The latest reports of the North Santiam forest fires, as we go to press, are that the damage to green timber is not so extensive as first reported, the fire being mostly on logged districts, and that, while the fire is still burning, it was burning so slowly that but little further damage was expected.

Deputy Sheriff Stelmacher, of Albany, who went to Fanshens, California, to see Stephen F. Hartgrove, a former Albany hotel clerk, who is wanted for passing bogus bank checks, had something of a strenuous time, but came off the victor. When Mr. Stelmacher reached Fanshens he had to fight quite a legal battle before he obtained possession of his man. Hartgrove was in California, Missouri, and two other states for the same crime. He was landed in the Albany jail last Sunday night.

DISASTROUS TIMBER FIRE

Much Fine Timber Destroyed, Though Not so Extensive as Was at First Reported.

Last Saturday a timber fire broke out up Santiam, on the C. & E. R. R. At first it was thought that the fire could be controlled but failed by the breakers, the fire soon assumed gigantic dimensions. The buildings in the town of Berry were considerably scorched, but by heroic endeavors on the part of the fire-fighters the town was saved. The trend of the fire seemed to be eastward and up the Santiam River. It soon jumped across the river to the Linn County side and spread to magnificent green timber. Detroit was saved from the devouring element by determined and persistent work of citizens and a number of the small bridges on the railway line were made unsafe and a number of mountainous parties had to hustle to get to places of safety. When the fire reached the Breitenbush country it seemed to suck up the canyon of that river with the prospect of doing immense damage. It is estimated at this time (Tuesday) that fifty square miles of territory have been burned over, some of which was a fine timber as the mountains afforded. Most of the damage done at this writing has been on the Cascade Mountain. However, and but a small amount of private holdings had been touched by the fire. While there is no loss of life reported, considerable loss of stock has been experienced by the settlers. Camping parties have been forced to conclude their ventures rather abruptly. It is believed the fire will not be totally extinguished without a cold rainfall.

A Slight Mistake.

There is a joke being told here at the expense of a foolish young newspaper man of a neighboring town, which is so good it ought to be true. The young man in question, it appears, was recently invited to a party at a residence where the home had recently been honored with an addition to the family. Accompanied by his best girl, he had a splendid hostess at the door and, after the customary salutations, asked after the well-being of the lady. The lady was suffering from a severe cold, which made her slightly deaf, and she mistakenly supposed that the young man was inquiring about her cold. She replied that although she had one every winter, this was the worst she ever had; it kept her awake at night and she had to wear a cold collar to her bed. Then noticing that the wife was becoming pale and nervous, she said she could see by her looks that he was going to have one just like hers and asked him if he wished to be down. The paper came out as usual the next week, but the editor has given up inquiring about ladies.

Went on the Bay Excursion.

Quite a number of Scioans participated in the excursion over to the Bay last Sunday. The crowd was large and seats at a premium. It is reported also that some have said that they would not yield seats to ladies. Those who went from Scio and vicinity were: Roger and Miss Agnes Cain, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rively, Miss Crawford, Mrs. Olive McDonald, Mrs. Addie Peery, Mrs. Grace Butcher and children, J. J. Barnes, Mrs. J. S. Warwick, Miss Zelma Barton, Miss Inez Munkers, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shelton and children, Miss Ada Compton, and Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Hall.

Fire at Waterloo.

Quite a destructive fire occurred at Waterloo last Saturday evening. The fire started in Mrs. E. J. Osborn's boarding house. From the boarding house the flames were transmitted to three adjoining buildings, all four buildings being totally destroyed. The town of Waterloo has no fire fighting apparatus and city water system. Buckets were the only means of checking the flames. The loss is placed at $2,000.

Stock Ranch Sold.

Last Saturday the 544-acre stock ranch belonging to the Johnsons, situated in Marion County, three miles from Melama, was sold at administrator's sale. J. J. Barnes, of this city, was the purchaser and the price paid was $2500. Mr. Barnes states that he intends to stock the farm and eventually, when he returns from his business, to move thereon himself. He regards the purchase as a good buy.
