Dr. John G. Gill went over to the bay Tuesday.

Dr. Lowe, the optician, was in town Tuesday.

Dr. A. G. Prill went to Portland last Saturday.

Floyd P. Bilyen and Riley Montgomery were Albany, Wednesday.

Wm. Evans and wife, of Lacombe, were Scio visitors last Saturday.

Mrs. J. T. Bilyen and son, Fred, paid Albany a business visit last Friday.

Henry Slater, of this vicinity, was doing business in Albany, Wednesday.

F. P. DeVaney returned last Saturday from several weeks' visit to Missouri.

Herman Hecker, an Albany stockman, was doing business in Scio this week.

George Q. Judd and Lena Cavanagh of Turner, were Scio visitors Wednesday.

Frank Morris, of Estacada, came on last Friday for a visit at his father's bedside.

Mrs. Addie Peery, of Springfield, is in town, called here by her father's (J. S. Morris) sickness.

The News understands that Prof. Jeff Goins has been employed as principal of our public schools.

Marriage license was issued Wednesday to C. H. Freitag and Mabel Peterson, both of Thomas.

Mr. Salzer and son, of Bilyen Den purchased a new steam thrashing outfit of the Buffalo Pitts make, this week.

G. B. Hensard, of Lebanon, was fined $250 and sentenced to 10 days in jail for violating the local option law.

P. H. McDonald will erect, as soon as a carpenter can be obtained, a business house, 26x60 feet, on the site where H. Phillips' property stood before the fire.

Lee Bilyen and family returned last week from a visit at Tillamook. He reports a fine country over there and the dairymen, all getting rich.

Miss Helen Crawford, of the Oregon Agricultural college, Corvallis, came over Friday morning for a month's visit with her only sister, Mrs. T. L. Dugger.

Mr. R. Shelt and daughter, Miss Ania, have opened a confectionery and ice cream parlor in the business room, adjoining Mr. Shelton's real estate office.

Ed. Myers and his brother-in-law, Mr. Albers, of Portland, went up Crabtree, above the Narrows, for a four or five days' hunt and fishing, on Tuesday afternoon.

J. W. Compton, who returned this week from London Springs, reports crops, as a rule, fairly good. With the exception of late spring grain, a reasonably good yield may be expected.

Deputy Game Warden I. A. Monkeys, is making matters lively over about Albany for people who hunt pheasants out of season. Two hunters have been fined $15 and costs each for illicit hunting.

Thomas Small's little girl, of whom we spoke last week as having submitted to an operation for bone disease, we are glad to state is getting along nicely. Another week will demonstrate whether the operation will stay the disease.

N. R. Land has appropriated 400,000 inches of water, miners' measurement of the South Santiam at Waterloo. He proposes digging a canal on each side of the river 10 feet deep and 40 feet wide. The purpose is to obtain electric power.

Rose Devine committed suicide at the Lebanon hotel about midnight last Monday night. He was a great sufferer from cancer of the bowels and took this course to free himself of pain. He was a brother of J. C. Devine, of the Lebanon hotel.

Henry Cyrus and wife, of Crabtree, were in town last Saturday. Owing to continued ill health Mr. Cyrus has exchanged his fine farm for Corvallis city property and will move thereon soon after the sale of his personal property occurs, which will be July 30.

P. H. McDonald has contracted with N. J. Morrison to erect his new business house. Mr. Morrison will commence the work about August 10. After completing this building he will erect the exhibition of native woods building for the Trappist Fathers on the fair grounds.

The Ewing Miller-Myers party returned from their east-of-the-mountain trip last Monday. They report a fine trip, and that the bunch grass on the big desert is exceptionally good. It is so good that stock does not bother an unfenced hay field, for the reason the grass is liked better.

The state railroad commission has ordered a new depot built at Albany, on the city side of the track. When built the building will probably be a union depot, serving the C. & E. as well as the Southern Pacific.

Every farmer in the forks of the Santiam should make a point of having something on exhibition at our fair next October. People who come to the fair will expect to see the best we can produce in the way of stock, grains, grasses, vegetables, etc. Let us not disappoint them.

The Oregon railroad commission seems to be doing something more than ride about in a palace car and inspect bridges. The commission is now looking after the matter of compelling the S. P. to run its trains on something near schedule time. We respectfully invite its attention to this end of the Woodburn-Springfield branch.

The Scio baseball boys came home from Jefferson last Sunday evening supremely disgusted. They say they can best the Jefferson team when only nine men are played but to undertake to beat the men, as was the case last Sunday, is more than they bargain for. Unpities may be, and often are, mistaken in decisions, but when the mistakes are made all in favor of one side, and apparently wilfully so, then the sport becomes sport no longer. A ball game, to be enjoyed by players and spectators, should be conducted as fairly as possible.

CONFIRMATION AT JORDON

Archbishop Christie visited the Jordan Catholic church, Sunday, July 14, and administered the sacrament of confirmation to a number of boys and boys.

Crowds of people, young and old, lined the approach to the church on either side, and when the archbishop passed between the lines, the people testified to him a most cordial welcome. He was accompanied by the Very Rev. Father Thomas, the distinguished abbot of the Benedictines of Mount Angel. The archbishop was conducted to his throne by the abbot of the Trappist monks. Abbot Thomas also occupied a prominent place in the sanctuary. The monks, in their flowing habits of white and brown, also occupied the sanctuary. They served as choir, and the Rev. Father Henry, prior of the Trappists and pastor of the parish, sang, in a soft sweet voice the high mass, at which the large congregation assisted. After high mass, the archbishop preached an eloquent sermon. After the sermon, the aspirants for confirmation were presented to the archbishop, who administered the sacrament of confirmation.

