, and it seems that the Kansas City sister heard something about her Oregon sister, enough to make inquiry.

Amanda Isom was a slave in the Deckard family in Missouri in slavery days. When Anderson Deckard came to Oregon in 1852 she was given to him by the family. After getting here she earned her freedom and married Ben Johnson, the well known blacksmith, who died a few years ago.

The story is an interisting one. The sister has been written to and it is to be hoped the sisters may be able to meet again after such a long separation.—Democrat.

Hello! Vetch Seed.

I still have a fine lot of vetch seed, clean and nice to mix one bushel with two of Spring oats, of which mixture sow two bushels to the acre, any time up to the first of June, and a good crop is assured. Clean seed is worth $2.50 per 100 lbs. This amount is sufficient, mixed as above, to seed three acres. Per measured bushel, $1.25, clear of all foul seeds. Sample of seed at Wesely & Cain's store. S. W. Gaines, Santiam Farm.

A CHUNK OF BULLION.

Found on the Beach near Newport by J. G. Crawford.

J. G. Crawford returned this noon from Newport, where he had been after pictures of scenes and curiosities, both of which he secured. He found several fine specimens of fossils of seals and other sea animals and what is believed to be of some value a chunk of gold and silver bullion weighing 20½ pounds, close up to the bank, where it had evidently been washed sometime from a wreck. It had been molded and shows the form of the pot in which it had been cast. A miner at the bay examined it and declared it to be worth several hundred dollars. Mr. Crawford will have it assayed and learn for a fact its real value.

Fired Upon a Dummy.

For the past two or three weeks somebody who has no apparent business, has been monkeying about the residence of the News man. Just why or wherefore the aforesaid monkeying deponant sayeth not. We can not give the reason, for we, like most news paper men, have nothing worth stealing. A short time ago our better half concluded that she would run a small size boarding house. To this we did not object, as the money comes very handy on Saturday nights when we pay the printing office force; but this is foreign to our story. One of our boarders Mr. Chas Campbell concluded that this marauder—this skulker had fooled around about long enough, so provided himself with a revolver in order to enforce any argument he might offer to the aforesaid skulker. Last Saturday night the skulker was on hand; so was the revolver. But the darned thing wouldn't work and murder was narrowly averted. On the following night Mrs. D. prepared a dummy man and set him up at the place or near where the skulker might be looked for. Along near midnight Campbell returned to his room and a short time thereafter, the revolver was fired. Our readers can guess the rest and how busy Campbell was kept explaining matters the next day. From the hole found in the dummy the next morning, the skulker was fortunate in concluding to remain at home that night.

C. H. Henderson Dead.

C. H. Henderson, son-in-law of M. V. Bilyeu has fallen a victim to the epidemic typhoid fever that so many of Eugene's people are sick with. Word was received last Sunday by Mr. Bilyeu of the dangerous condition of Mr. Henderson and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bilyeu at once went up there, and on the following day Geo. M. Devaney also went up. The death occurred on Sunday night, but a short time after the arrival of W. J. and wife. The deceased was aged about 40 years and married Miss Minnie Bilyeu about ten years ago.

M. V. Bilyeu has been on the sick list the past month.

Mr. Graham, wife and children, of Woodburn, have been up on a visit with relatives and friends the past two weeks.

We have all patronized the Hazelwood Creamery, of Portland, which has done a fair part by us. So some of us are trying the Independent Creamery, of Crabtree to see how they compare; as opposition is the life of trade.
