Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Richardson, of Grants Pass, arrived in this city Wednesday morning for a few days' visit and rest. Lew reports his business at the Pass as being exceptionally good and that the city of Grants Pass is growing rapidly.

N. Young returned Tuesday evening from a two months' visit at Tygh Valley. He reports times in a flourishing condition over there, but the weather, well, it was as hot as the lower regions are supposed to be. The country over there needs rain badly.

Monday two human bulldogs at Goldfield, Nevada, beat each other almost to a pulp for their own satisfaction and the edification of thousands of spectators. This fistic encounter occurred under the name of sport. Gans, the colored brute, was given the decision at the end of the 42d round, and is now the acknowledged champion lightweight pugilist of the world.

Lew Richardson brought the word that our former fellow-townsman, W. H. Ramsey, who is engaged in mining in the vicinity of Grants Pass, has struck it rich. A short time ago he discovered a gold-bearing ledge that he sold a few days ago for $15,000.

We have received a letter from the Chapman Advertising Agency, Portland, making inquiry for the location of a great need enterprise. Scio would be an ideal location for the production of seed, as nearly anything will grow here and farm lands are comparatively cheap.

A few days ago Otto Alexander, who is an employe at the Gooch sawmill, was unfortunate enough to get mixed up with some logs. Result: Ot is badly bruised, though no bones are broken. A burglar robbed S. M. Daniel's safe in his Monmouth store recently. The burglar had drilled holes in the safe preparatory to blowing it open, but upon trying the door, found the safe unlocked. Mr. Daniel kept but little money in the safe as the bank was handy. The loss was less than $20. That burglar evidently cursed himself for being nine kinds of a fool.

Fred Hockspier, an employe of an Albany livery stable, was seriously injured Tuesday. When near Sweet Home, to which place he was taking a load, one of the wheels of his wagon came off, dumping Fred to the ground. Before the team could be stopped one of the wheels passed over his head. It was thought at first the injury would be fatal, but when he rallied and had had medical attention, it is believed he will soon be all right. It is a hard matter to kill a Dutchman, at least some of them.

Won't Stand for It.

Albany is having trouble with her City Marshal. When the County went "dry" Albany was receiving about $5000 per annum from saloon licenses. The council was then up against the problem of meeting the deficiency thus caused, and to do so have resorted to the strictest economy in expenditures, paring down expenses, etc. Some time ago the night watch was dispensed with and the City Marshal was ordered to the night stunt. To this Marshal McClain objects. He contends that he won his election when it was the custom and generally understood to be the Marshal's duty to look after the City's welfare in the daytime only, except in case of emergency. He has now obtained an injunction against Council to prevent enacting an ordinance reducing the City Marshal to the rank of nightwatch. The court will now decide whether the city dads have authority to enact an ordinance making the order.

M. at her parent's home two miles North of Shedd. She was 17 years, 10 months and 15 days old. She leaves a father, mother, two brothers, and four sisters to mourn her death; three sisters and one brother having preceded her. The funeral services were held in the M. E. Church at Shedd, and were conducted by Rev. D. L. Fields, the pastor.

EARLY RAILROAD EXTENSION.

Bonds for the Road Are to Be Floated in New York at Once.

The Portland Oregonian yesterday had the following special dispatch from New York City, that is of great interest to Albany and all of Central Oregon:

The projected road through Central Oregon, to connect with the Corvallis & Eastern, owned by A. B. Hammond, is placing its bonds on this market, and it is possible they will be listed on the Stock Exchange in the near future. The Corvallis & Eastern is 130 miles long from Yaquina Bay on the Coast to Idanha in the Cascade Range, and the extension to Snake River at Ontario, or a point near that place, will add some 300 miles to the road.

The name by which the extension is commonly known here is the Central Railway of Oregon. It is understood that the new project will use the rights of way through the State acquired by the Oregon Central & Eastern, which was building over the same route 15 years ago, and whose project collapsed, and was afterward bought, road and all, for $100,000 by A. B. Hammond, who changed the name to Corvallis & Eastern.