At 3 o'clock a procession, composed of cross bearers, lay brothers and monks, followed by the archbishop, who was assisted by the two abbots, started from the presbytery and moved in the direction of the new monastery. Father Henry was at the head of the procession, and when they arrived in front of the principal entrance, they moved to the side awaiting the approach of the archbishop. He began the blessing, moving upstairs to the chapel, followed by the people and monks. After the benediction of the monastery, Father Thomas delivered a short sermon.

WRETCHED MAIL SERVICE

Scio now has the most wretched mail service she has had for the past fifteen years. This is not all due to the railway mail service, for railway trains don't pay much attention to schedules, seemingly. True, we are supposed to have a daily train to Woodburn and return, connecting with the Cottage Grove local, but while the train starts out on time mornings, it seldom returns on time evenings, often being two and three hours late. This brings the mail to Scio any time from 9 p. m. to midnight, which, of course, makes the mail a day late. Mail that is brought over from Albany mornings on the C. & E., is very often taken to the front and then delivered upon the return in the evenings.

We dislike making a kick but of late mail matters have become entirely too fierce. Incompetency, carelessness and the part of mail agents on the railroads and postal clerks in post-offices is becoming much too common. All of them need a shaking up, or a good, long indefinite rest, one or the other.

Lately, we have been getting the Oregonian, some three or four hours earlier than formerly by having it come across from Turner to Stayton and Kingston, where it is delivered to the C. & E.

We know mail agents are hard worked, but not all that hard, a little conscientious to doing the work correctly will not require much more effort, and it will confer a great favor upon business men.

STEAMSHIP COLUMBIA LOST

The most distressing bit of news in the daily papers this week conveyed the intelligence of the wrecking and total loss of the steamship Columbia, off the northern coast of California.

The Columbia was on her voyage north bound for Portland, because of the fog, she was rammed by the steamer San Pedro, and so badly injured that she went down in a few minutes.

The Columbia carried 198 passengers and a crew of 50. Of the passengers 79 are lost or missing, and 40 of the crew are thought to be drowned. Captain Duran, who has commanded the Columbia since 1898, went down, like the hero he was known to be—with his ship.

The disaster created great excitement in Portland. When the intelligence was seated on the boards at the Oregonian building, containing the names of the drowned, women and men were seen to wring their hands and sob in agony. Evidently some of their dear ones were among the drowned.

The number of missing may yet be reduced somewhat, as there are several boats and rafts not yet accounted for that were loaded. Nearly all the women aboard the ship were saved, which speaks volumes for the courage and crew, who went down with their vessel.

IS PASSING AWAY

One of Scio's most representative citizens now lies at death's door and can only live but a few hours at most. All of the children are gathered at the bedside only 17 men to go on the encampment at Roseburg. Too much work for the boys to leave. The company must make a better showing than that when the Japs come.

Mr. Morris has been a sick man for nearly two years; not confined to his home, but unable to participate in active business. During the past two months his decline has been rapid. Scio will miss the genial, kindly face of J. S. Morris.

A NARROW ESCAPE

Harry Wilkins and Miss Ida Swank left yesterday in a single lively rig, the horse recommended to be gentle, for the camp of Miss Swank's parents, near Scio, when they met with a lively experience in the eastern part of the city. In crossing the bridge at Hub Bryant's the "gentle" horse became frightened, and rearing, plunged head first down a twelve-foot bank beyond the bridge, the buggy and occupants going completely over the horse, with the buggy on them. It was a marvel both were not killed. As it was, Miss Swank had one of her hips sprained, one shoulder bruised, and a few other bruises, while Mr. Wilkins received only a few scratches. The horse was uninjured, but the buggy was broken to pieces. Miss Swank was taken to Mrs. Chambers, where she has a room, and Dr. Ellis attended her.

THE BLUE RIVER ROAD

Surveyor Hugh Fisher, S. A. Dawson and A. Blevins returned Saturday evening from the Blue River mines. They made a survey of the wagon road from the end of the road already built, of which there is about eleven or twelve miles, into the mines. Between thirteen and fourteen miles will be required to complete the road. The grade is easy about 10 per cent as a rule, the highest being about 14 per cent. When completed it will be about a 25-mile road. The cost of building the road is approximately $1500 a mile, which will mean something like $20,000 to complete the road, making it much more costly than was anticipated, but there was no stopping point this side of the mines, making its completion necessary to secure any use for that already built.—Albany Democrat.

NOTICE

The subjects at the apartment, pitches near the school grounds at Scio, for the next four evenings are:
Thursday night—"Change of the Sabbath."
Friday night—"History of Catholicism."
Saturday night—"United States in Prophecy."
Sunday night—"God's Sign, Seal, or Mark, and Its Rival."
You are cordially invited to be present and study these important subjects with us.

Ivan Miller, son of Henry Miller, was brought into town from the Miller Bros' mill just across the river in Marion county, just after dinner yesterday, with a severely cut foot. He was sniping logs, and by some means slashed his heel, making a gash over three inches long. An artery was severed, which caused profuse hemorrhage. Dr. Prill soon made him as comfortable as the circumstances would allow.

Mrs. A. T. Powell came to town yesterday evening with her head bandaged. When Dr. Prill made examination, he found a cut one and a half inches long, caused by Mrs. Powell getting in the way of a stick of wood which her son was throwing into the woodshed.

The Scio Milling Co. expects to get the county pile driver some time next week, when work on the new dam will be commenced. Repairs to the temporary dam were made this week, in order that power may be furnished the mill and electric light and water plant.
