Mrs. A. L. Richardson Dead.

Word was received in this city, the first of this week, of the death of Mrs. Belle Richardson. This news was a shock to the community, as she and her husband had left here but a few days previous bound for their home at Echo, Oregon. On their way home they stopped to visit Mrs. Richardson's sister, who lives in Tygh valley. Here, she was taken sick with pneumonia with fatal result in but a few days.
It will be remembered that Mr. and Mrs. Richardson came down to Scio, in December, last, to nurse her brother C. E. Glass, who died January 28, of this year. A more arduous, affectionate sister than Mrs. Richardson never lived. Her affectionate care of her dying brother was remarked by all.
Evidently the strain was too heavy for her. In her weakened emaciated condition she fell an easy victim to pneumonia. She was buried at the Kelly cemetery in Tygh valley on February 22.

Prof. Wells Jackson's Superintendent.

At the last session of The Jackson county commissioners court, the following was a part of the business transacted:
"Resignation of P. H. Daily, school superintendent, owing to ill health, accepted."
"Order made appointing J. Percy Wells school superintendent for the remaining term."
Prof. Wells' Scio friends are all pleased to know of his advancement. The News thinks he should stand for election to a full term at the coming June election.

DIED.

STAM—At his home in this city on February 2, 1908, of pneumonia, William H. Stam; aged 48 years 1 month and 16 days.
Two weeks prior to his death, Mr. Stam contracted the grip. Neglecting the cold, pneumonia developed.
William H. Stam was born January 7, 1860. Coming to Scio several years ago, he has made teaming his principal business. Being an industrious man he has prospered.
Mr. Stam was a member of the Modern Woodmen of America in which he carried a $3,000 policy; also of the Twenty-five Hundred. He thus leaves his family reasonably well provided for.
He is survived by his wife Mrs. Emma L. Stam, and two sons, Henry, of Detroit, and Walter, of Scio.
The funeral occurred from the Christian church on Monday, conducted by Rev. J. J. Evans, the interment at Franklin Butte cemetery.

WEST SCIO ITEMS.

Mrs. W. J. Burden and family have been in Portland the last three weeks where Mr. Burden has been busy disposing of property. They are expecting to return any day and then get busy making things a little more lively around here. Miss Ida Stires accompanied them.
Lawrence Compton has built quite an addition to his barn.
Roe Phillips was kept busy two or three days, a week or so ago, repairing the damage done by one of his teams after they had taken the liberty of a lively run about the place tearing down fences etc.
John Shelton is going into the chicken business quite extensively, this Spring, and is also launching out into considerable of a dairy business.
Henry Quigley is raising his house, building an addition and fixing up generally.
Paul Tomkins was home from Portland over Sunday and will be glad when he can return to stay.
Mrs. Leroy Gossage has been laid up for a week, with a badly sprained ankle, which was done stepping out the front door.
Tramps seem to be coming to this neighborhood more frequently than ever. One must have visited Roe Phillips' milk house the other night, as they found a tobacco pouch on the floor which some one had evidently dropped in their hurry.
The pay car, with several officials aboard, came into our station last Saturday, but made only a short stay.
Kath Tompkins came home from her school for a day or two, on a visit to her mother.

FRUIT CANNERY FOR SCIO

Business Men To Aid Development And Establish The Enterprise.
SOUTHERN PACIFIC DEEPLY INTERESTED

District Freight Agent, C. A. Malboeuf, Gave Much Information and Encouragement to the Enterprise.

A fruit cannery for Scio in full working order to take care of this season's berry and fruit crops seems assured. This was practically decided at the recent meeting of the newly organized Commercial club held to discuss the subject. The meeting was well attended and enthusiastic and before adjourning President Munkers appointed a committee consisting of Wm. May, Chas. Wesely and E. C. Peery, to canvass the business men and citizens with the view of raising a sufficient amount of funds, in the way of stock, to carry on the project. Mr. C. A. Malboeuf, District Freight Agent, of the Southern Pacific, was present by invitation and made a practical talk on the subject, explaining in detail the campaign which he has made in the interest of fruit canneries during the past year, and the marvelous results obtained. He showed that in 1906 and for many years previously, only four canneries were in operation along his company's lines in Oregon. In 1907 three more were started with great success, both the plants at Grants Pass and Brownsville exceeding the expectations of their promoters to the extent that they are preparing to double their capacity for this year's business. The Salem and Eugene canneries doubled their capacities in 1907.

This year, Mr. Malboeuf says there will be not less than fifteen or twenty canneries in operation to take care of the large acreage of fruits, berries and tomatoes which he predicts will be the greatest on record.

