EDITORIAL NOTES.

D. S. Smith never consented to stand for re-election to the office he now holds, until he became convinced no other would offer himself for the candidacy. Only about one week prior to the date upon which the law required them to be filed, were his petitions for nomination filed. We know that Mr. Smith is a painstaking public official and that as an official he has no favorites. All are treated alike in all business matters relating to his office. While he is not nosing about and making a detective of himself in looking up trifling infractions of the law, when a warrant is placed in his hands, he will serve it and bring his man in. While Linn county has the smallest sheriff in point of stature in the state he is among the largest in point of principle and devotion to duty.

All who believe in the principle of the election of United States senators will do most to promote that desirable condition by voting for the Democratic legislative ticket. All may rest assured that Mr. Cake receives the popular vote, Messrs. Brandon, Philpott and Munkers will vote for him on the first ballot. Then, they are all level headed farmers, and may be trusted to look well after the farmers interests. Being tax payers themselves, they may be depended upon to vote against any unnecessary or extravagant appropriations of public money.

The nearer the date of the National Republican convention approaches the surer seems Secretary Taft's chances for nomination on the first ballot develops. Until his nomination, discussion as to his fitness and chances of election is superfluous.
