HIBLER & GALE Co.

Scio's base ball team went over to Lebanon, last Sunday, and played a return game with Lebanon. The boys had to meet a much stronger team than Lebanon had sent to this city the week previous, yet Scio was again victorious. The score showed Scio 10, Lebanon 4.

About $10,000 worth of saw logs were destroyed by fire, up near Mill City, last week. The logs belonged to the Haver Lumber Co., and had been placed in piles in the hills, six or eight miles from Mill city, ready for shipment. The fire caught from a neighboring forest fire.

The business section of Scio was totally destroyed by fire, early on Friday morning of last week. The loss is approximately $31,000. The fire is generally thought to have been caused by an incendiary. Some of the Albany firemen with a hook and ladder truck went to the assistance of the burning village, but arrived too late to be of any great assistance.

The copious showers of rain that fell the first of the week, was most acceptable to all. Every body was ready for it and while the crops and vegetation had not yet suffered for moisture, the time was approaching uncomfortably close when such a wind would have been the case. Now a good hay crop is assured, gardens and small fruit will yield the usual abundance, grain crops will be good and everybody is happy.

When a farmer comes to town now-a-days, you can notice considerable difference in the shape of his face from what it was last week. Then his face was considerably elongated and the corners of his mouth were drawn downward. Now the length of his face is shortened and its width has increased, while the mouth corners are turned in a heavenward direction, all because of the splendid rains during the front part of the week.

Funeral of Fay L. Myers.

Followed by a long line of hacks, carriages and buggies, filled with relatives and friends, all that was mortal of Fay L. Myers was taken to Frank in Bluffe cemetery for interment, last Sunday afternoon.

She was a victim of consumption. She quietly passed away at the home of her aunt, Mrs. F. J. Weid, of Jefferson, June 8, 1907. She was born on the Cornell farm, two miles north of Scio, on January 8, 1863; making her age at the time of her death 44 years and 5 months. She was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Myers, both of whom had preceded her to the Great Beyond—the mother when she was but eight months old and the father when she was two years of age. After the death of her mother, her home was at the residence of her grandfather, the late David Myers, after which with the exception of one year spent at the Mt. Angel sisters school, she has lived with her aunt in Portland and with another aunt at Jefferson.

Fay will be greatly missed at the home and by her immediate relatives. Her lovely disposition, winning manner and desire to give way to others, so attached her to all with whom she came in contact, that her absence will leave a void that no other can fill. Her short beautiful life was not unlike the tender hot house plant, transplanted to mingle with the hardy outdoor blossoms. Such a life to her was a rare event, and could she have lived the usual life time allotted to man, would have lived a life of love and beautiful influences upon all with whom she mingled.

The Christian church where the funeral occurred was handsomely decorated, white flowers prevailing. The pall bearers and flower girls were composed of her schoolmates in the Scio public schools, as follows: Imogene Gill, Cecil Richmond, Birdelle Bremer, Lita Woodmanson, Ethel Wallace, Enidie Cyrus, Ethel McDonald, D. S. Buckner and Opal Munkers. The funeral was conducted by Rev. J. O. Richmond.

The relatives from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Myers, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Albert, Misses Laura, Dora and Myrtle Myers, Portland, Miss Lois Myers, Pendleton and Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Weid, of Jefferson.

A Frog Dog.
A dog having two bodies, one head and six legs, is expected to arrive here today from Locomb. The strange freak is the property of James Eckert of Locomb, and is alive, and in apparently good physical condition. The animal is about a year old, and is able to travel about on its six legs without any trouble. The dog will be put on exhibition in this city.—Albany Herald.

G. D. TROTTER STAYTON OREGON

SANTIAN FARM.

Mr. Editor our new road boss is doing some good work, or rather, having it done by volunteer work and some police tax, on the road leading from Scio to the Crabtree bridge. He raised about $70 free work on the road, for his part, and $15 in Scio for E. W. Pomeroy.

G. O. Garland, wife and daughter, Mrs. Theodore Gains, were down Sunday to visit with the Pie Ester and had a nice time.

Mrs. Martha Smith, of Idaho, and two daughters were called on, relatives and old friends. D. Corwin, on their way up to visit her son Frank Smith, near Providence. They will return in a few days for a long visit with her brother's sister, the Crabtree.

Art Gainer's wife, daughter Hazel and son, of St. Johns, are up on a week's visit and rest, among his folks and his wife's people, the Understons. Art reports St. Johns a flourishing little town and a fine place to live.

Albert Mansell and wife, of Seiler, were also callers on Mrs. S. W. Gains, Sunday, for a few gooseberries and a square meal.

Mrs. Lou Nimselick has returned to Tennessee to stay this summer with her sister Mrs. John Crabtree.

Frank Corvis has a bad attack of erysipelas and blood poison in his temple and cheek, which is quite painful.

We have a new cream wagon started in this section, to represent the Town of Creamery company, of Corvallis. They have a testing plant established at Crabtree. This makes four lines of wagons running.

The sick son of G. L. Sutherland's wife is now thought to be somewhat on the mend. He has been down some 23 days with typhoid fever.

James Fiesner has returned home from a three month trip to Eastern Oregon.

Lee Bilyeu piled out Wednesday morning for Eastern Oregon, for a business trip.

Mrs. Martha Smith and two daughters, of Stayton, are visiting Santian relatives and old time friends and are having a general good time.

Mr. Editor, please do not forget to tell the many readers of the News that Santian Farm will be well supplied with loganberries after the 24th instant.

The writer wishes to express his thanks to his neighbors for their liberal donations of work and money on our public road. He solicited help and here is the result: G. A. Griff in 3 days, J. M. Calavan six days, W. M. Reed one day, David Horsburg three days, J. P. Crabtree one day, Lee Bilyeu three days, M. C. Gains one day, J. H. Pomeroy two days, E. L. Bilyeu one day, Newton Crabtree one day and Riley Montgomery two days. To these donations our road boss added nine days of poll tax, making altogether 32 days with team and 1 1/2 days for funds alone. 430 m-ds of gravel were hauled and 8 rods of ditch dug. This piece of road will require no more work for ten years.
