The Corvallis Times gives rather an amusing account of the condition of a party of three persons, who had come in too close contact with a skunk. One of the trio was our fellow townsman Hon. A. J. Among the candidates recently admitted to practise law, by the supreme court at Salem, was Hon. Chas V. Galloway, of McMinnville. Many of our readers have heard Mr. Galloway on the political stump. Lebanon is endeavoring to secure better train service between that city and Albany. Its no use, boys, the S. P. will never do any better 'till an electric line is built up the valley with connecting feeders. The Harriman system never makes improvements until it is driven to do so by threatened competition. Better go to work to secure the building of an electric line.

Have you subscribed to the Fair Association yet? Every citizen who takes hold of this matter and assists in making the enterprise a success, will have cause to feel proud of his action. A successful Fair given each year will cause great improvement in stock, encourage better methods of agriculture, increase the population of Eastern Linn county, increase the value of your farm and furnish a half weeks social intercourse with your relatives and old neighbors. And all it costs is your subscription for one share of the Fair stock.

Now that a successful season is coming to a close, reasonably good crops have been harvested, work has been plentiful and at remmunerative wages, we must insist that you who are in arrears for the News must settle the account. It is a little strange that a newspaper man needs money. But he does. He has a mouth to feed and a body to keep warm. In addition to these necessary requirements, the News is intending to purchase a power newspaper press, this fall. Strange to say the type house insists on having money in exchange for its presses, material, etc. We intend with the purchase of the press to add new features to the News, which will enhance its value greatly. If subscribers will favor us by paying what is due and one year in advance, we will have plenty to pay for the press. Any way you can save 2 per cent interest by paying for your paper in advance.

TO ORGANIZE.

Stock books have been opened to secure funds for the organization of the Scio Stock and Agricultural Fair association. The capital stock is set at $2000, divided into 100 shares of $20 each.

The purpose of the association is to incorporate, rent or buy grounds, erect necessary buildings, build a half-mile race track and to hold annually a three days fair at Scio.

We want every man in the Santiam country to take at least one share of the stock.

The organization is for the purpose of benefiting the stock and agricultural interests of this section of the valley. If all will take the small interest of a $20 share, the Scio Stock and Agricultural Fair will be a splendid success.

A FARMERS' INSTITUTE

The Subjects of Draft Horse Breeding, Dairying, and Matters Pertaining to the Home Will Be Discussed by Practical Speakers.

The following letter has been handed us by Mr. T. J. Munkers, received from Dr. James Withcombe. Dr. Withycombe was so well pleased with the interest manifested at our Initial Street Fair that he thinks the opportunity ripe to add further to the interest along these lines by holding a Farmers' Institute in this city on the evening of October 26, and on the morning and afternoon of the following day. The News will endeavor to obtain a complete program for publication next week.

A very flattering start has been made for the organization of a Santiam Fair society. A subscription paper, on the basis of $20 life memberships, has been presented to our business men and every one, save one only, has subscribed for a share.

The complete text of Dr. Withycombe's letter follows:

CORVALLIS, Or., Oct. 4, 1906.

Mr. T. J. Munkers, Scio, Oregon.

MY DEAR SIR:—Since returning from your splendid initial fair at Scio the thought has occurred to me that it would be a good plan to have a Farmers' Institute at Scio so that matters of draft-horse breeding and dairying can be thoroughly discussed among your farmers. We could assist your people with such an Institute on the evening of the 26th and the morning and afternoon of the 27th of October. The evening session would be devoted principally to a stereopticon illustrated lecture on breeds and types of livestock. We could have with us an expert draft horse breeder, also one of the most practical dairymen in the State, and I think the meetings could be made profitable to your people. All we ask would be a hall and some local assistance in the way of music and perhaps papers from some of your leading farmers, also papers from some of your representative women on subjects relating to the home. I enclose herewith a copy of a program which will give you an idea of about what we usually receive in the way of local assistance. Kindly take the matter up with some of your leading citizens and advise us at your earliest convenience regarding the matter. Thanking you in advance for your kindness, I am

Truly yours,
JAMES WITHYCOMBE,
F. L. K.

Petition of O. E. Pomeroy, et al., for County road in Township 12, 1 West, was granted, and Hugh G. Fisher, A. O. Ayers, and C. E. Soule were appointed viewers.

Appropriations were ordered for road work upon a like amount of labor of $22.50 for District 29.

The report of F. M. Redfield, expert accountant, was filed this afternoon on the books of ex-Sheriff White. It narrates the examination of the books by E. Washburn and G. H. Brockett, showing $19.21 overpaid by the Sheriff and then the following: "I find the Sheriff has not paid the Treasurer any fees collected in civil cases during his term of office, provided by law, and am unable to ascertain the amount of said fees collected. In examination of penalties charged on the rolls of 1904 and 1905 I find many instances where the penalties are omitted or charged in part, as hereinafter set forth." Then follows an itemized statement of the penalties omitted, a total of $368.67, for which the Sheriff is said to be responsible to the County. Instead of not making any payments in the two years, the ex-Sheriff paid $54.24 in civil cases, but how much the total was is not known.
