Hello! Vetch Seed.

I still have a fine lot of vetch seed, clean and nice to mix one bushel with two of Spring oats, of which mixture sow two bushels to the acre, any time up to the first of June, and a good crop is assured. Clean seed is worth $2.50 per 100 lbs. This amount is sufficient, mixed as above, to seed three acres. Per measured bushel, $1.25, clear of all foul seeds. Sample of seed at Wesely & Cain's store. S. Harnish—Scio, Saturday, May 12.

Dr. A. G. Prill is to have his residence repainted.

W. E. Arnold, of Albany, was a Scio visitor yesterday.

What benefit is veterinary skill to a Governor anyway.

Charles Wesely went to Portland Wednesday on a business trip.

Albany now furnishes electric juice and "booze" for Corvallis people.

Scio is a dry town, but we thirst for a settlement at the Farmers' Meat Market.

Jack Jones, who now runs a thirst-parlor over at Albany, came over Tuesday.

Dr. Prill as an amature photographer is showing up some very fine work nowadays.

Notice the prices quoted in E. C. Peery's ad. They make his competitors squirm.

Wanted—At the Farmers' Meat Market, any old hogs, just so they can eat and squeal.

W. R. Ray, of Jordan, went to Portland Monday to serve as a United States grand juror.

Our county court will be improved in its make up if Hy Powell is elected a member of it.

We have the Sharples Cream Separator and all kinds of dairy supplies. Charles Wesely.

Jack Jones has purchased the saloon in Albany belonging to J. C. Bilyeu and is now in charge.

Scio should see to it that our public schools continue in session for at least eight months next year.

"Seven Up" is a gambling game, but "Square Up" is an honest game; play it at the Farmers' Meat Market.

E. J. Daley has about the best piece of garden land that we know of. Ed is a first-class gardener, to, by the way.

The improvements on E. C. Peery's new residence are now about complete. He expects to move thereto next week.

Mrs. May Jones and little son, of Lebanon, has been visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Morris, this week.

J. R. Geddes, of near Mill City, came down last Saturday and remained over Sunday visiting his many friends in this city.

Uncle Wid Bilyeu, of Kalama, Wash., arrived in this city Tuesday for a visit with his sons, Walter and Bert, of this city.

Go to Charles Wesely for buggies, wagons and all kinds of farm implements. He has the largest stock in the valley.

W. P. Lamf left last Saturday evening bound for Idaho, in answer to a subpoena to serve as a witness in a criminal lawsuit.

Read Joe Wesely's announcement. "New brooms sweep clean." New merchants is the place to trade if you want bargains.

Preachers and politics are supposed to not mix very satisfactory. Prof. Hawley is trying to do the stunt. Will he succeed?

G. W. Myers, of near Dallas, Polk County, came up Monday for a few days visit with his nephew, Henry M. Myers, of this city.

Insure with the Oregon Fire Relief Association, of McMinnville. A purely mutual association. J. G. Bryant, agent, Albany, Oregon.

Wednesday night the two stores and the blacksmith shop at Marion station was burned. But little of the contents of the buildings were saved.

Only a few days left in which to register. If you have not looked after this matter, do so at once and save yourself and others trouble on election day.

C. S. Harnish, the Albany Photographer, will be at his Scio gallery Saturday morning, May 12, and remain three days. Get ready to have your photos made.

A surprise party occurred out at Mr. A. Young's last Saturday night. A party of Scio's young people, with lunch baskets, went out and report a most enjoyable time.

We can match all colors of Wall Paper, Carpets and Paints, because we carry all this in stock, and plenty of it. If you need anything in this line come and see what we have before you buy. Charley Wesely.

With eight or ten teams hauling ties and lumber, in addition to the ordinary travel and trafic on our streets, Scio presents quite a busy aspect, nearly every day.

Governor Chamberlain was greeted by a very large audience at Lebanon last Friday night. He was billed to speak in Sodaville Saturday afternoon, and at Brownsville Saturday night.

In three or four years from now Scio and vicinity will be able to show up some of the finest horses that can be found in the state. The parent stock now here insures that fact.

We have heard some ugly stories about Candidate Hawley in addition to the John Brown story, which, if true, shows him to be an unfit man for the position of congressman, or any other public position.

One of our Providence friends sends us a good, newsy communication this week. THE NEWS would be glad if "Prudence" would become a regular correspondent, and that other neighborhoods in the "Fork" should be represented, as well.

A Mr. Girard, formerly one of the Monks up in Bilyeu Den, but now married, was unfortunate enough, last week, to get mixed up in a run-a-way scrape, from which he emerged with a shoulder thrown out of place. Dr. Browne reduced the fracture.

Scio's semi-monthly auction sales should be well patronized. If you have anything to sell, in the way of personal property, bring it in and you will find a buyer. Transversely, if you want to buy anything, you can probably find it for sale in Scio on these days.

E. C. Peery and Dr. A. G. Prill left town Monday morning before most people were out of their beds. They said they were going to Albany, and as we heard no one complaining of having lost anything, their return in the evening was confidently expected.