The projected road will pass through a part of Oregon which now has no rail facilities, connecting with the O. R. & N. and Union Pacific system on Snake River and with the Southern Pacific in the Willamette Valley at Albany. The road is to be bonded at $20,000 a mile, which, considering the nature of the country, is considered moderate.

Hitherto New York has not heard much of this project, but it has been considerably impressed since the bonds have been in the market here. The line of the road, if it should follow the old Central & Eastern right of way, will traverse a productive region.

It is thought that arrangements will be completed within the next 30 days for financing the project.

IN TROUBLE AGAIN.

Sold a Horse Which Was the Property of Another Man.

Harry Beard, a rather notorious character of Scio, is again in trouble, much to the chagrin of his relatives, who are among the most respected and reliable of our citizens. About the only occupation that Harry has is that of horse-breaking. A short time ago Mr. Vsetecka employed him to break a horse and for this purpose the animal was placed in Harry's possession.

One day last week Harry was so forgetful as to think the horse belonged to him and so thinking, sold the animal to a German who lives near Stayton, and at once proceeded to have a good time with the money ($75) realized from the sale. Now Mr. Vsetecka wants his horse, the purchaser refuses to give him up without due process of law, and Harry—well, he is reported to be hiding in the brush.

Mr. A. F. Beard and family have the sympathy of the entire community. Several times heretofore Harry has been saved from the law's discipline by his relatives coming forward and making good any losses caused by him to other parties. Heretofore he has been kept from prison in this way.

What will be the outcome of the present escapade has not yet been developed but it now looks as if Harry was up against it good and hard. This is not the first time he has sold property that did not belong to him. He has also tried his hand at forgery a time or two. His relatives must at some time call a halt if they do not do at this time, and suffer Harry to pay the penalty for his misdeeds.

COMMERCIAL CLUB CONVENTION.

Will Be Held During the Spokane Interstate Fair.

One of the most important movements ever started in the Pacific Northwest is the convention which has been called to meet in Spokane September 25, during the Spokane Interstate Fair, to which all the commercial bodies in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and Montana have been invited to send delegates. G. B. Dennis, chairman of the publicity committee of the Chamber of Commerce and Theodore B. Wilcox, chairman of the executive committee of the Portland Commercial Club have issued the call, which has been widely published by the press in the Pacific Northwest. Many of the leading commercial bodies already have signified their intention of sending delegates and to assist in every way possible with the work. The call says: "The purpose of this gathering is to bring together the representative men of the most prosperous section of the United States, and after a thorough consultation, unite upon a plan to advertise the actual resources, and not to exploit the peculiar advantages of any of the cities. Every city and town in the four states is equally interested in securing the home builder, for it is only through increased population that we can develop these tremendous resources."

The railroads will grant low rates to all delegates. One line of work for the convention will be to take steps to induce the Legislatures of the four states interested to make appropriations for advertising the Northwest.

Another Excursion to Newport.

An excursion to Newport and return will be run Sunday, September 9, 1906, under the auspices of the B. P. O. E., Albany Lodge No. 359. A grand crab feast and entertainment will be given by the B. P. O. E. on the above date, in which the lodges of Salem, Eugene, Albany and other valley towns will participate. A brass band of 15 pieces has been secured and will entertain the excursionists during the day. Crabs and other delicacies of the ocean will be served in abundance free to all. Tickets from all S. P. points season or three-day, will be good going or returning on excursion train leaving Albany at 7:30 A. M. The excursion will start from Detroit and will help swell the crowd. A special low rate of $1.50 from Albany, Corvallis, and Philomath for the round trip, good going on Saturday or Sunday excursion, and for return on Sunday or Monday, has been made for this occasion. A chance of a lifetime. Come and enjoy yourself with the Best People On Earth.
