Wm. Bremer was a Portland visitor on Wednesday.

J. A. Bilyeu was an Albany business visitor on Monday.

J. S. Morris has been having quite a serious sick spell lately.

Miss Vesta Balschewski, of Salem, is making the home folks a two-weeks visit.

N. Young returned from a Fourth of July visit to Corvallis last Monday morning.

Fred Jones went to Corvallis, last Sunday to participate in a match horse-race over there.

James McKillop, of Portland, came up last Friday, to spend a few days with his father, R. J.

Mrs. S. L. Jenkins, of San Francisco, a sister-in-law to R. J. McKillop, is visiting in this city.

J. F. Wesley and Chas. Warner went out last Sunday, after trout, and returned with good baskets.

Miss Myrtle Calavan, of North Yakima, is a visitor down last week and is visiting her old time friends in this city.

Messrs. McGinn and Augustine Cain, of Portland, visited Roger and Miss Agnes Cain, of this city, over last Sunday.

We neglected to note, last week, the visit of Mr. Rice, of Portland, to his parents Mr. and Mrs. David Rice, on the 4th.

George E. Chamberlain will deliver an address to the people of Seio and visitors, on October 2, the first day of the Fair.

Miss Jessie Daley, of Salem and who has been visiting in Portland, arrived on Wednesday evening's train, at Seio, for a visit with her home folks.

Mrs. Emma Cyrus went to Portland yesterday morning to remain several weeks. She will be employed in a wholesale millinery establishment while there.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jones came over from Stavton Sunday. Jack has dispensed of his interest in the liquid refreshment business over there and expects to make several mountain trips during the summer.

Mrs. Dr. Prill and Miss Claudia McKnight were passengers on the north-bound train Tuesday morning for Portland. They expect to spend most of their time at Glagstone Park, in attendance of the Chatsquo assembly.

Our First Vacation-Mountain Party

Wednesday morning W. A. Ewing and L. E. Miller, of this city, and Hon. Jefferson Myers, of Portland, started for Prineville, Crook county. The party go by wagon over the Santiam route and expect to use from two to three weeks in making the trip. The Soda and the South Santiam, Fish and Clear lakes and the Metolus are all listed as places to visit. It is understood that the division of labor while on the trip will be about as follows: Mr. Ewing will serve as chef cook and bottle washer, Mr. Miller will perform the plow act chief hostler, etc., and Jeff—well, he is just going along to give dignity and tone to the outfit. That an enjoyable trip will be had is not questioned, and the fish stories that will be related when they return will probably cause Eron Munchhausen to turn over in his grave with a sort of outlandish feeling.

Gene Out of Business.

The Halsey Goat Co. has gone out of business, and it is innate in any longer whether like Botley or Judge Stewart is president. When the bridge gang was at Jordan, one of the best looking girls there took a notion to the animal and when the crew left for Bellknape, where they are now at work on a bridge, the girl had the goat, and the Co. quit business. If there is a dog to Jordan Valley in a month his life will be a miserable one.—Albany Democrat.

Harvest Accident No. 1

On Monday W. M. Phillips and others were moving a threshing outfit, which they had purchased from the Albany prairie to the Muckers neighborhood. Mr. Phillips was driving the team that was drawing the separator. When Crabtree bridge, near J. G. Holt's, was reached, Mr. Phillips dismounted from the machine on account of the stiff grade coming on to the bridge, he walking alongside and driving. When on the bridge the lines were caught in a wheel in such a way that Mr. Phillips was thrown to the ground and under the machine; but his right leg and arm were not so fortunate. The heavy track passed over the palm of his right hand and over the right leg between the knee and the ankle joints. Dr. Prill was called at once. When he reached his patient the doctor found about every bone in the right hand crushed and the leg very badly bruised, if one of the bones is not broken. After the wounds were dressed Mr. Phillips was taken to his home. Just what will be the result of the accident is at present conjectural, though Dr. Prill hopes to save the hand, even though it be in a crippled condition. Mr. Phillips is having an run of bad luck this year, surely.

Northern Central (now a part of the Pennsylvania) railroad, he wrote: "It has been the practice of my life not to travel free by any railroad, being opposed to the whole system of granting such privileges to individuals not connected with these roads." The letter has just been given publicity, and it puts to shame some of the shouting anti-railway radicals who have saved thousands of dollars by riding on passes.

A horseman gives an exchange his plan for curing horses from pawing in the stall. "My plan," he says, "is to nail one-inch by three-inch cleats to the floor under the manger and another one and a half to two feet. The idea is to place the cleats that the horse's foot will be drawn over when pawing. My first experiment was with a team of geldings that were generally mellow and habitually pawed and stamped with their hind feet, throwing all the bedding back as far as their halters would allow them. The cleats soon broke them of the habit, and they were then removed. My last experience was with a strutting gelding that it times seemed fairly frantic with her pawing. In fact she took one of the cleats loose after it was nailed down. But she gave up the habit before the cleat was worn out and it has not come back to her again."

Attempted Suicide

Martin Miller, one of Lion county's best known pioneers of 1848, yesterday morning attempted to commit suicide at his home at Knox. He had a very peculiar manner. He tied a rope around his ankles, fastened it to a pole at the top of an eight-foot well, containing two and a half feet of water, leaving six feet of rope loose, and jumped head first into the well.