The funeral of the late Mrs. O. D. Hall will be preached by Rev. George E. Sutherland next Sunday, May 13, at the school house at the second bridge crossing Thomas Creek, East of Scio. Services both in the morning and afternoon. Bring your dinner and enjoy the day.

T. S. Coffey, of McMinnville, formerly Scio's harness maker, arrived in this city Tuesday evening. T. S. has quit the harness business and is now engaged in soliciting patronage to a farmess' business record book. He will probably interview the farmers of this locality on the subject.

The campaign for the county candidates is to be commenced at once. Exactybody, irrespective of party should attend these political meetings. We are all of the same desire. We want good, efficient and economical government. Let us lay aside political prejudice and vote for the men most likely to give that kind of a government.

Prof. Withycombe would favor but one board of control for all the Normal schools. From this we are to conclude that if elected he will favor maintaining all four of these schools. He would sign a bill appropriating money for their maintainance for the past two years as well as for the two years to come.

G. M. Paul and others have filed a suit in the Circuit Court against W. S. Paul and others for the purpose of setting aside several deeds to property made by the late W. A. Paul some years ago to the defendants. The complaint alleges that undue influence over the grantor and that the deeds were obtained by fraud. W. A. Paul died in this city a few weeks ago and the parties named are all relatives and heirs of deceased. Weatherford & Wyatt, attorneys for plaintiffs.—Herald.

The Oregonian these days is swinging the party lash pretty vigorously. About all the difference that the editor of that paper can find between the two candidates is that Governor Chamberlain is a Democrat and Prof. Withycombe is a Republican. It might have stated if it would that Governor Chamberlain has done what he four years ago said he would do. Prof. Withycombe promises to do, but as yet he has done nothing. It might, of course, be said that Governor Chamberlain's life training and profession especially fits him for the position of governor, while Prof. Withycombe has followed pursuits that might fit him for the position he now holds; but not for governor. But the Oregonian will not make such statements as these except when there is no campaign on.

A Destructive Accident.

Last Sunday evening as Dr. S. C. Browne and Prof. J. R. Geddes were driving from this city to Crabtree, an accident occurred that might have resulted seriously. But fortunately both gentlemen emerged from the mix up somewhat scratched and bruised but neither were severely hurt. The particulars, as we learned them, are about as follows: As the gentlemen were crossing the railroad, one mile North of Crabtree, they met another vehicle. Something about the rig caused Dr. Browne's near horse to shy. As they were near the edge of the railroad crossing, the near horse jumped with such force against its mate that the off horse was crowded from the grade, taking the buggy with him. The buggy was turned over and the occupants dumped out. The horses at once started to run, making kindling of the buggy pretty rapidly. Soon they broke loose from the buggy but did not go far before the near horse fell. In doing so she fell in such a manner that her neck was broken. The other horse was soon caught and later on Dr. Browne borrowed another horse and buggy and returned to Scio. Prof. Geddes was badly shaken up and bruised and was unable to attend to his school duties on Monday. The accident was fortunate in that neither occupant of the buggy was seriously hurt, but destructive in the loss of one horse and a badly broken buggy.

The County Court and a Woman.

Some months ago our County Court, in compliance with a petition, decided to open a County road up in the Sweet Home country. Everybody up there, with the exception of one widow woman were favorable to the building of the road. The road was viewed and surveyed, etc. Unfortunately the road crossed this widow lady's land and she vowed she would go gunning for any one that attempted to build a road across her land. The supervisor attempted to build the road, but the lady was on hand with her little gun, and the road boss concluded that he had not lost any road on her place. Now the road is built to her farm on both sides, but completely blocked by one little woman. The Court has decided to resort to strategy. The lady is known to be very fond of chasing and it is planned for someone in the neighborhood to give a dance and invite the war-like widow to participate. While she is tripping the light, fantastic toe, the supervisor will be on hand with a large force of men and open the road. Well, they may do so, but, well—Judge Stewart is somewhat of a ladies' man. He ought to visit the lady and try his powers of persuasion. If he can only persuade the widow that she, herself, wants the road, the trouble will cease. But can he persuade her?

Postal Inspectors Visit Scio.

On Thursday and Friday of last week Postal Inspector E. C. Clement, inspector of rural routes, visited our city and went over Routes 1 and 2 with the the carriers. He reports both routes in fine condition. On Saturday star Route Inspector Vale was in this city looking after the letetting of star routes from Scio to West Scio, two round trips daily, and star route from Scio to Munkers, two trips daily. The meeting of the Munkers evening train will be a great convenience to Scio people. The new schedule will go into effect just as soon as Inspector Vale's report reaches the postal department at Washington. By this arrangement mail brought in by rural carriers will at once be forwarded on the evening train.

Abandons the Project.

