HON. GEO. FRED WILLIAMS.

Hon. Geo. Fred Williams, one of Massachusetts' bright business men orators, addressed a good sized audience in this city, at the Wesley-Cain hall on last Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Williams is a rather large man, straight and athletic in appearance. He is pleasant and affable in conversation and a very pleasant speaker.

In his address Mr. Williams discussed the Roosevelt "policies," bank guarantee deposits, tariff and the political character, history, etc., of Candidates Taft and Bryan. He regards Mr. Bryan's chances of election very bright. He thinks Democracy has more than an even chance in the states of New York, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Kansas and Nebraska; that the chances are even in Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, California and Oregon.

"The trend is Bryanward in every state from the Atlantic to the Pacific. I do not see any thing but discord in Republican ranks, while Democracy is united and harmonious all along the line as never before. Unless there is a mighty change in the sentiment of the people between now and November 3, Mr. Bryan's election is inevitable."

This is the substance of Mr. Williams' opinion of the political outlook. He is enthusiastic and inspires confidence. At the conclusion of his address he left for Lebanon, by carriage, where he delivered an address in the evening.

Public Schools Begin.

On Monday morning the cheerful tones of Scio's public school bell signaled the fact that the long vacation was over. Soon troops of rosy checked boys and girls lined our walks, books in hands, bound schoolward with the determination, let us hope, of making the school year one of profit to themselves and of satisfaction to their parents and teachers.

Our schools open this term under the most favorable auspices. While all of the teachers are new to the Scio schools, they are not new in educational work.

Principle I. W. Reed comes most highly recommended as a successful teacher. He is a graduate of Minnesota State Normal school and from his active, energetic manner the News predicts that he will give to his work a zest and interest that will assure success. Miss Edith McCourt, of Albany, with an experience of eight years of successful school work will have charge of the intermediate department. She is a sister of U. S. District Attorney John McCourt, of Portland and comes highly recommended.

Miss Maud Maxwell, of Eugene, who has charge of the primary department, is a Monmouth Normal school graduate and speaks of most favorably by President Resoler, of that institution.

With a competent energetic corps of teachers and with a board of directors who seem earnestly interested in the success of the school, there is no reason why Scio's public schools shall be second to none in the county.

Exit O'Brien.

Last week Editor O'Brien concluded he would try personally abusing people instead of through the columns of the Herald, as had been his custom for several weeks. The personal effort brought results in the shape of the blackboard editor being convinced by a knock down argument in two instances. O'Brien, who was said to be intoxicated, procured a revolver and again hunted for trouble. Meeting Fred Sanders, who had administered the knock down argument, O'Brien sought to do with his revolver, what he could not do with his fists—get the better of Sanders.

Lucky for him, Sanders and the public in general, his aim was bad. Sanders suffered no injury further than powder burn in the face. The fracas ended at this point. O'Brien was not arrested; but was told that if he remained in Albany he would be arrested and prosecuted. He was given the chance to leave the state, which, after a short deliberation, he concluded to do. The last seen of him he was going South and it was understood that he would not stop until he placed the Sixteen mountains between himself and danger of Oregon arrest.

O'Brien was an incubus which Albany did well to get rid of. His abuse of some of Albany's citizens was unmerited and without reason. Let us hope that we have seen the last of such disreputable journalism in Linn county. We congratulate Brother Freeman in getting clear of the editorial blackguard without a suit for libel.

Vacation in the Air.

Miss Dolly Daley of the News office, made use of a few days vacation in visiting friends, going up on Thursday last week and returned the following Tuesday. Quotation from SANTIAM News in the Albany Herald.

You are not on, Brother Herald. Miss Daley has discovered a new aeroplane and simply made an excursion heavenward. She was more successful than most aeronauts, however, as she descended in perfect safety and says she enjoyed the trip. We might add, also, if the Herald editor should try a like excursion he would never come down because of his lightness.