New canneries have already been organized at Newberg, Monmouth, Dallas, Corvallis, Medford, Monroe and other points and this new condition of things will do more to stimulate and further the culture of green fruit than any other means. Mr. Malboeuf is very enthusiastic on the future of Oregon as a fruit producing section and believes that in less than five years upwards of one thousand cars of canned goods will be shipped out annually. California now packs more than six thousand cars every year and the growing of green fruit for canning purposes is fast superseding its culture for drying or shipping in great shape. The Southern Pacific company offers most favorable rates on green fruits shipped into cannery points, also, on tin cans and the canned goods out. Mr. Malboeuf assured the members of the Commercial club that Scio would be put in position to compete with any other cannery point on the Pacific coast if its people decided that they wanted to join the ranks and show what Linn County can do when it comes to raising green fruit and shipping canned goods. If the proposition fails, a golden opportunity to Scio and the fruit growers and farmers in the surrounding country, will have been lost. The entire portion of Western Oregon is now upon the threshold of active and substantial development. Thousands of new comers from the East are settling here and all sections are getting awake to the necessity for embracing the opportunity and taking such advantage of their resources as will result in the greatest benefit.

Fruit lands and bearing orchards are in greater demand than ever before. Fruit raising and dairying are the great natural resources of Western Oregon. No part of it is better adapted to these important and far reaching industries than is this portion of Linn county. We boast of our dairy and fruit lands and herds, and our Fair last year showed what we can do in stock and fruit raising. We need a milk condenser and a fruit cannery. Without them we cannot expect to increase our population, enhance the value of our lands, or attract a desirable class of settlers. The necessary adjunct to successful fruit and berry culture is the cannery. It takes care of the surplus, saves great quantities of fruit which would otherwise go to waste and is often the salvation of entire crops, where market conditions are unsatisfactory, quality is lacking, or under other circumstances when loss is imminent to the grower. No well regulated fruit section is without its cannery and if Scio wants to establish and maintain its reputation as a high grade fruit section, it can best co-operate with its fruit growers and land owners by starting a cannery.

A generous vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Malboeuf for his presence at the meeting and the information given by him.

Fair Warning.

I wish to give my neighbors who live on the South side of Hungry Hill, warning, that it is my purpose to here after enforce the law against stock running at large in the roads near my premises.

Dairy Meeting at Crabtree.

A big dairy meeting was held at Crabtree, on Friday afternoon, Feb. 21. The first speaker introduced was Mr. Judd, of Marion county, ex-President of State Dairy Association, who spoke on the necessity of raising better dairy cows. He showed that the average cow in the valley yielded about 40 per year and showed by proper breeding cows could be made to bring $100 each per year; That it costs as much to take care of her as the $10 one and the extra $90 is just the same as picked up in the road.
T. S. Townsend, of the Townsend Creamery Co., gave a very able address on the care of cream and how to produce a first class article, he said the time is soon coming when cream will be graded and the price paid according to quality. It is impossible to make a good grade of butter from a poor grade of cream.

Hon. J. W. Bailey, State Dairy and Food Commissioner spoke on "The great Dairy Industry of Oregon." In his opinion there are greater dairy possibilities in the Willamette Valley than in any other part of the United States.
There was $25,000 worth of cream shipped out of Crabtree last year and when raising grain, $12,000 worth is the most that was ever shipped from there in one year; showing that the dairy industry more than doubles the grain industry, while the dairy industry is as yet in its infancy.

Mr. Bailey then proceeded to organize the Northwest Cow Testing Association No. 2. The purpose of the organization is to find out the profitable cows and to weigh and test the milk. Mr. Bailey furnishes the man to do the testing and all the association has to do is to "eat him" and "sleep him."
John Meyers, of Crabtree, was elected president of the association and T. M. Holt, of Thomas, secretary.

Better Than Nothing.

The Burnham parcels post bill, just introduced in the senate, is a step in the right direction, albeit a short one. It limits the privileges which it grants expressly to persons living along rural delivery routes. Merchants thus fortunately situated may mail parcels weighing up to eleven pounds at fairly reasonable rates, and other dwellers on the rural routes may enjoy the same privilege. But the bill excludes city department stores, nurseries, seed growers and everybody else not actually domiciled somewhere along a rural route, from the new mail facilities.

Of course these restrictions are devised to throw the parcels mail trade into the hands of country merchants and compel farmers to pay two middlemen's profits where one would be equitable. As a sop to the country storekeepers it may somewhat diminish their irrational position to the parcels post and align them with civilization instead of the barbarous greed of the hogish express trust. Even the stingy favors granted to the farmers by this Burnham bill would be a great advance over present conditions and would be welcome everywhere in the rural district. Progress comes to country dwellers in slow and parsimonious driplets, but it is not denied altogether, and for this they should be thankful.

It is quite likely that this reluctant concession to the farmers, if it passes Congress, will be, like the first rural mail routes, an entering wedge which the impetuosity of the farmers, will drive home. This is the most hopeful view of the case. Certainly the dwellers in the country will not wait forever for the mail privileges which are their just portion from the government which their taxes, direct and indirect, mainly support. It is high time for Congress to realize that the farmers are prepared to fight for their right to decent mail facilities.—Oregonian.
