Act to protect Salmon on the Upper Columbia.
Amendment limiting the power of District Attorney to file indictments.
Act for creation of Hood River County.

COUNTY POLITICS.

The news editor spent last Friday over at the county seat. In talking with the various county officials we ascertained that a number of the present officials will stand for re-election.

County clerk J. W. Miller will solicit re-election at the hands of the Republicans and bases his claim on a satisfactory service during his first term.

F. C. Stelmacher, present deputy sheriff will ask the Democrat to nominate him for county clerk at the forthcoming primaries. He asks their votes because he was deputy clerk during B. M. Payne's occupancy of the office and possesses a special knowledge of the office and its affairs that only experience can give.

D. S. Smith will ask for re-election as sheriff. Not that he has any claims upon the office other than is possessed by any other citizen; but that he is willing to serve the people again, if they desire him to do so. He invites criticism of his service during the present term. If he can run for office as fast as he can after an escaping prisoner, the news thinks he is sure of re-election.

Grant Froman, as announced elsewhere, will ask for re-election, basing his claims upon an efficient painstaking service. He has made a good officer.

D. B. McKnight, present assessor will also stand for re-election. Mr. McKnight has listed thousands of dollars worth of property for taxing purposes never before listed. He has also brought the value of timber lands and railroads up from a ridiculously low valuation to a reasonable value, increasing the gross value of the assessment rolls from this source alone, more than $2,000,000.

As a careful painstaking officer Mr. McKnight is everything that can be desired.

Superintendent Jackson will ask for re-election as well. His efficient service is sufficient warrant for his candidacy.

PRESIDENTS' SPECIAL MESSAGE

President Roosevelt's special message to congress, this week, furnishes sufficient argument to show that his assaults on predatory wealth were not responsible for the recent financial panic. A synopsis of the leading thoughts follows:

"There is no moral difference between gambling at cards or on the race track and gambling in the stock market."
"We attack only the corrupt men of wealth who find in the purchased politician the most efficient instrument of corruption."
"The apologists of successful dishonesty by their acts have unsettled business, now they clamor against the truth being told."
"The business, which is hurt by the movement for honesty is the kind of business it says the country to have hurt."
"A Judge who fails to do his duty by the public in dealing with lawbreaking corporations, lawbreaking men of wealth must expect to feel the weight of public opinion."
"Our purpose is to secure national honesty in business and politics."
"New conditions make it necessary to shackle cunning as in the past we have shackled force."

HE WAS LOADED

Son's weeks ago when Senator Fulton rushed into print at a mere implication that he was too intimately associated with the land fraud business, the News suggested that the senator might find that Mr. Heney was loaded. Now suggest that if the senator continues to make public denial and to use such choice expressions as "Malicious lie" he will find the terror to the land thieves and municipal grafters, a veritable machine gun with "com back" always ready. Senator, it is good policy to let the sleeping dog severely alone sometimes.

Mr. Heney promises to pay his respects to Senator Fulton in a set speech, before he leaves Oregon. It will, no doubt, be a hot number and will probably result in driving Senator Fulton from public life. Again we mention the fact that there is a law business down in Astoria which should not be neglected more than one year more.

SANTIAM FARE

We have quite a few sick neighbors with the gripe and pneumonia.

Clarence R. Ford and wife, of Bosburn, have been guests of Newton Crabtree for the past week. They were after their baby son, two years old, who has been in the care of his grandparents.

Mrs. Lizzie Alward, of Seattle, is down on a month's visit with her mother, Mrs. S. W. Gaines.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams are both down sick with the gripe and are in serious condition.

Jas. Craft is confined to his bed with pneumonia and his life is thought to be in danger.

M. C. Gaines has been having a serious time with boils in his ears.

Mrs. J. P. Crabtree and daughter, Mrs. Lou Titus, have been having a round with the gripe.

Mrs. Mary Young is seriously ill with milk leg. She is a daughter of J. P. Crabtree.

Aunt Hannah Blyen has been in poor health for some time but, we are glad to state, is now slowly on the mend.

Mr. Milligan, of Lebanon, was a visitor at the Turner home last week.

Our county road, near Crabtree bridge, is in bad condition with drift and sand holes. We hope the county court will have piling driven and make an elevated plank road for 100 yards, this side of the bridge. This will be the cheapest and best plan in which the road can be fixed.

G. L. Sutherland and family have been having a serious time with the gripe for the past week.

FARM HOUSE BURNED

At about 8 p. m. last Saturday, when Ed. Hoff and family were seated about the fire, a roaring noise overhead and sparks of fire greatly alarmed them. Investigation showed the fire upper portion of their dwelling to be in flames.

The fire had made such headway that no attempt was made to put out the flames. All gave their attention to save what they could of the household goods. But in a minute or so after the discovery the upper portion fell in and nearly the entire household furniture, bedding and clothing was destroyed. Mr. Hoff is a poor man and a reuter and the loss is to him a heavy one. He held no insurance.

Monday a subscription paper was circulated in Scio, and a nice little benefit was raised for him.

TURNED HER RED

While little Louise Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Collins, of this city was celebrating the anniversary of her fourth birthday with a party of playmates, last Saturday afternoon, she found a bottle of red coloring extract, and drank for confectionary purposes, and drank the contents with the result that her skin turned a bright red. Believing her child was poisoned, Mrs. Collins summoned a physician, who found the coloring matter had permeated the child's entire blood circulation. For twenty-four hours the child's color remained a bright red, then it gradually faded out, leaving no ill effects. According to local physicians, the incident is a new phenomenon in the medical record.—Albany Herald.

ROUND TRIP $2.95.

The Southern Pacific railroad will now sell round-trip-week-end tickets from West Scio to Portland and return for $2.95. Tickets are good going north on Saturday only; returning good on Sunday or Monday following.

WEST SCIO ITEMS

Mrs. J. B. Kistler is in Portland for a short stay with relatives and friends.

Paul Tompkins has gone to Portland to take his old place in a machine shop for a while.

The farmers in this locality did some good work plowing during the past week of nice weather.

Everett Burden has returned to his school at Montavilla, Oregon.

It is to be hoped that something will be done as soon as possible to better the awful condition of the road, which is traveled so much, between the West Scio depot and the city of Scio.

Roe Phillips has purchased an incubator, guess he's going into the chicken business in good earnest this year.