He had been unwell for some time and had become demented. The day before he had told some of his family that he would commit suicide but for the disagree of it, so that they were not surprised that it times seemed fairly frantic with her pawing. In fact she took one of the cleats loose after it was nailed down. But she gave up the habit before the cleat was worn out and it has not come back to her again."

Mr. Miller afterwards, in telling of his experience, said he found that by putting his hands on the ground he could raise his head up out of the water, and could save himself if he desired, but instead he grabbed a pipe to the bottom of the well and pulled his head down under the water determined to end affairs there. He declares the experience to have been as awful one, and says he will never again in any way attempt to end his life. He has been unwell for some time, is now having a large carbuncle, and it has affected his mind, but the prospects are now for an improvement.

Mr. Miller is a man, respected and respected by everybody, and his untimely end is generally regretted.

Two Dangerous Runaways

Last Friday Joe Simanek's team concluded that it was about time to go to town, and accordingly proceeded to make its dangerous exit, without awaiting the directing hand of the driver. The telephone informed us of the team's coming, with instructions to stop it. By the horse (?) bolts of the team, man and driver, the runaway were caused to turn into the Lebanon road from that leading to Jordan. At Bernes' blacksmith shop, visions of numerous feeds of oats that they might miss if the running was continued must have entered the mind of the equines, for they of their own accord, turned in a non-sensical direction, but in a street that had a closed end and which ended the run. No damage resulted.

Runaway No. 2 occurred on Sunday. Joe Liska was driving through town north on Main street. One of the bridle bits became broken and the horse at once commenced to move lively. The team was turned onto the sidewalk in front of M. C. Gill's residence where it was stopped. No damage except to badly frightened a young lady that was in the wagon. The broken bit was replaced and Mr. Liska drove away well pleased, no doubt, that the scrape resulted so harmlessly.

Five Years.

On Monday Judge Dunne, of the Superior court, San Francisco, sentenced Mayor Smith to serve five years in jail for the crime of extortion. The sentence was greeted with cheers from the audience. Before pronouncing the sentence Judge Dunne read the disgraced mayor a severe lecture which was objected to several times by the prisoner. Judge Dunne would not sustain the objection and proceeded to hand the mayor what was owing to him, much to the satisfaction of the audience present and to all honest citizens elsewhere.

Will Return to Oregon.

The News understands that Mr. Frank Smith and family, who removed to Minnesota, last Spring, ostensibly to remain, has become homesick for Oregon and will return at once, sometimes a trip to the old-time home in the East is necessary in order to demonstrate to the many advantages Oregon, and the Willamette Valley in particular, possesses for the home builder. Yet, it gives one a contented spirit, the trip and money is well spent. Seio will welcome the return of Mr. Smith and family.

Base Ball Game

A match game of ball has been arranged for next Sun. afternoon between the Jefferson and Seio teams, to be played on the Seio Fair Grounds diamond. As there is an old time friendly rivalry between those teams as to which is the better team, a close and exciting game may be expected. The Jefferson boys are ball players, and the same can be said of Seio's team. Game will be called at 2:30 p. m. Admission 25c.

Prohibition will prevail in Texas for a period of ten days beginning July 11. The new liquor law passed by the last Legislature provides that all saloon licenses expire on July 12, and that a period of ten to twenty days must elapse before the application for a new license can be acted upon. No saloon can remain open during this period. The saloon men throughout the state have agreed to take a vacation for ten days while their applications for new licenses are pending.

Rev. Pettit and Falkenberg, of Portland and Rev. W. B. Scott, of Salem, have erected a gospel tent in the west part of town and purpose holding a series of meetings, lasting perhaps a month. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Portland Fall of Visitors

Portland is fairly alive with tourists and this will continue for the next two weeks from among the delegates who are in attendance upon the convention of the National Education association, the Christian Endeavor and the Baptist Young People. The Commercial Club is especially active in circulating copies of its $5000 prize offered to these delegates.

The colonist rates go into effect September 1 and continue until October 31. This is the rate that brings the actual settlers to Oregon, and means that people can come to this state from Kansas City, St. Paul, Minneapolis, and all the great territory between the Missouri river and the Rocky Mountains for $25, to all points east of Umatilla, $22.50, St. Louis, $30; from Chicago, $33. It should be borne in mind that the most important thing of all is that these people must have their tickets direct to the towns they want to reach. This is true with regard to Medford, Eugene, the Dalles, Astoria, and every other city or town in Oregon. Many people get the impression that they can come to Portland and then continue their trip to point of destination, and it develops upon each an every community in Oregon to advertise this fact, and through the correspondence and advertising of their people get new settlers.

Through the assistance of the Commercial club, Mr. J. D. Lee, president of the Oregon Pioneer association, for awarded photographs of Mrs. Mary Lemmonsey Lemmon Wool, aged 120 years, who was crowned Queen of Oregon on the 4th of July; also of General George H. Williams, who performed the ceremony to 150 of the leading papers of the United States, accompanied by a story which will call to mind the arduous health-giving qualities of the Oregon climate. The red fires which burned on the summits of Mt. Hood, St. Helens and Adams were plainly visible from Portland.

The dinner to the Hon. James R. Garfield, secretary of the interior, at the Commercial club Saturday night, the 13th inst., promises to be the most representative affair of its kind given thus far during 1907. The following Monday Vice President Fairbanks will be entertained at dinner at Seaside by the citizens of Astoria and invited guests. The Charleston and Paul Jones of the Pacific Coast naval station, participated in the Fourth of July festivities, but will go to Astoria to be present during the visit of Vice-President Fairbanks.—Portland.
