UP THE C. & E.

The NEWS man returned from a short trip up the C. & E. railroad as far as Gates, last Saturday evening. Most of the stations which were passed enroute exhibit a spirit of thrift and go-ahead-iveness.

Shelburn's new creamery building and a business house on the South side of the C. & E. track are now enclosed and will be completed in a short time. We were, also, told that a new hotel and livery stable are contemplated, in the near future.

Kingston and Lyons are important stations and while no new buildings are in evidence, the usual business activity prevails. Just after passing the station of Lyons going East, the railway line passes through the beautiful little Fox Valley. Her white farm houses, nestling at the foot of a range of hills covered with evergreen timber, present a very homelike appearance. These Fox Valley farmers appear to be thrifty and well-to-do. After the beautiful valley was left behind, the warning too-o-o-t of the engine gave notice that we were approaching the new town of "Goochville." Here all of the buildings, including the large sawmill, are new. But a few months ago the site of the now bustling busy little town, was covered with brush and timber. Now on the North side of the track are a number of neat commodious dwellings while on the South side is located the substantial mill structure, lumber yards, etc. The mill, we were told, is capable of cutting 40,000 feet of lumber daily and furnishes employment for nearly a half-hundred men.

Mill City, located at the railway crossing of the North Santiam, is a veritable hive of industry. The large lumber manufacturing plant, so Office Manager Holt informed us, can cut 140,000 feet of lumber in ten hours. To do this requires the labor of about 140 expert workers. Wherever it is possible in the handling lumber to replace hand labor with machinery, it has been done. From the time the huge logs were drawn up into the mill from the pond until they are converted into lumber, no hand labor in handling is required. A system of revolving rollers and chain carriers guided and controlled by an expert worker, does the entire business, until the lumber is delivered to the yard men where it is assorted and classed. By a system of suction fans all sawdust, planer shavings, slabs etc. are conveyed to a huge furnace and there converted to ashes. The usual dusty and trashy appearance of sawmills, is entirely wanting in this big plant. Just as fast as material comes from the big saws, it is conveyed to gang saws, edgers planers or to the various machine or machines for the final finishing touch. The logs are supplied by two logging camps which are conveyed to the mill by the C. & E. and a logging railway owned by the Curtis Lumber Co. About 250 men are regularly employed by the company to operate the big plant, the payroll will reach nearly $4000 every month. Mill City is essentially a mill town.

But a few miles East the town of Gates is reached. Here all is different. Gates is taking on the appearance of an embryo mining town. It is the supply point for the Black Eagle and Gold Creek mines on the North and the Quartzville district on the South. Two general stores, a feed store, blacksmith shop, two saloons and two hotels constitute the business houses, while a new skating rink and dancing pavilion administrators to the wants of pleasure lovers.

If these Santiam mines prove to be good producers, Gates is destined to become a town of considerable importance. But the principle industry along the North Santiam is now and will continue to be that of lumbering; though the preparing of and shipping of wood all along the railroad line from Shelburn East, is considerable now and will increase with the years.

Something will be Doing.
Leonidas Lodge No. 36, K. of P., since its organization has occupied a rented house. At the last regular meeting a movement was set on foot to purchase a lot and build thereon a Pythian Home. The following resolution was proposed, which will come up at the next regular meeting, as follows: RESOLVED that a committee consisting of E. C. Peery, A. G. Prill and J. A. Bilyeu be appointed to select a site for a lodge room and that this committee be empowered to borrow $1200 which with the lodge moneys on hand to pay for lot and building and that the membership of the lodge be assessed a sufficient amount to repay the debt.

It is important that every member be present at the meeting of Tuesday, Dec. 1, and participate in the discussion.

WOOD—WOOD—WOOD.
Sealed bids will be received by the Scio Condensed Milk Co., at the office of the Secretary, for fir wood, as follows:

4 ft. large fir
4 ft. small fir.
4 ft. slab wood.

Delivered at their plant by March 1, 1908. In lots of not less than 25 cords, nor more than 150 cords. Bids close Nov. 30, at 6 P. M. The company reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

A. G. PRILL,
Secretary.

Powder Badly Burns Girl.

Rose Osborne, a young woman residing at Waterloo, Linn County, was terribly burned Monday night in an explosion which occurred in a most peculiar manner. She was awakened during the night and believing she heard someone in the house struck a match. As the flame died down she threw the match toward the floor and it fell in a powder box. The explosion which followed moved the house partially off its foundations and burned the girl severely about the head and body. Her injuries are severe but she will recover.