W. J. Turnidge, of Crabtree, who some time ago filed a claim on Crabtree Creek and Roaring River for logging purposes, has filed a disclaimer in the County Clerk's office and will abandon the project. There was much opposition to his claims and several lawsuits are now pending, he having been enjoined from prosecuting his work further, so that he has decided to not try to secure the streams for the purposes for which he had planned to use them. This will probably end the controversy in the Crabtree neighborhood.—Herald.

THE CAMPAIGN HAS OPENED.

First Political Gun for Linn County Fired at Scio.

Governor Chamberlain addressed a large audience in this city at the Baptist Church last Friday afternoon. This is the first political meeting in Scio in the campaign of 1906. Other speakers were Hon. M. A. Miller, of Lebanon, candidate for the State Senate, and Hon. J. D. Matlock, of Eugene, candidate for the office of State Treasurer.

The Governor was driven over from from Jefferson after the arrival of the noon train. After partaking of lunch the speakers and audience, led by the Scio Band, repaired to the church. T. J. Munkers was selected as chairman, who at once introduced the Governor, George E. Chamberlain.

After some introductory remarks Governor Chamberlain stated that when a candidate for his present position four years ago he made certain promises that he would endeavor to have fulfilled. Among the number were what is known as "Fellow-Servant law," now a law on the statute books; the Initiative and Referendum amendment to be submitted to the people, which was done; the loaning of some $750,000 of the irreducible school fund, then idle and supposedly in favored bankers' hands. This has been done and the school children of Oregon are now receiving about $45,000 annually more than they did before his inauguration.

The Governor did not claim sole credit for the enactment of these laws and the loaning of the school fund, but did claim, and justly too, that as Governor and member of the Board of School Land Commissioners, he was largely responsible. He also stated that he had caused certain reformations at the penitentiary in the way of abolishing the practice of using the lash upon prisoners and the wearing of stripes, except as a mark of punishment for the transgression of prison rules.

Hon. M. A. Miller addressed the audience for a few minutes, showing what he had endeavored to do as a member of the State Senate, and that he would be in a position to make his work much more effective at the next session because of his experience and knowledge gained thereby.

Hon. J. D. Matlock, of Eugene, Democratic candidate for State Treasurer, made a short address, also leaving a good impression with his audience.

Seated upon the stage beside the speakers were Democratic Candidates B. M. Payne, for County Clerk; D. S. Smith, for Sheriff, and A. J. Caldwell, for County Treasurer.

Taken altogether, considering the busy time, the large audience, etc., the first Democratic rally at Scio was a splendid success, and augurs well for success in June. One feature, however, was lacking: There were but few Republicans present. This ought not to have been the case. Unless you hear both sides of the various questions discussed, you are not nearly so competent to judge as to which party or which candidate is nearest to the right.

At this meeting no one was abused and no remarks were made that might not have been made by any honest Republican speaker.

Return to Pacific States Telephone Co.

(By special telephone message)

Wednesday evening the Canadian Independent Telephone Company, of near Lebanon, at a meeting of its subscribers voted to sever connection with the Lebanon Mutual Telephone company and to enter into contract with the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph company because of its low rates and superior long distance service. It was generally conceded that the service furnished by the Lebanon Mutual Company was not satisfactory.

HAS TAKEN HIS LAST ROLL.

Holy Roller Is Shot Down in Seattle by George Mitchell.

Joshua Creffield, of "Holy Roller" fame, the religious fanatic and debaucher of homes, was shot and instantly killed by the brother of two of his victims, in Seattle last Monday morning.

The readers of THE NEWS will remember the excitement caused at Corvallis three years ago by the acts and doings of the "Holy Rollers," of which this man Creffield was the leader, and that the Corvallisites became so exasperated that in order to get rid of the crowd they administered a coat of tar and feathers to Creffield and one other. Creffield was afterward arrested by Portland authorities and sent to the penitentiary for the crime of adultery. Some half-dozen of his victims were sent to the insane asylum, and while Creffield was in the penitentiary his wife secured a divorce from him. Upon his release from the pen last Winter, he at once commenced to exert the old power over those who had been his followers, and began to assemble them in the vicinity of Waldport, on Alsea Bay. Among the number were Mrs. Starr and Miss Mitchell, sisters of the young man who, at Seattle last Monday morning, put a final quietus to Holy Rollerism.

The Waldport people would not furnish the fanatics food, so the camp was of necessity broken up. Creffield had, soon after getting out of the penitentiary, remarried his divorced wife. After leaving Waldport the Creffields went to Seattle. Young Mitchell had attempted to find Creffield at Waldport, but failed to do so and then followed them to Seattle, where the tragedy took place. Mitchell saw Creffield and wife coming down a street. As they passed he stepped from a doorway, held his pistol close to Creffield's neck and fired, killing him instantly.

Mitchell made no attempt to escape, but at once handed his revolver to the officers who took him in charge. He justified the killing by stating that Creffield had betrayed both his sisters. He was taken to jail and given the best quarters the jail afforded. The slaying of Creffield is generally justified by every body, and there is but little danger of Mitchell being punished for ridding society of a bestial monster in human form.
